Nixon pledges nuclear aid to Israel

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI) — President Nixon concluded a visit to Israel today with an agreement to provide nuclear technology for peaceful purposes similar to one signed in Egypt last week. He then returned to the Arab world for the last stop of his Mideast journey.

King Hussein, America's oldest Arab friend, and his 25-year-old queen Alia greeted President and Mrs. Nixon when their plane arrived in Jordan. Several hundred onlookers, including many small children waving American flags, applauded as Nixon got off his plane following a half-hour flight from Jerusalem.

Eight F105 Starfighter jets escorted Nixon's plane from the moment it entered Jordanian airspace and roared overhead as the King and the President reviewed an honor guard.

"Welcome to the great President Nixon," airport loudspeakers boomed. Welcome to the guest of our King Hussein. Welcome to the eternal land of Jordan, to the land of the (Arab) cause."

The promise to sell nuclear reactors, fuel and technology to Israel came as part of a communique signed by Nixon and Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin in Jerusalem. It also included provisions for additional U.S. economic and military assistance for Israel.

Nixon's Israeli visit was friendly though it was the first stop where there were placards referring to Watergate. There also was a small anti-Nixon demonstration in behalf of Jewish "prisoners" in the Soviet Union. It was broken up by police who pushed the protesters aside. Nixon did not see it.

Today's communique was very similar to the one Nixon signed with President Anwar Sadat in Cairo Friday, showing U.S. attempts to be even handed in its Mideast dealings. It calls for new U.S. economic aid to "offset the heavy additional costs inherent in assuring Israel's military capability for the maintenance of peace."

The nuclear agreement like the one signed with Egypt — and like similar ones with other countries —contains safeguards to make sure nuclear technology is used for peaceful purposes, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said.

Nixon's message throughout his visit to Jerusalem was one of U.S. friendship. He told leaders Sunday to take the necessary risks to "wage peace" so that the "cradle of civilization will not become its grave."

"Under no circumstances does the fact that the United States is seeking better relations with some of Israel's neighbors mean that the friendship of the United States and the support for Israel is any less," Nixon said in a toast at a dinner in his honor Sunday.

"We're used to taking risks and living with them," Israeli Information Minister Aharon Yariv said today in a statement praising Nixon's efforts to reach a permanent Mideast settlement. "The question is how big will they be and what will be done to minimize them. Without taking risks one doesn't achieve anything."

Some Israeli leaders had been critical of the U.S.Egyptian nuclear agreement, fearing giving nuclear power to the Arabs might lead to nuclear weaponry. Former Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said Sunday if that happened, "the peace mission of President Nixon will become a fatal and historic mistake."

But Kissinger, in a news conference before leaving the presidential party for a meeting of NATO foreign ministers in Canada, said, "We are prepared to do for Israel what we did for Egypt."

Kissinger expressed confidence the built-in safeguards would be adequate but to quelch any remaining fears, he said, "We will review the agreement to make sure there are no loopholes."

Kissinger said he believed Nixon's trip had helped assure Israel its long-term security was tied to the Mideast negotiations and that the Arab world for the first time was ready to accept Israel as a permanent nation.

Westminster bombed by Irish; 11 persons hurt

LONDON (UPI) — A bomber believed to have been a member of the Irish Republican Army (IRA) slipped through the dense security screen of the House of Commons today and planted a bomb that exploded only a few yards from the meeting place of Britain's legislators.

The blast shattered a gas main setting off a fire that damaged 900-year-old Westminster Hall, one of the most historic buildings in the kingdom and imperiled its world-famous hammer-beam ceiling. Fire fighting teams from all over the capital managed to put out the blaze before it did serious harm.

Scotland Yard said 11 persons were injured, only one of whom had to be kept in hospital—a girl with a broken leg. It accepted the bombing as a challenge from the IRA that no building or person is safe and rechecked security at Buckingham Palace and other sensitive centers.

Since the Palace of Westminster —a complex of buildings which includes the House of Commons, the House of Lords, Westminster Hall and the tower of Big Ben —has always been considered an obvious target for the IRA it has been under heavy guard.

But an underground car park is being built in the forecourt of Westminster Hall and several score workers, some of them Irish, have been engaged as laborers. With or without inside help a bomber managed to place from 15 to 20 pounds of gelignite in an alcove near the staff canteen.

At 8.20 a.m. (3:20 a.m. EDT) today a caller with an Irish accent telephoned Press Association, a local news agency, and said a bomb was due to go off in the House of Commons in six minutes. The caller used a code word that identified his warning as genuine.

The warning was still being circulated when the bomb detonated about 10 minutes later with at least four members of Parliament already in their offices preparing for today's session of the House of Commons which proceeded as scheduled.

None was among the injured. David Steel, chief whip of the Liberal Party, said they got out into the street to find smoke billowing from the building and already almost obscuring Big Ben.

In scenes reminiscent of the wartime bombings fire apparatus from all over central London raced to the scene and also prepared to protect Wesminister Abbey, most precious of the nation's churches, just across the street. The explosion came at the height of the morning rush hour and traffic in central London was jammed for hours.

Steel was indignant that a building of such historic ancestry should be attacked — Winston Churchill lay in state there, Charles I was sentenced to be beheaded there, Henry VIII played tennis in the hall and when it was cleaned some years ago his tennis balls were found in the beamed ceiling.

Other arriving legislators were equally incensed.

"It's appalling!" said Lord Carrington, former chairman of the Conservative Party. "What a dreadful thing!"

"It's a very old building and very difficult to make secure," said James Prior, former Minister of Agriculture."

Robert Mellish, chief whip of the Labor Party, said the bombings would not frighten Britons who remembered the bombings by German planes in World War II.

"The hall," he said," is part of our heritage. I suppose we can be thankful they didn't throw a bomb at us in the chamber itself."

Pomona woman slain in dispute over swim pool

POMONA — A woman was killed Sunday afternoon in a dispute over two boys swimming in cutoffs in an apartment complex pool.

Three persons, including the victim's husband and son, were arrested.

The victim was Mary Treanor, 37, assistant manager of the apartment building at 1468 S. Palomares St., where the shooting took place. She was killed outright by a .38-caliber bullet which struck her in the face.

Those arrested wer Oscar Eric Harris, 41; 2366 Belinda Ave., who was accused of shooting Mrs. Treanor; Jerry Treanor, 22-year-old husband of the victim; and Jimmy Greenfield, the victim's 20-year-old son by a previous marriage.

Treanor was booked on a murder charge because he was involved in the altercation which preceded the shooting, Detective Sgt. Ron Pfaff said. Greenfield was arrested on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon. He took shots at Harris after picking up Harris' revolver when it was knocked from Harris' hand, investigators said.

They gave this account of the shooting:

Harris was attending a party at the apartment complex where friends lived. They planned to swim and have a barbecue.

Two boys, members of the visiting group, went swimming in the pool wearing cutoffs. Treanor, husband of the victim, objected, told them to get out, and they did.

Harris became upset and when he told the boys to go ahead and swim, he and Treanor got into an argument during which Harris slapped Treanor twice. Treanor left the pool area but returned a few minutes later and the trouble began again.

Harris drew the revolver and as Treanor backed away, Mrs. Treanor stepped between them and was shot in the face. The pistol was knocked from Harris' hand and the victim's son picked it up and fired two shots at him, missing.

Police, who were sent to the complex with the report of a disturbance, were arriving as the shots were fired. They took Harris into custody without incident. The others were arrested later as details of the incident were learned.

China explodes nuclear bomb; so does France

NEW DELHI (UPI) — China exploded an enormous nuclear bomb today in its Lop Nor testing area about 1,500 miles west of Peking, the Indian Atomic Energy Commission announced. France exploded a smaller one in the South Pacific earlier today.

It was believed to be the first time two nations were known to have carried out atomic tests the same day.

The Indian announcement said Monday's China blast was carried out above ground at 2 a.m. EDT in the Lop Nor region.

"On the basis of the signals obtained at our monitoring stations," the announcement said, "the explosion was conducted in the atmosphere and had a yield of approximately one megaton of TNT"—a million tons of TNT.

The commission gave no other details.

China exploded its first atomic low-yield bomb on Oct. 16, 1964, becoming the fifth nation to possess nuclear power. An explosion of a Chinese hydrogen bomb was announced June 17, 1967.

China's Lop Nor region, a desolate and sparsely populated area in Sinkiang Province which borders the Soviet Union, is the country's traditional nuclear testing ground. Peking has repeatedly defended its domestic nuclear testing program, but has criticized other countries for conducting tests outside their territories.

Australian Prime Minister Gough Whitlam and his New Zealand counterpart, Norman Kirk, both protested France's reported nuclear explosion over Mururoa. Whitlam warned that the test was "likely to lead to deposits of radioactive fallout within Australian territory."

Confirmation of energy chief stalled by senator

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate today confirmed the nomination of John C. Sawhill as head of the Federal Energy Administration but two and a half hours later withdrew its approval.

Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd received unanimous consent to temporarily delay the confirmation. He explained that a senator, not identified, wanted to speak on the nomination and had not been forewarned of the confirmation vote.

Byrd said that Sawhill would be confirmed promptly, probably as early as Tuesday.

Earlier, Sawhill had been approved by routine voice vote to replace William Simon, now Treasury Secretary, as the nation's energy chief. He immediately issued a statement promising not to take a job in the oil industry when he leaves the government.

Sawhill said he hoped his pledge would assure "the American people that I will perform my regulatory responsibilities in a fair and unbiased manner."

After being confirmed by voice vote, Sawhill, 37, also released a financial statement which placed his net worth at $132,000.

Sawhill, whose agency has been criticized for making use of oil industry executives in key jobs, said:

"I hereby make a commitment not to take a position in the oil industry when I leave public service."

He also promised to make public a financial statement "annually as long as I remain in this position."

The Senate also confirmed the nominations of Francine Neff of New Mexico to be U. S. treasurer.

Struve quads in good shape

POMONA — Five days after their birth, the Struve quads today are reported in good condition at Pomona Valley-Community Hospital.

The two girls and two boys, who weighed a total of 11 pounds and five ounces at birth June 12, are progressing nicely, a hospital spokesman said.

They are the children of Richard and Connie Struve of Claremont. They have been named Tonya Marie, Todd Allan, Kevin Michael and Kristina Lynn. They have a brother, Scott, who is 23 months old, at home.

The babies were born 1½ months early. Mrs. Struve, 28, was expecting twins.

Kissinger says Arabs accept Israel

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, leaving the traveling White House to attend a NATO meeting in Ottawa, said Monday the Arabs are now willing to recognize Israel's existence and that for the first time in 26 years Mideast peace was possible.

He left Ben-Gurion International Airport for a NATO foreign ministers meeting about an hour before President Nixon took off for Amman, Jordan, on the fifth and final leg of his Middle East tour.

Kissinger told a news conference the Arabs are now willing to recognize the existence of Israel as a Middle Eastern state.

He said he thought the negotiations between Egypt and Israel, and Syria and Israel, engineered by the United States since the October war, had resulted in a gradual depolarization that for the first time in 26 years made peace possible in the Middle East.

"It is our conviction that for the first time the Arab states, even the more radical ones like Syria, are talking about a continuing state of Israel, and some of the Arab states seem to have made a crucial decision to work out the modalities" of coexistence, Kissinger said.

"I believe that as a result of this trip Israel will understand that its long term security is better guaranteed by what is going on," he said, adding:

"One of the more satisfactory results of this process has been the transformation of Israel's fears into a greater sense of security through the negotiations that the President opened last year."

Kissinger mediated the troop disengagement agreements that separated the armies of Egypt and Israel in Sinai and the armies of Syria and Israel on the Golan Heights front. The Golan Heights agreement will be fulfilled June 26.

Bottle-throwing fracas results in 11 arrested

POMONA — Eleven persons were arrested late Saturday night in the fracas which followed the arrest of a youth accused of throwing a bottle at a passing car.

The trouble was outside the Eagles Lodge at 954 W. Mission Blvd., where a dance was being staged after a wedding reception there. Before things quieted the trouble spread to the parking lot of the Taco Lita stand nearby.

Officers said the Pomona youth, 17, hit a car passing in Mission Boulevard with a pop bottle and bounced another bottle off a police car. When he was taken into custody some members of the group, which numbered about 200 persons, began throwing bottles and other police were summoned.

Sgt. Thomas W. McCullough later declared an unlawful assembly and officers formed a skirmish line and moved into the crowd. The arrests were made amid a hail of thrown objects, police said, but no one was injured seriously.

Charges included assault on police officers, failure to disperse, resisting arrest, disturbing the peace and (for younger persons) curfew violation. Those adults arrested were:

Christine Layvas Duenas, 42, 730 E. Grand Ave., charged with assault, battery of a police officer, resisting arrest and failure to disperse; Ralph Dennis Carpio, 20, 1171 E. Franklin Ave., assault of a police officer, resisting arrest, failure to disperse; Eugene Guevera, 18, 2077 Primrose Way, failure to disperse; and Steve Ybarra, 19, 1585 Ganesha Place, battery and assault on a police officer.

GREEN LIGHT, AT LAST!

Tips from 4 help police convict 7 drug pushers

POMONA — Four anonymous We Turn In Pushers, Inc. (We T.I.P.) informants have helped Pomona police and Los Angeles County Sheriff's Deputies in the convictions of eight drug pushers in the valley area recently, said a We T.I.P. spokesman.

According to a spokesman from the Pomona Police Department, three convictions have resulted from the arrests of three persons suspected of selling illegal drugs in the Pomona area.

Aiding the Pomona Police in the arrest and conviction of Vicki Lynn Bruce, 22, of 1468 Grand Ave., Melvin Francis Arneson, 21, of 2233 W. Orange Grove Ave., and Amos Ward Jr., 27, of 1317 S. Hamilton Blvd., on various narcotic violations were We T.I.P. tipsters GF 3279, GB 673, and GD 2428.

The three informants have been authorized to pick up their rewards at the prearranged drop point by the We T.I.P. Board of Directors.

According to a spokesman from the Los Angeles County sheriff's San Dimas substation, five persons were arrested in September 1973 as the result of an investigation in which We T.I.P. information was used.

The arrests resulted in the convictions of Wayne Carl Shelton, 32, of 244 Third St., San Dimas; David Bowen Martens, 24, of 204 Arrow Highway, San Dimas; Gerald Thomas Heatley, 24, of 236 W. Third St., San Dimas; and Marcia Louise Laughlin, 26, of 236 W. Third St.; and Steven Allen Griffin, 24, of 2044 11th St., La Verne, on heroin charges.

The We T.I.P. Board of Directors and the Los Angeles Sheriff's Department in making the announcement of the arrests and conviction commended the anonymous informant whose information aided their investigation of the suspected drug pushers. The anonymous informant in the case declined to accept any reward for his or her information.

The We T.I.P. Board urged other citizens to use the T.I.P. telephone line (toll free) 800-472-7785 to call in any information about suspected drug trafficking in the local community. The callers are not asked their names by the We T.I.P. operator, who will assign them secret code names and numbers in the event their information aids police in arresting and convicting a pusher. We T.I.P. offers a $100 to $500 reward to the anonymous informants if their information aids in bringing a conviction.

Montclair man held after hit-run chase

POMONA — A Montclair man was arrested early Sunday by Pomona police who pursued him four miles after he hit a parked car and refused to stop, authorities said.

The man, Gerald Robert Abbott, 28, 10834 Central Ave., was booked on charges of hit-run driving, drunken driving and evading arrest. Montclair police and highway patrolmen joined the chase.

Police said Abbott struck a car parked on Mission Boulevard at Palomares Street and refused to pull over when overtaken by officers at Mission Boulevard and Reservoir Street. The chase began there and ended in Montclair at State Street near Central Avenue where Abbott's car hit a Montclair police car driven by Sgt. Bill Goff as Abbott attempted to drive over a street divider, officers said. Goff wasn't injured.

During the purusit the cars involved reached 60 miles an hour.

Barefoot bandit holds up clerk at local dairy

POMONA — A man armed with a small caliber handgun forced a 16-year-old sales clerk at the Pine View Dairy, 1430 East End Ave., to hand over a small amount of cash from the cash register Sunday evening.

West End Sheriff's deputies said a man described as a Caucasian, 22 to 24, 160 pounds, with brown hair wearing a "T"-shirt and Levis walked into thedairy store about 7:13 p.m. and pulthe dairy store about 7:13 p.m. and pulthen.

Snethen said the robber forced him to take the money from the cash register and place it in a bag. The thief fled on foot. Snethen said the man was barefooted and had on a green, yellow and blue watch cap.

Upland man found dead of wounds

UPLAND — Upland police this morning were investigating the death of a 20-year-old Upland man found dead of a shotgun wound in his head at 1034 Springfield St., at 6:28 p.m. Sunday.

Raymond Michael Carroll, 20, of that address was found dead in the living room of his apartment. Police said they found a .12 gauge shotgun lying beside his body.

The gunshow wound was apparently self-inflicted, officers said.

3 Claremonters injured as car falls over bank

UPLAND — Three Claremont men were injured early Sunday when their car failed to negotiate a curve, went down the embankment and struck a tree on Mt. Baldy Road north of Ice House Canyon Road.

California Highway Patrol placed the driver under arrest on suspicion of felony drunk driving.

The driver, Michael Alan Olson, 21, 3927 Mural Drive was treated at Doctors Hospital Montclair before being placed under arrest.

His passengers, Alan Nissim Schemtob, 19, of 1814 Rosemont St., and John Willard Cole, 19, of 102 Wesley Way, were taken to the San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland by ambulance, treated and released.

Automotive Council schedules dinner

UPLAND — The Automotive Service Council of California Inland Empire Unit 14 will hold a dinner meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Upland Inn.

After the meeting, members will adjourn to Bob's Auto Electric Shop, 205 W. Holt Blvd., Ontario, where they will demonstrate their own infra-red exhaust gas analysers.

Youth arrested on suspicion of possessing LSD

CHINO — A 15-year-old Chino High School youth today was in custody of the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department on suspicion of possession and transporting of LSD for sale.

The youth was stopped at 12:30 a.m. on Euclid Avenue south of Edison Avenue by the California Highway Patrol. He was placed under arrest on suspicion of driving under the influence of alcohol.

While making the arrest, officers found a clear plastic bag containing a small quantity of wafers which were determined to contain LSD, the CHP said.

He was turned over to the sheriff's department. CHP identified the youth only as a Chino High School student.

Special program scheduled at Y for youngsters

POMONA — Beginning Wednesday, the Pomona Valley YMCA will hold a special physical education program for children with conceptual or perceptual difficulties.

The program will be held for a period of five weeks on Wednesdays and Fridays from 9:30 to 11 a.m. The instructor will be Heather Moore. Fee for the class will be $15 per person.

Objectives of the program are recreation, and the building of self-confidence and motor skills.

For further information, persons may call 623-6433.

YMCA to offer karate lessons

POMONA — Karate lessons are being offered by the Pomona Valley YMCA.

On Wednesdays from 6:30 to 8 p.m. and on Saturdays from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. for a period of five weeks. Cost for the course is $10 for YMCA members and $15 for non-members.

For further information persons may call 623-6433.

Students to study Ontario airport

CLAREMONT — Students from Harvey Mudd College will be conducting an extended survey this summer on the possibility of the expansion of the existing runway system at Ontario International Airport.

The study program, sponsored by the National Science Foundation, is an extension of studies by local governments, private industry and other colleges.

The Harvey Mudd team hopes to provide information necessary to reach a decision on runway construction. The information is not included in prior investigations. By using computer simulation programs, the student investigators intend to predict the increase in noise and air pollution levels in and around the airport.

Compsoing the Harvey Mudd team will be James D. Potter, a chemistry major from Santa Ana, who proposed the project to the science foundation; Marlin Eller of Whitman College, Walla Walla, Wash.; James Pringle, Occidental College, Los Angeles; Susan Gordon, University of Redlands; and Gilbert Maxey and Thomas Harmon of Harvey Mudd.

Team members were chosen from applicants responding to notices sent out to various colleges and universities around the nation. The group will live in Claremont during the 12-week summer study.

According to Potter, the team expects to provide information that will be useful to local government officials in formulating zoning policies and traffic routes consistent with the best interests of the adjacent communities.

Formal title of the project is "Mathematical Modeling of Noise and Air Pollution at Expanding Ontario International Airport." The study has earned a grant of $7,850 for student stipends and expenses.

Youth injured when bicycle hits mobilehome

DIAMOND BAR — Fourteen-year-old Steven Pardee of 249 Tanforan Lane today is in satisfactory condition at Pomona Valley Community Hospital in Pomona wher he is being treated for concussion.

The youth was injured at 10:15 p.m. Sunday when, according to the California Highway Patrol, he rode his 10-speed bicycle into the rear of a parked housecar.

The mobilehome was parked on Sunset Crossing Road West of Del Sol Lane. The CHP said it was registered to Peter Leibrick of 23763 Sunset Crossing Road. It received minor damage to the left rear.

Young Pardee was placed in the intensive care unit of the hospital Sunday but taken out today, a hospital spokesman said.

City plans workshops on neighborhood goals

POMONA — A city plan development workshop will be conducted in the old Post Office building at Mission and Thomas streets three nights this week.

The workshop, a project which encourages the participation of city residents in the formulation of goals for neighborhoods in Pomona, will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Under the guidance of Lawrence Halprin and Associates, the city is working on a general plan of development for Pomona, including specific proposals for distinct neighborhoods. At the special image workshop, participants attempt to devise an image of their neighborhoods and the city as they would like to see it become. Each participant describes a negative and a positive image that he has of the city.

More than 170 Pomona residents have participated in the workshops to date. They have drawn maps of neighborhoods as they ideally should appear and have agreed on a number of specific images for the city in the future.

Participants have largely agreed that they want quiet, cohesive residential districts, low-density housing, landscaped streets, and a downtown which is the hub of the city. A visual sense of neighborhood identity also has been described as a desired goal.

Chino boy shot in head during family squabble

CHINO — A 6-year-old Chino boy accidentally shot in the head while his parents were holding a .22-caliber rifle Saturday night at their home, 11524 Central Ave., today is listed in "grave" condition at Chino General Hospital.

Freddie David Martinez Jr. was admitted to the Chino hospital shortly after the 11:34 p.m. Saturday incident. Doctors reported that the youth was shot once in the head.

According to sheriff's officers, Martinez, 25, and his wife, Lorraine Marie Martinez, 23, became engaged in an altercation and Martinez picked up the rifle and loaded it.

Deputies said that Martinez cocked the weapon and was in the process of handing the rifle to his wife when it accidentally discharged. The bullet struck the boy in the head a short distance away.

Mrs. Martinez, immediately called the Chino police and an ambulance.

No charges have been filed in the shooting incident, but Sgt. Robert Edmonds of the sheriff's homicide division said the investigation is continuing.

Cooler weather, clearer skies seen in valley

Cooler temperatures and clearer skies which began Sunday in the valley are expected to continue through today and Tuesday.

After hot, humid weather with moderate to heavy smog on Friday and Saturday, Sunday's weather brought very light smog and lower temperatures with cool breezes. Saturday's high reached 96 degrees with temperatures decreasing to a high of 86 on Sunday. Today's high is expected to be 79, and a 77 degree mark is predicted for Tuesday.

Continued light smog is expected today with a slight increase on Tuesday. The ozone count is predicted to be .15 parts per million today, the same as Sunday.

A stage two ozone level was reached in the West End area Saturday with an ozone reading of .40 parts per million.

L.V. Chamber honors Billy Masters for his work with community's boys

LA VERNE — Fourteen years ago this week Billy Masters of La Verne started out on a 3,000-mile trip by chartered bus with 37 Boy Scouts in the midst of his extra-curricular career as "Mr. Scoutmaster" in La Verne.

On Saturday evening at the annual dinner of the La Verne Chamber of Commerce, his long career as an influence for good among La Verne's youth was recognized. He was named the Citizen of the Year.

Eighteen years ago Masters agreed to handle a small group of eight scouts in Troop I sponsored by the La Verne Methodist Church so that his own son, Larry, then 11, might be a scout. He understood that he was to just fill in for three weeks until a man who had promised to take the troop would return.

By his own confession Masters says that he became so enthusiastic about his work with the boys that he was not really aware that much more than the three weeks had passed before he acknowledge that he was, in fact the permanent scoutmaster.

Evidence of the skills of his work with boys is the fact that his troop membership reached as many as 70. He has said, "I never had the heart to tell a boy he couldn't join us." An additional proof of his way with youth is fact that when he took off a year to give more time to his family, the troop membership dropped to only 18. So he took over the leadership again and within a short time the membership was back up to 50.

BILLY MASTERS

The impact of Masters' work with some 1,000 boys of the community was mentioned by those who recommended that he be the recipient this year of the community award. Speaking via tape were Paul Boetcher, administrator of the La Verne United Methodist Church; Mrs. Lila Beer, whose son had been in the troop; and Oscar Marshall who had been associated with Masters in the church and in community service for many years.

Among those present, were a number of his former scouts.

Recognition was given to the cooperation of Mrs. Masters in her husband's youth work.

Masters has lived in La Verne since his own youth and first tasted scout life under Kenneth Brownsberger.

Recognition has come to him from within the ranks of scouting. He was named Most Valuable Man of the Coahuilla District and is the holder of the Silver Beaver Award from the Old Baldy Council.

While serving as postmaster in Charter Oak he was named Citizen of Year there in 1966.

Although retired from active participation with the boys since 1971, Masters is the treasurer for the troop and institutional representative.

Fugitive murderer tracked down and shot

COEUR d'ALENE, Idaho (UPI) — Escaped murderer Carl Cletus Bowles' freedom flight from an Oregon prison ended abruptly Sunday when he was critically wounded by sheriff's deputy while standing knee-deep in Idaho's Spokane River.

Bowles, 33, escaped from Oregon State Prison May 17 while on an unsupervised pass and had left a trail of kidnap victims and stolen vehicles for pursuing law enforcement officers.

Kootenai County sheriff's deputies closed in on Bowles Sunday after he allegedly kidnaped a retired couple from Lowell, Oass., near Kellogg, Idaho, and forced them to drive him to Coeur d'Alene. He then hijacked another vehicle and wrecked it before stealing a motorcycle at gunpoint from Thomas A. Trapp, 26, Spokane, Wash.

A sheriff's department spokesman said Bowles forced Trapp to accompany him until he ran into two off-duty policemen from Post Falls who had joined the manhunt for the convict.

Bowles was chased down a county road that dead-ended on the banks of the Spokane River. The convict jumped and was wading across when he was ordered to halt by Sgt. James Guy.

Bowles turned around as if to shoot and Guy fired, wounding Bowles in the lower abdomen, according to county prosecutor Harry Button.

Bowles was serving a life sentence for killing Lane County, Ore., sheriff's deputy Carlton Smith during a four-day crime in Oregon, California and Nevada in 1965. Before being captured, Bowles kidnaped former California Finance Director Dale Champion and his family.

Button said Bowles would be charged in Idaho on five kidnaping charges, five of first-degree assault and grand larceny of a vehicle.

The convict is also wanted for kidnap and car theft in Oregon, where he escaped a massive dragnet near Eugene Friday during which he exchanged gunfire with FBI agents.

Bowles escaped custody May 17 while on an unsupervised pass issued by OSP superintendent Hoyt Cupp. Cupp was suspended for two weeks without pay by Gov. Tom McCall after the incident. Bowles had gone to a Salem motel to visit his niece, Mrs. Joan Coberly, 23, Monrovia, Calif.

Mrs. Coberly was arrested last Friday morning at a south Eugene, Ore., residence and is being held on a charge of hindering prosecution in the Lane County jail in lieu of $10,000 bail.

According to information contained in a complaint prepared by the U.S. attorney's office in Portland, Ore., Mrs. Coberly has admitted to the FBI that she planned and participated in Bowles' escape.

Began dad's day

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — She's never been a father, but Mrs. John Bruce Dodd was presented a bouquet of roses Sunday for Father's Day. Mrs. Dodd is the founder of the day honoring dads.

She started it in 1910 as a local celebration in Spokane, and four years later Congress made it apply to fathers nationwide. Mrs. Dodd, 92, was honored at a special ceremony at Expo '74 Sunday and she later took a tour of the environmental world's fair.

Mrs. Dodd thought of the idea to honor her father, William Jackson Smart. She now lives at the Opportunity Medical and Convalescent Center.

The case for Patty

NEW YORK (UPI) — If Patricia Hearst, kidnap victim-turned-revolutionary, ever gives herself up or is captured, she will face at least 20 state and federal charges. Newsweek magazine reported in its latest edition that a defense strategy based on the assumption she was brainwashed is already being mapped out.

The newsmagazine said Dr. Frederick Hacker of Los Angeles, the psychiatrist who has advised the Hearst family since Miss Hearst was abducted Feb. 4, is fashioning the basic defense plan.

Newsweek quoted Hacker, a specialist in the study of terrorism, as saying, "The only defense Patty has is a psychiatric one."

Boone owes $52,000

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Singer Pat Boone must pay more than $52,000 in back income taxes because a judge ruled he cannot write off losses in a land development deal on his 1965 and 1966 tax returns.

The U.S. Tax Court, in a memorandum filed Wednesday, rejected Boone's argument that the surrender of $92,500 in debenture bonds was a "business expense" necessary "to protect his business reputation as an entertainer and an endorser of commercial products."

Boone had put the money into a sagging real estate development company in which he held 19 per cent of the stock. The deductions were taken in 1965 and 1966, when Boone reported taxable income of $100,158 and $119,901.

The tax court called the transaction "forgiveness of indebtedness" to a company in which Boone was a major shareholder and said that was not deductible as a loss because it was "tribution of capital."

Champ auctioneer

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — Ralph Wade of Brush, Colo., is the 1974 world champion livestock auctioneer.

Once Wade started his spiel in a weekend contest, the untrained ear heard only a mishmash of gibberish. But the buyers, who served as judges, picked out the all-important bids from the constant barrage of sound.

'Power of good'

TYNEMOUTH, England (UPI) — Charlie May says he smoked his first cigar at the time of the Spanish-American war. That was in 1898 and he was 23. He rolled his first lawn bowling ball when he was 63. Now he's a month short of 100 and is still doing both.

"Bowling and rum and cigars —they do me a power of good," he said.

He said he once nearly had had to give up bowling because arthritis crippled two fingers and affected his game. He had the fingers amputated.

Sea wreckage found, but 10 still missing

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — A 13-foot sailboat dinghy and two large sections from the cabin of the yacht Shooting Star, missing with 10 persons aboard, was hauled from waters off the Mexican coast by searchers Sunday.

"It would indicate there is a possibility the craft has been broken up," said the Coast Guard, which reported a 10-mile stretch of debris was also scattered near the recovered dinghy.

"The fate of the 10 men is still unknown."

The blue sailboat, one of two dinghys, known to have have been carried by the pleasure yacht, was found capsized in three-foot seas about 32 miles northwest of San Benito island off Baja California but there was nobody aboard.

Except for the white section of cabin material, there was no sign of the 63-foot converted navy air-sea rescue craft or any of its 10 passengers, including newly re-elected Orange County supervisor Ronald W. Caspers, 43.

They have been missing since they issued a distress call just before midnight Thursday from waters near San Benito Island, about 275 miles south of San Diego, Calif. They reported they were taking on water and in danger of sinking.

U.S.-Israel pact highlights

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Highlights of the U.S.-Israeli agreement signed today by President Nixon and Israeli Premier Yitzhak Rabin:

Nuclear —"The two governments will negotiate an agreement on cooperation in the field of nuclear energy, technology and the supply of fuel from the United States under agreed safeguards. This agreement will in particular take account of the intention of the government of Israel to purchase power reactors ... As an immediate step, Israel and the United States will, in the current month, reach provisional agreement on the further sale of nuclear fuel to Israel."

Economic aid —Substantially more U.S. assistance will be provided to "offset the heavy additional costs inherent in assuring Israel's military capability for the maintenance of peace."

Military aid —No specifics but an Israeli delegation will go to Washington to work out an agreement on long-term supplies.

Terrorism —The two leaders "condemned acts of violence and terror causing the loss of innocent human lives," a reference to tactics of Palestinian guerrilla groups.

Middle East —Support is reaffirmed for U.N. Resolution 338 which calls for recognition of the integrity of all states in the area and the rights of the Palestinian people.

Space —"Special emphasis will be put on exchanges of scientists and the sponsorship of joint projects."

Private investments — Negotiations will begin immediately for concrete arrangements to implement a general U.S.-Israeli business accord to include "the area of avoidance of double taxation."

Tourism —"The two governments will resume negotiations on an agreement granting landing rights to the Israel national carrier (El Al Airline) in additional major cities in the continental United States."

Culture —Israel will send two cultural exchange missions to the United States in 1976 for the American bicentennial celebration. They will include an archeological exhibition depicting "the Land of the Bible" and a tour by the Israel Philharmonic Orchestra.

Oil nations try again to boost prices and taxes

QUITO, Ecuador (UPI) — The world's major oil exporting nations try once more today to convince Saudi Arabia to go along with higher oil prices and taxes for the rest of the year.

Saudi Oil Minister Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani has urged his colleagues in the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries to lower prices while the other 11 OPEC members are in favor of getting more money from the oil companies starting July 1.

Unanimous agreement is necessary on pricing policy. The final session of the three-day meeting will begin at 9 a.m. EDT.

Despite predictions by key members that an agreement would be reached by Sunday night, the 12 ministers, meeting without their aides, failed in a three-hour session to reach an accord. However, Iranian Interior Minister Jamshid Amouzegar, one of the most outspoken proponents of a price increase, was optimistic.

Ford closes four plants; massive layoffs loom

DETROIT (UPI) — Ford Motor Co. shut down four assembly plants in the United States and Canada until further notice today because a strike at a key stamping plant shut off the flow of auto and truck parts.

The president of the United Auto Workers union, Leonard Woodcock, said the strike could result in massive layoffs throughout the Ford system within the next few days.

A company spokesman said he could not confirm that.

The strike, which started last Tuesday at the key Chicago Heights stamping plant, halted production of such items as hoods, doors and roofs used in virtually all Ford vehicles.

About 4,000 workers went on strike at the stamping plant over failure to obtain a local contract agreement to supplement the national settlement reached last autumn.

The production halt led to parts shortages resulting in the shutdowns today of assembly plants in Los Angeles, Kansas City, Mo., St. Thomas, Ont., and Oakville, Ont.

The four plants employ about 8,900 workers and produce Thunderbirds, Pintos, Mavericks and Comet autos and light and medium trucks.

The Chicago Heights plant turns out about 80 per cent of Ford's truck body parts as well as auto hoods, doors and other parts.

Woodcock spoke at ceremonies in Chicago marking the installation of new officers of Local 588, the UAW local involved in the Chicago Heights walkout.

"The strike could have a crippling effect upon the entire Ford system," Woodcock said, "possibly leading to layoffs of tens of thousands of workers in the next two or three days."

General Motors Corp. also reported two plant shutdowns over the weekend —at Tarrytown, N.Y., and Van Nuys, Calif., where assembly lines are phasing out 1974 model vehicles.

W.H. meet called to find way to lower retail meat prices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's economic counselor, Kenneth Rush —who feels profits for meat packers and retailers are too high — called representatives to the White House today to seek a way to cut retail meat prices.

Informed government sources said Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz might also announce that government meat purchases for donation to schools would be expanded —a further move to aid farmers groaning under low livestock prices in a glutted meat market.

"The (profit) margins of the middlemen —packers, retailers —are unreasonably high," Rush told reporters Friday. "It bears scrutiny as to why those margins are so high.

Rush explained the goal of the White House meeting was to get food industry middlemen to lower their profits so consumers, who already have some retail reductions, can get the full benefit of recent drops in live cattle and hog prices.

Groups invited to the White House meeting, Rush said, include spokesmen for cattle and hog producers, rural credit leaders, and representatives of meat packers and supermarket chains.

Consumer demand must be revived, an Agriculture official said, so farmers can get relief from a squeeze that currently has beef cattle raisers losing $120 a head and more on every animal they sell. "The public discovered it could get along without meat," he explained. "Now we have to buy that demand back by offering meat at lower prices."

Supervisor Hayes sets up hot line

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Supervisor James A. Hayes, chairman of the courts system for the county, has received so many telephone calls on juvenile justice problems he's set up a "hot line" to process them.

Hayes opens hearings on youth justice problems June 26. The public telephone number is 974-1099.

CHAMPION HOLLERER

With a burst of energy, 83-year-old Paul E. Parker, a retired Sampson County farmer, hollers his way to the championship of the 6th annual National Hollerin' Contest Sunday at Spivey's Corner, N.C.

Conviction upheld for federal judge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court let stand today the conviction of former Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner Jr., the first sitting federal judge to be found guilty of a felony.

In a brief order with Justice Thurgood Marshall not participating, the Court refused to hear pleas by Kerner's lawyers that a judge cannot be convicted in criminal court without first being impeached by the House and removed from office by the Senate.

Kerner, on leave od absence but still a judge of the 7th U.S. Court of Appeals in Chicago and drawing his $42,500 annual salary, was convicted last year of mail fraud, conspiracy, tax evasion and perjury.

In other major actions today, the Court:

—Ruled 6 to 3 that a state is not required to provide a lawyer to a convicted indigent when he appeals to the high court.

—Sent to the U.S. Court of Appeals an appeal by biology teachers of Tennessee's "new monkey law," revising the one involved in the famed Scopes trial of 1925, which calls for inclusion of the Genesis theory in the teaching of evolution. In a related case, the Court refused to hear an appeal in which Bible fundamentalists argued that Houston, Tex., must use school texts giving "equal time" to the Genesis version.

—Ruled that inspecting the outside of a suspect's car for evidence in a murder case is not the sort of "search" requiring a warrant.

—Let stand a lower court decision that allowing nurses to give tranquilizers to unruly juveniles at state correctional institutions is cruel and unusual punishment under the Constitution.

The Greek sets odds on Nixon impeachment

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jimmy the Greek Snyder has established betting odds on the chances of impeachment and conviction of the President.

Snyder told People Magazine the odds on Nixon's being impeached by the House are a "toss-up." But he said the chances of his being convicted by the Senate are 100 to 1 against.

Snyder told the magazine he based his prediction partly on a February poll of the House by his public relations firm.

With a 70 per cent return, that survey indicated that 91 members were against impeachment and 23 leaning against it; 64 were for it and 23 leaning for it, and 105 undecided.

But Snyder stressed that release of the edited transcripts of the White House tapes have made a "big difference," and that there may be other surprises in the tangled Watergate case.

"Who knows what's going to happen, like what (former presidential lawyer Charles) Colson is going to say," said Snyder.

Watergate anniversary

Has it been just 2 years?

By JOHN MILNE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two years ago this morning, security guard Frank Wills found masking tape on a door leading into the Watergate office building and called the cops.

That event changed Richard Nixon's life and put the word Watergate into the history books.

It was about 2 a.m. Sgt. Paul Leeper, and officers Carl Shoffler and John Barrett answered Wills' call and searched the building. Barrett saw the shadow of a man outside a sixth-floor office and yelled, "Hold it, come out!"

"They got us," someone whispered into a walkie-talkie. Five men wearing blue surgical gloves stood up, their hands raised. "Are you gentlemen metropolitan police?" asked James McCord, a security officer of the Committee to ReElect the President who was arrested in the office of Democratic party chairman Lawrence O'Brien.

The "third-rate burglary" — as White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler later called it —has become one of the most extensively investigated crimes of our time, a politically-motivated caper with the unreal quality of a spy novel.

The trail of the arrested men led to the White House, to the President's most trusted advisers, and recent public opinion polls indicate that many of the same people who overwhelmingly returned Nixon to the White House that year — before the rest of the scandal unfolded —now favor his impeachment.

A year ago today, former White House counsel John W. Dean III was getting ready to tell his story to the Senate Watergate Committee. He testified that Nixon knew of the cover-up, even participated. A Watergate grand jury has named Nixon as an unindicted co-conspirator and the Supreme Court said this weekend it would decide whether that citation is legal.

There are still unanswered questions about the break-in. No one has ever said for sure what the burglars wanted, and whoever knows won't tell.

O'Brien apparently was the target. Asked about the information the burglars wanted, deputy GOP campaign director Jeb Magruder said O'Brien was "certainly from our standpoint, their most professional political operator, (who) could be very difficult in the coming campaign. So we had hoped that information might discredit him."

Magruder told the Senate Watergate Committee this break-in was part of a plan proposed by G. Gordon Liddy, a former FBI agent and CRP employe. His partner was E. Howard Hunt, a former CIA agent and spy novelist who saw himself as "a member of a special investigations unit, later known as the plumbers, which the President had created to undertake specific national security tasks for which the traditional investigative agencies were deemed to be inadequate."

Hunt said the reason for the break-in was, according to Liddy, "that he had information, the source of which I understood to be a government agency, that the Cuban government was supplying funds to the Democratic Party campaign."

Other burglars had been recruited by Hunt in early 1971. Some were "plumbers." They were Cuban-Americans who remembered the Bay of Pigs and seemed like characters out of spy novels: Frank Sturgis, Eugenio Martinez, Virgilio Gonzalez and Bernard L. Barker, who explained himself this way in the Senate Watergate hearings:

"E. Howard Hunt, under the name of Eduardo, represents to the Cuban people their liberation. I cannot deny my services in the way that it was proposed to me on a matter of national security knowing that, with my training, I had personnel available for this type of operation."

On May 27, 1972, one of these teams —the exact members remain unknown —broke into Democratic National Committee offices and tapped a series of phones. Barker he followed Hunt's orders to look for evidence of Cuban contributions and found none, but stole and photographed other documents.

Across the street, in Room 419 of Howard Johnson's motel, sat former FBI agent Alfred Baldwin III, eavesdropping and taping what he heard. He said he listened to about 200 calls, some dealing with political strategy but others personal — "explicitly intimate," he recalls.

But the tap on the phone they wanted —O'Brien's —didn't work right, so on June 17, 1972, they went back. Barker, Martinez, Sturges and Gonzalez checked into $38-a-night rooms at the Watergate Hotel next door. Sometime that night, McCord put tape on a door from the garage into the office building.

Wills, a 24-year-old guard found it and took it off. He dismissed it, figuring it had been done by maintenance men and went out for coffee. The surprised burglars decided to break in anyway. They put on another strip of light-colored masking tape, a device burglars use to keep a door from locking. Wills found it again and placed his call.

Across the street, Baldwin was standing on the balcony. The lights on the 8th floor went on. He grabbed the walkietalkie and told Hunt, two floors below in the Howard Johnson's, but was reassured. "That's the 2 o'clock guard check," Hunt said.

Then the lights flickered on and off on the sixth floor. Baldwin saw two men, one with a gun, on the sixth floor balcony. "As I observed them," he testified, "I called over the walkie-talkie again 'base 1, unit 1, are our people in suits or are they dressed casually?' and the call came back "our people are dressed in suits. Why?

"I said 'you have trouble because there are some individuals out here who are dressed casually and who have got their guns out' and the guy on the other end went a little bit frantic."

Leeper said one of his men saw Baldwin on the balcony and wondered if the man would turn in an alarm. He guessed that because the policemen were wearing casual clothes — they are part of a special Washington Police squad —they gainsd enough time to arrest the men in the office, along with an overnight bag containing "various items, cameras, bulbs, clamps for clamping the cameras to the desk, walkietalkies,. things of that sort." He said the men also had $3,600 in cash.

Later, the sergeant said, he checked the register at the Watergate hotel and discovered some of the phony names were identical with ones at the motel across the street. In Room 219, where Hunt had been, he found $4,200 in brand-new $100 bills, some electronic equipment, and a black notebook with "E. Hunt, W.H." on it.

Perhaps the most prophetic was officer Barrett.

"I saw an arm," he said. "I stopped in the position before I entered the secretary's office outside of Chairman O'Brien's and I hestitated there because it was dark back in the partitioned area, and while hesitating at that partition I saw a man down in a crouched position as if hiding by stooping —when the shadow crossed my face, I was startled, and that began the whole mess."

Two years later, the "whole mess" looms larger than anyone imagined then.

Teams look for victims of mudslide

ACAPULCO, Mexico (UPI) — Rescue teams searched today for victims of a mudslide that washed away part of a hillside in this Pacific coast resort, burying several homes under tons of earth.

Police said the number of victims was not immediately known, although unofficial reports from the scene said at least 10 persons were missing and feared dead.

Torrential rains flooded Acapulco streets Sunday afternoon and loosened the earth on the hillsides above the town, authorities said, causing the slide.

Let's 'Open' up Pomona

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

It would obviously be presumptuous for Pomona to put in a bid for the next Olympics, and I think both the Super Bowl and the World Series are out of reach of the Kumquat Kapital of the Upper Chino Valley. But there is always the U. S. Open.

For the benefit of local hockey fans, the U. S. Open is a competitive athletic contest in which nobody hits anyone on the head. It is a game called golf, in which blonde young men chase a tiny white ball over the greensward until it falls into a tiny hole, called "the cup." It is a silly game — so silly that 100,000 people turned out to watch it at Mamaroneck, N.Y., recently, and the winner took home $35,000. How silly can you get?

Try to picture an Open in Pomona (Mountain MEADOWS?!) and envision what that would mean to the communities of what we now refer to as "the valley" — to distinguish it from other valleys. For openers, 700 motel rooms were reserved for players, press and tourney officials — how many more must have been utilized by the 100,000 spectators.

And these people have to eat — think how the local restaurants would be bustling! And drink — you could hear the bar cash registers chunkin' from San Bernardino to San Juan Capistrano. Air lines, car rental agencies, taxi cabs, cleaning establishments, sporting goods stores, barbers and beauty shops, gas stations and even banks and post offices reaped the whirlwind.

Since golf is not played at night — not the Open, anyway — the nightlife from the Los Angeles Music Center to the massage parlors of Colton shared in the cornucopia.

Unemployment? Forget it — for a week. Waiters, bar tenders, hotel maids, movie ushers, police, mechanics, doctors, pickpockets and muggers had more trade than they could handle. The Open staff in Mamaroneck had 100 concessionaires, 50 private security guards (in addition to off-duty policemen), 400 marshals, 260 scorers, 50 drivers of courtesy cars, 10 bus drivers and 80 hot dog vendors, who vended 90,000 hot dogs, a new Open record.

Hundreds of high school and college teachers were hired at $3 an hour for crowd control — they've had experience. Hundreds of workers were employed to put up bleachers and TV towers, to handle parking, to sell programs, to man the press tent and serve at the succession of dinners and banquets at the clubhouse.

It's just a golf tournament, but to the little city of Mamaroneck, about the size of Claremont, and the surrounding communities, it was a $3 million windfall.

Let's all get together and build a jazzy championship golf course and put in our bid. One Open, and we can all retire.

Bridge

Locating ace helps score

By Oswald & James Jacoby Jacoby

Some hands are fun for rubber bridge playes, but a real headache at match points.

South wins the first heart trick with his queen. A rubber bridge player counts nine certain tricks and leads either a club or a diamond. If he goes after the clubs he will wind up with 11 tricks since West, who holds the club ace, won't be able to clear his hearts and there will be time for South to set up diamonds also. If he attacks diamonds East will win the trick and lead his eight of hearts, whereupon South will have to settle for his contract without any overtricks at all.

How would an expert play this hand in match point duplicate?

He would attack diamonds first, but he would do so by playing a spade to dummy at trick two and then leading dummy's jack of diamonds. If East is smart enough to play the ace it is too bad, but the chances are that East will duck quickly. Then expert South will play the king! The reason for this play is to make sure about the location of the diamond ace. If West held the ace he might let the jack hold, but he could never fail to put it on the king.

Then, having located the diamond ace, expert South would go after clubs and wind up with 11 tricks and a good duplicate score.

Special shades

NEW YORK (UPI) — High intensity street lighting is an approved crime deterrent but it has a drawback. The stronger light keeps some people awake nights. Many people solve the problem with room-darkening window shades, says the Window Shade Manufacturers Association.

Chosen in pretty colors, the shades add a decorative note while they cut out glare.

Federal loans, grants

11 colleges in valley to receive $1,874,934

Federal education grants and scholarships totaling $1,847,934 will be awarded to colleges within the 35th Congressional District, Rep. Victor Veysey has announced.

Scholarship loan funds for 11 area colleges will total $1,239,293 and will provide 90 per cent of the National Direct Student Loan program, a matching institutional grant will provide the remaining 10 per cent.

Area colleges and the amount each will receive are: Cal Poly, Pomona, $560.195 for 1.336 students; Chaffey College, Alta Loma, $32,084 for 76 students; Claremont Graduate School, $69,119 for 164 students; Claremont Men's College, $37,301 for 89 students; Harvey Mudd College, Claremont, $22,101 for 52 students; La Verne College, $54,904 for 131 students; Mt. San Antonio College, Walnut, $227,194 for 542 students; Pitzer College, Claremont, $55,176 for 131 students; Pomona College, Claremont, $33,140 for 79 students; Sawyer College, Pomona, $99,092 for 236 students; and the School of Theology, Claremont, $18,258 for 43 students.

Supplemental education grants totaling $608,641 were awarded to eight area colleges and will provide assistance for approximately 873 students at the following colleges:

Cal Poly, $236,379 for 341 students; Chaffey College, $35,474 for 51 students; Claremont Men's College, $32,850 for 47 students; Harvey Mudd College, $24,004 for 34 students; La Verne College, $22,985 for 33 students MSAC, $173,241 for 250 students; Pitzer College, $63,103 for 88 students; and Scripps College, $20,705 for 29 students.

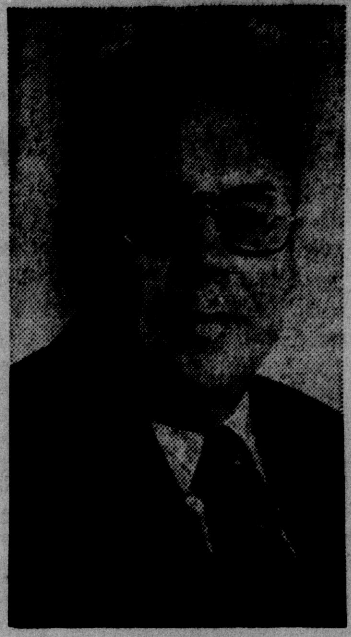
The elegibility for aid under the grant programs will be determined by financial need. The awards for individual students will range from $200 to $1,500 for academic year.

Each grant also requires that participating colleges provide an equal amount of financial assistance to the students from other sources of state and private funding.

Horse descendants

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The large herds of wild mustangs that once roamed the Texas rangelands were descendants of horses which had been brought to the new world by Spanish explorers.

VALLEY BRIEFS



CHARLES HUGELMAN of Upland is marking his 25th year with the Bank of America this month. He is manager of the Ontario branch of the bank at Fourth Street and Mountain Avenue.

Our House plans a dance concert

CLAREMONT — "Our House," crisis intervention and counseling center for youth, will hold a dance concert at Taylor Hall, Friday at 8 p.m.

Bee-bop, Boogie, and Jive with Joe Anis; Pieces; and Snotty Scotty and the Hankies will provide the intertainment.

Admission is $2 at the door.

Boys' State role for Claremonter

CLAREMONT — Kent Stalwick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Stalwick of 320 Wagner Drive has been chosen a Boys' State representative by Keith Powell Post 78 of the American Legion.

Boys' State will be held in Sacramento the week of June 22.

Stalwick, a junior at Claremont High School, has played football, basketball and baseball at freshman and varsity levels. He was named to the San Antonio League, Progress-Bulletin All Valley Team and California Interscholastic Federation in football.

He has a 3.89 grade point average. He plans to pursue a career in law.

Art grant for Scripps prof

CLAREMONT — James Fuller, professor of art at Scripps College, has received a research grant from Scripps to do a series of paintings and prints based on the human figure.

Well known for his paintings, watercolors, prints and wood sculpture, Fuller joined the Scripps faculty in 1967. During his fall, 1973 sabbatical he visited art museums and printmakers in Europe and devoted several months to painting in his Claremont studio.

His work is included in the permanent collections of such places as the Los Angeles County Museum, the Pasadena Art Museum and Cal State Los Angeles.

Princeton aide joining CMC

CLAREMONT — H. Dennis Gray, assistant dean of the college, Princeton University, has been named dean of students at Claremont Men's College. Gray will assume his new duties July 1, according to President Jack L. Star.

Gray will succeed Clifton MacLeod, who has been elevated to the dean of administration at CMC.

Gray joined the Princeton faculty in 1964 as an instructor in the Air Force ROTC unit. He was appointed assistant dean of the college in 1967 after resigning his commission following 12 years of active military service.

While at Princeton, Gray has a wide range of administrative duties in addition to being a lecturer in the English Department.

The doctor comments

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have a gall bladder that is not working. Why is this ailment so common in older persons? Will a low-fat diet and no-gas foods control it? Why should it be removed? Is it really necessary? I am taking Donnatal pills before meals and Butazolidin after meals, which gives me relief. Are these harmful if taken constantly? I will appreciate any information you can give me. Incidentally, I'm 79.

DEAR READER — Doctors call such a gall bladder a "non-functioning" gall bladder. Remember that the gall bladder is just a sack to store bile until it is needed. Otherwise, the bile from the liver flows down the main duct right into the small intestine as soon as it is manufactured by the liver. A nonfunctioning gall bladder is one that can't fill or store bile for any reason.

In 97 per cent of these cases the gall bladder contains stones. The process that leads to the stone formation ends up causing the gall bladder to stop functioning. A stone may be lodged in the opening to the gall bladder blocking the flow of bile into the gall bladder. Or, the bladder may have been inflamed and remains as a scarred contracted sack with stones inside it.

We really don't know what causes the stones in the first place. Some people form bile that is very rich in cholesterol. The cholesterol settles out as crystals and begins the stone formation. There is some evidence that bacteria in the gall bladder contributes to the problem even if they are not the primary cause. The bacteria can pass up the bile ducts from the small intestine and into the gall bladder.

The stones that are formed may be mostly of cholesterol. These can sometimes be dissolved by medicine — a recent medical development. Other stones are small, hard, black stones formed from the bile pigments. Most stones are a mixture of the two.

There is no rule that a nonfunctioning gall bladder must be removed in every case. The reason many doctors want to remove them is that within 10 years 30 per cent of the patients with gall stones will have complications from gall bladder disease. This includes obstruction of the bile ducts with a stone, causing jaundice and liver disease, pancreatic disease, acute inflamed gall bladder, which can be a painful attack and lead to serious complications, and the possibility of developing cancer. It is equally important to note that 70 per cent of patients with gall stones do not develop complications.

As you might guess, in people younger than 50, most doctors agree that surgery should be done. From 50 to 60 there is a hot debate, and after 60 it is often not done unless there is already evidence of a complication that requires it.

Your medicines are fine if you seem to be getting along with them. I'm not sure why you are taking them. If it is for pain from gall bladder diseases that may be one reason for considering surgery at your age.

A low-fat, "no-gas foods" diet will help to prevent the indigestion symptoms from gall bladder disease. Such a diet will not cure the gall bladder disease itself, however.

Higher crime rate expected for Pomona; thefts will top the list

POMONA — Crime will rise 14.8 per cent this year, according to figures revealed by Police Chief Forest P. Wallick.

The projections for 1974 show a decrease in some major crimes, such as homicide, manslaughter and rape, but a continuing increase in others, including assault, robbery, burglary and grand theft.

Total major crimes in Pomona have increased from 5,566 reported in 1969 to 7,761 reported in 1973. The projected total for this year is 8,910.

"Thus it appears," Wallick wrote, "that crime will continue to rise in the future in Pomona as well as in the nation as a whole."

Explaining the rise in crime, he stated:

"There simply are more persons committing more crimes than ever before. It appears that many have departed from the moral controls which existed at one time. There has been a steady deterioration in the country's moral fiber and I see no relief in the near future. The deterioration of the tight family unit, with the strict discipline it used to involve, has led to a loosening of moral values and an increase in crime."

The major crime statistics for 1973 showed there were 11 murders, nine cases of manslaughter, 42 rapes, 340 cases of aggravated assault, 481 cases of nonaggravated assault, 333 robberies, 1,762 burglaries, 1,618 petty thefts, 1,491 grand thefts and 674 auto thefts.

The figures revealed that while crime is rising just about everywhere, it is rising at a more rapid rate in Pomona than in nearby cities of comparable size.

In a chart comparing Pomona with El Monte (pop. 70,000), West Covina (74,000) and Ontario (68,000), Pomona's crime rate of 8,720 led them all. El Monte's was 5,214, West Covina's 5,251 and Ontario's 5,336.

In statistics comparing Pomona's record of major crimes solved, Pomona's figure of 31 per cent topped the national average of 22 per cent. Despite this higher-than-average rate of solutions, the criminal here still has a 70 per cent chance of not getting caught, Wallick said.

In a report on the efforts of the department's Burglary Task Force, which has been operating just more than one year, figures showed that burglaries have continued to increase. However, Wallick wrote, the rate of increase is substantially less than the percentage increase for the two similar periods prior to the fielding of the Task Force.

More flexible approach at Cal Poly

No major required for frosh; counseling expanded

POMONA — For the first time in its 35-year history, Cal Poly will permit first-time-freshman students to enroll without declaring a specific major area of study.

Under the undeclared major program, persons entering Cal Poly as freshmen may elect to postpone their choice of major until the end of their third quarter classes. Transfer students from other colleges and universities, however, will still be required to select a major course of study at the time they apply for admission.

The change was adopted by the university following its faculty senate's evaluation of student needs. The results of the study convinced the senate that a program allowing freshmen greater flexibility concerning their choice of major would benefit many students.

Both students enrolled at Cal Poly and those who chose not to enroll because they were not ready to declare a major were considered by the university before the undeclared major status was approved.

Students who enter Cal Poly without declaring a major will be advised by the counseling center staff. A faculty committee representing Cal Poly's six academic schools will work with the director of counseling and testing services and the dean of undergraduate studies developing recommendations concerning the eventual establishment of majors for the students.

In addition, the committee will develop recommendations about class schedules for students as undeclared majors giving these students exposure to a variety of fields of study consistent with their experience.

U.S. gives scholarship foundation failing grade

Please help our local high school seniors and guidance counselors by checking on the authenticity of the American Education Foundation.

It offered a chance at scholarships to seniors and played down grades and financial need. It did require a $5 fee.

I sent in an application for my son and have heard nothing yet.

Sinclair S. Sinclair is the executive director of the foundation. The address is Suite 1000, Hollywood Equitable Building, 6253 Hollywood Blvd., Hollywood, 90028.

The California State Scholarship and Loan Commission sent out a special letter to say this scholarship offer did NOT have official approval.

I would appreciate any information you can get to help both the seniors who may have applied from local high schools plus counselors who guide them. — B.B., Ontario.

You enclosed one of the foundation's applications for awards ranging from $100 to $3,000.

It consisted of a four-page questionnaire ending with the warning that the application would be returned unless the $5 processing fee was enclosed.

Eligibility requirements were high moral character, good citizenship and dedication to American ideals plus citizenship or admission to the United States on a permanent visa. The deadline for 1974-75 awards was May 1.

It looks as if you won't have to worry about 1975-76 applications.

Our inquiry to the California State Department of Consumer Affairs brought a reply from the U.S. Postal Service that the director of the American Education Foundation was arrested for mail fraud on April 16.

The man who demanded high moral character of applicants was identified by J. W. Zemblidge, postal inspector, as Ernest S. Sinclair.

His case has been turned over to the U.S. attorney in Los Angeles for "further legal procedures." Zemblidge will inform us of the outcome.

A friend signed me into the Record Club of America about 3½ months ago.

I have received only three of six albums I was supposed to get. It has been about six weeks over the required amount of time for waiting. Twice before I wrote to the club but still the albums haven't come.

I joined the club for these records and feel that I should be able to get them.

Will you please see if you can correct this mistake for me? I never received a membership number so can only give you my name and address. — W. W., Claremont.

You listed the missing records, "Don't Shoot Me, I'm Only the Piano Player" with Elton John, "Houses of the Holy" with Led Zepplin and "Magician's Birthday" with Uriah Heep.

Five and a half weeks after we wrote to Record Club of America we received a copy of a message to you stating that the records had been shipped. It was another two weeks before you telephoned to say they had arrived.

A few days ago I received a catalogue from Breck's of Boston. In it was an announcement of "Breck's Dutch Bulb Sweepstakes."

When this company went bankrupt, it owed me $3.69. I'm still waiting for it. You at Action Line tried to help me.

How can the company have a big sweepstakes? — Mrs. L. R., Pomona.

John E. Rice, credit manager, explained to you and Action Line how the spring blossoming you wrote about was possible.

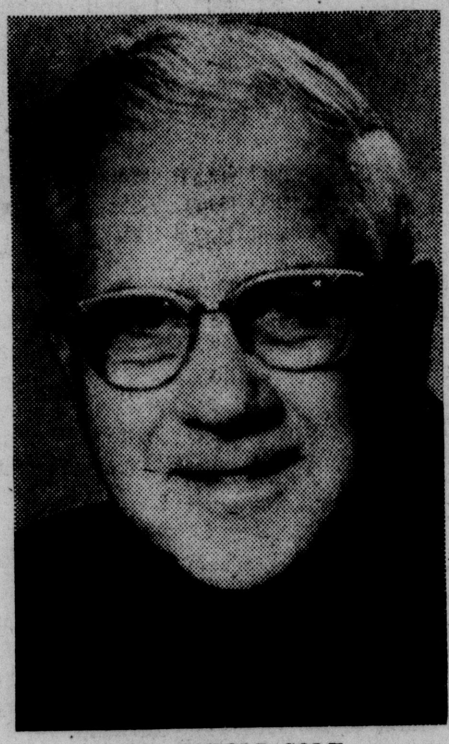
Early in 1973 Foster Gallagher, Inc., a mail order firm, purchased certain assets (and no liabilities) of the Joseph E. Breck Co., from the referee in bankruptcy, including the Dutch bulb mail order business using the trade name of Breck's of Boston.

Claims against the former company are in the hands of Paul W. Glennon, Referee in Bankruptcy, 1128 John W. McCormick, Post Office and Court House, Boston, 02109.

PVCH radiologist ending 40-year medical career

POMONA — After July 1, Dr. Harold A. Cole will finally have time to pursue his reading and golf game.

He's retiring from a medical career which began in 1934 when he started his internship at Lutheran Deaconess Hospital in Chicago after graduating from the University of Rochester Medical School.



DR. HAROLD COLE

Since 1946, Dr. Cole has been a radiologist at Pomona Valley Community Hospital. He has shared in the development of the radiology department from a one-room, scantily equipped facility to a complex center which includes diagnostic, therapy and nuclear medicine departments.

Dr. Cole served five years in the U.S. Army during World War II as a radiologist, including 28 months in India and Burma.

In addition to being on the staff at PVCH, Dr. Cole has served as a clinical professor at USC. He is a diplomat of the American Board of Radiology and a past president of the Pomona Chapter of the Los Angeles County Medical Association.

At a retirement party in his honor at Griswold's Inn, Claremont, Dr. Cole was presented gifts from his fellow staff members with Dr. Hugh Martin as master of ceremonies.

Dr. Cole and his wife, Virginia, plan to reside in South Laguna Beach. The Coles are parents of two sons and a daughter.

Arkansas Democrat subject of Progress-Bulletin quiz

This Arkansas Democrat, who heads the House Ways and Means Committee, recently proposed a return to wage and price controls as an immediate anti-inflation tool.

Do you know his name?

You'll get a chance to identify him and answer a variety of news questions in the quiz, appearing today on page B-3.

This news feature is published weekly by the Progress-Bulletin as a service to area students.

Answers to today's quiz questions may be found in the Pomona First Federal Savings and Loan Association advertisement on page B-4.

Volunteers receive awards for efforts at Casa Colina

EDITORIAL Opinion

U.S.'s economic woes incurable?

An adviser to the government's policymakers is convinced no one has the ability to solve our economic difficulties. Not the President. Not Congress. Not the economic experts, government or private. Neither Republicans nor Democrats.

This is no usual man. He was at one time group vice president of one of the world's great corporations and is now a top-ranking consultant to a number of government departments. He has no solution and says: "my brain is not big enough."

We have become too inter-dependent, rich nations as well as poor, for food, oil, metals and other minerals and raw materials and for markets for our goods. It is impossible to forecast the actions of governments, logical and illogical, which may affect economic conditions in other nations. Inflation, shortages, recessions and monetary instability creep from country to country, continent to continent.

The roots of our economic problems reach into many countries and the resulting complexities are so great that human minds, however brilliant and however many computer they may employ, cannot cope with them. The situation is more difficult because what can be done economically to prevent disaster depends on what is politically practical. What will the President, any president, or Congress or the public go along with. No solution will work if there is not public acceptance.

Much lip service has been paid to the international aspects of our economic problems. A plethora of conferences has been convened these past years on world monetary systems, skyrocketing oil prices, or preventing producers of other raw materials from following suit, and on eliminating hidden tariff barriers.

Most meetings, unfortunately, have ended with a wringing of hands, pious statements and touted understandings which turn out to be agreements over trivia.

We have not adequately studied those international economic matters over which we have some control—the effects of U.S. funded multinational corporations, of Washington policies on international oil exploration and investments, of our encouragement or discouragement of investments in raw materials in Latin, African or Asian lands, of the economic aid we provide to countries around the world. We make policies and take actions in these matters piecemeal without understanding their overall effects.

Despite talk to the contrary, our government these past decades has given short shrift to world-wise economics and its effects on our lives.

The State Department fairly recently made its top economics man an undersecretary. It has not put him in the top echelon of policymaking. The secretary of the Treasury handles international economics with his left hand. Read the reports of the President's Council of Economic Advisers; note that blame for our troubles is laid internationally. There's an outline of how this happened but little real thought and less analysis (though considerable words) on how the problem can be solved.

The White House, too, has had an office dealing with these matters. It has had little influence and not a great deal of intellectual depth.

Truce and consequences

When Henry Kissinger undertook a spur-of-the-moment lucky 13th trip to Damascus he turned an apparent diplomatic failure into a highly important achievement.

The truce he engineered under which Israel and Syria agreed to disengage their troops in the Golan Heights and accept a U.N. supervised buffer zone arrangement just east of the two nations' common border ended a 79-day war of attrition that broke out shortly after the end of the October war. It was the first formal agreement they had reached since 1948, when Israel fought its war of independence.

President Nixon properly hailed the Secretary of State's success in this most difficult mission as a major diplomatic accomplishment. Just as properly he warned that there are "many difficulties ahead (in) achieving a permanent peace settlement for the entire Mideast area."

An indication of what those difficultities would include came in the Soviet-Syrian pronouncement that the truce was "a firststep and indivisible part of an overall settlement" which must be followed immediately by steps toward an Israeli withdrawal from all occupied Arab territory.

Despite difficulties to come, however, a roadblock has been removed, the consequences of which could mean a great deal to our hopes for Mideast and world peace. As in the removal of all diplomatic roadblocks, concessions had to be made on both sides. In this case the Israeli made the first gesture, dropping their insistence on Syrian guarantee to prevent Arab guerrilla infiltration, accepting instead a U.S. offer of political support in the event of Israeli retaliation should such infiltration occur.

Like all truces, it is not totally reassuring; but the fact that it came about and that its consequences could mean so much most certainly is.

Rodino panel relies on FBI

WASHINGTON — At the forthcoming impeachment hearings, the case against President Nixon will be based largely upon the work of the FBI, which uncovered 90 per cent of the Watergate conspiracy.

This will be awkward for the President who has always championed the FBI. After he graduated from Duke University, he even tried to become an FBI agent.

Those who favor impeachment consider it good strategy, therefore, to stress their reliance upon the FBI. Contrary to the public impression, it wasn't investigative reporters but FBI agents who dug out most of the Watergate facts.

The White House tried to head off the FBI investigation by obstructing the agents, throwing out false leads and crying national security. At White House instigation, former CIA director Richard Helms and deputy director Vernon Walters asked the FBI to lay off sensitive Watergate matters, falsely claiming it would jeopardize CIA operations.

But the FBI pressed doggedly ahead. Early in 1973, the top FBI brass checked upon the investigation to make sure it was being handled properly. Robert E. Gebhardt, who headed the General Investigative Division, reported back confidentially to Associated Director W. Mark Felt on Feb. 23, 1973:

"The handling of the Watergate investigation from the headquarters level through the field operation level was done in accordance with procedures, both administrative and investigative, that are customarily employed in any major investigative effort by the FBI.

"Among cases handled in the recent past in which similar procedures were followed are: the assassination of Martin Luther King; Capitol bombing, March 1, 1971; and major kidnapping cases such as the Barbara Jane Mackle case."

Most of the agents who developed the Watergate case, meanwhile, are still doing the sleuthing for the special prosecutors.

DEATHBED PROMISE: Friends who are close to the human Richard Nixon tell us he faithfully kept a promise he made to Dwight Eisenhower on the late President's deathbed.

Two days before Ike died, President Nixon paid his last visit to the old general at Washington's Walter Reed Army Hospital. "Dick," said the dying Eisenhower, "there's one thing I want you to promise me. I want you to be as good to Lyndon Johnson as he has been to me."

Nixon gave his word. Our sources say he squelched moves by his subordinates to hunt for scandals in the Johnson administration and use them to embarrass the Democrats in the 1970 and 1972 electrons.

"Would you go after Johnson?" he would ask. If he thought the revelations might hurt Johnson personally, Nixon would say no.

When Johnson died on Jan. 22, 1973, President Nixon ordered his full Cabinet to attend special services. "Earlier today," directed a January 23 memo to all Cabinet members, "your office was contacted with the request from the President that you attend the Rotunda services for former President Johnson . . ."

EPIDEMIC OF PILLS: The federal crackdown on heroin apparently has caused America's drug users to turn to pills and powders meant for medical purposes.

This is the import of new figures submitted to Capitol Hill by the Customs Service. The figures are based on Customs seizures, which often reflect the American drug scene more accurately than do drug arrests and convictions.

The new figures show that through April, heroin seizures have declined almost 68 per cent during fiscal 1974, compared with the same period a year ago. Opium confiscation is down 83 per cent.

Yet during the same period, the seizures of barbiturates, pep pills and other medical drugs have increased a staggering 371 per cent.

U.S. drug companies, large and small, must report drug sales to the federal government. To get around this, the drug companies simply are shipping the pills out of the country to foreign wholesalers whose sales aren't subject to U.S. inspection.

These wholesalers ship the drugs to smugglers below the border or in the West Indies, who bring them clandestinely back into the United States in crate-size lots.

Footnote: The ethical pharmaceutical industry insists it can't control what foreign wholesalers do with the drugs. The U.S. companies, however, ship huge amounts of drugs out of the country, knowing the amounts far exceed the needs for medicinal purposes.

PAUL HARVEY

Another kind of warfare

Just when it appears that antibodies may rid the world of war, with big war too devastating to contemplate and small wars too debilitating to tolerate, we let ourselves begin to believe that peace is possible.

Surely, we reason, mankind cannot devise any more hideous ways to wage war. Then suddenly he does.

The kinds of war we now call "terrorism" and "guerrilla warfare" are as old as Old Testament "pillage" with this difference: The Huns and Vandals carried off women and treasure as spoils of war.

Today's barbarians have found our Achilles' heel: They barter with the lives of kidnaped children. They use our sensitivity—our singular sacrifical love for our offspring—as leverage to blackmail us.

The Israelis, surrounded by hostility, cannot afford the luxury of a filial compassion which could escalate to their extinction.

When Arab raiders invaded a border village and held most of 100 Israeli school children hostage, the Israelis knew what they had to do and they did it.

They advised through Tel Aviv radio that capitulation was under consideration while in Parliament they stalled—until Israeli commando troops could rush to the scene.

Those troops stormed the schoolhouse, freed the captives and killed the captors. Yes, there was much risk and some died. At last year's Olympics a similar gamble cost lives. But any less forthright response and every Israeli schoolchild would be in jeopardy.

The FBI under J. Edgar Hoover always sought to discourage payment of ransom because, Director Hoover knew, criminals feed, grow and multiply in direct ratio to the timidity of their victims.

If political blackmailers can trade captive children for whatever they want, then the rest of us are no match for them.

Is there no option other than to sacrifice captive children? Israel didn't sacrifice them.

But neither did the Israeli Parliament pussyfoot. Nor did the rescue troops fool around advising the felons of their rights. Nor did they shout halt three times or say please even once. Nor did they diddle around with warnings or tear gas or stun guns.

They waded in throwing hot lead and left that vicious bunch cold dead. Of course, there will be other bunches. Even uncompromising counterattack will not exorcise the world.

But neither will the children of today's Israel cower piteously behind locked doors and shuttered windows hoping for mercy while their own fear feeds the insatiable carnivorous appetites of despots. Their parents have seen the end of that road.

LETTERS FROM P-B READERS

As others see it . . . letters

Political reform

The reaction of voters to recent disclosures of political corruption, was clearly revealed in the California primary election on June 4th. One group of voters voiced their desire for meaningful political reform, while another didn't bother to vote.

The landslide victory of Proposition 9 should encourage the non-voters to reenter the political process by registering and voting in the general election in November. The victory also demonstrated that average citizens still have a say in government and that their patience toward political corruption is limited. For too long, some public officials have taken care of themselves first, special interests second, and the people last.

Unfortunately, the House of Representatives in Washington, is completely out of tune with the will of the people. Many incumbent Republicans and Democrats alike, are dragging their feet on political reform. Unless each citizen lets his congressman know how he feels about "politics as usual," little change will take place at the federal level.

The best way citizens can make their desires known, is to join one of the many organizations now working to achieve nation-wide political reform. Thousands of volunteers from the over one hundred organizations that endorsed Proposition 9, have shown what can be done if enough people care. But much must be done if America is to have the good government to which our forefathers aspired. Now is the time for all citizens to devote at least some time and effort to convince those special interests and politicians who did not actively support Proposition 9, that they must stop opposing political reform and, instead, accept it as the way of the future.—Peter P. Dawson, La Verne, Common Cause 35th Congressional District coordinator, Coalition for Proposition 9.

So they say

'Nobody really needs (a 25-foot yacht) when you get right down to it. It's not like a fur coat that will at least keep you warm nor is it a diamond ring that may be a good long-term investment."

— George Irvine, Jr., president of Chris-Craft Corp., discussing slowly improving yacht sales after sharp decline attribued to fuel crisis.

"The way the boycott weapon is being used now, it is a method of forcing union recognition outside the law."

— Washington, D.C. lobbyist criticizing the recent boycott of Farah slacks forcing that firm's management to concede to union organizers' demands.

"The voice is a very delicate instrument — an instrument that is the closest to one's soul of any instrument there is and because of that, it is the most sensitive and delicate.'

Gossip for today

Were it not for legal technicalities and judicial booby traps, the average American might not be groping quite so blindly in his efforts to develop a logical sense of morality. But in all justice to laws and lawyers I must confess that, thanks to one legal authority, I have at least learned the answer to the question: When is pornography not pornography? — A district attorney has set me straight on that one. He has ruled that you can legally show a sex film for free in a school although it would be illegal to show it for admission in a theater.

It's getting so a person can't even resort to a bit of righteous indignation these days without subjecting himself to extreme frustration and embarrassment. — I know! — I displayed a bit of unhappiness recently by sounding my horn when the car in front of me didn't get going as fast as I thought it should have at the light signal change. The slowpoke driver immediately stuck his head out the car window, waved, and smiling a beautific smile, shouted: "Bless you my friend!" It was then I noticed his bumper sticker. It read: "HONK IF YOU LOVE JESUS."

GARRY WILLS

The Special Olympics for special people

Recently I spent the afternoon watching young people jump higher and farther than I can, and run faster. They were all mentally retarded.

Each Spring Special Olympics are held around the country on the same weekend, and entries for them have been soaring, along with attendance and the volunteering of services. Last year I went to the Maryland Special Olympics in Towson, and it seemed to have only half the numbers that showed up this year.

Some, with a mistaken sensibility, find it sad to watch young people labor so desperately at tasks their more fortunte peers can accomplish without effort. Those who work regularly with the retarded will have none of that. Eunice Kennedy Shriver, who seemed to be everywhere during the afternoon, was often asked to autograph a participant's program. She would ask for the young person's name and write a personal message to him or her.

If the child stammered or got stuck, she did not rush on or smooth things over. She waited and prompted the child until the task was achieved. The whole point of the Olympics is to show what the retarded can do for themselves. Each name pronounced against the recalcitrancies of the body is a triumph of courage and will.

When a girl stumbled in a race, the coach was not there to comfort her while she cried. He told her to get up and keep going. There is too much to be done for people to stand around wasting their time. (That way, too, the coaches keep from crying.)

And the price in achievement is stunning. Young people with medals and ribbons on their track shirts came up to me all afternoon and began, right off the bat, telling me how they had won them. They were the real educators of the day.

For the Olympics are not meant only to show the children what they can do, but to show us. Mrs. Shriver made the point repeatedly by asking each child who was about to get out of school if he or she had a job. An encouraging number said yes. There are many things the retarded can do, and are anxious to show their hard-won skills at. The false delicacy that shoved them all out of sight is disappearing, but not fast enough.

Some people still think of all the retarded as simply incompetent, and all as essentially alike in this incompetence. Yet here were people proving that even some severely handicapped children can do much more than might have been expected from them earlier. And many others were superb at what they did.

They call these spring meetings the Special Olympics, and the title is more than a euphemism. Some children wore gold medals, and some silver. Others wore ribbons of various sorts. But these were only the small recent victories in a whole series of achievements.

To get here, each had to overcome obstacles that would have disheartened most of us. In that sense, they were all wearing invisible clusters of gold medals. They are all special.

Two receive Westmont Memorial awards

POMONA — The 1974 winners of the Scott McAlister Memorial Award at Westmont Elementary School are Erika Corle, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. I. Corle of 1666 W. Ninth St., and John Mattson, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mattson of 1683 Meserve St.

Annually the awards go to the outstanding boy and girl, selected by the faculty on the basis of scholarship, sportsmanship and participation in service activities and youth groups.

Erika and John received plaques and dictionaries at a school assembly recently. In addition, their names were engraved on a perpetual plaque kept in the school office.

The McAlister Memorial Awards are donated to Westmont students by Mr. and Mrs. Robert McAlister of Claremont in memory of their son Scott, a Westmont student, who died.

TV writer will teach at Pitzer

CLAREMONT — John McGreevey, Emmy-winning television writer, has received an appointment as visiting professor of television arts at Pitzer College and will teach one course next fall.

McGreevey has had more than 300 shows aired on the three major television networks since he turned to that medium in 1955. Last year, he was awarded an Emmy for one of his Walton series scripts, "The Scholar."

After earning his B.A. in English and theater arts at Indiana University, he sold more than 100 radio scripts in six years.

Among his live television credits were Philco, Studio One, Lux Video, Suspense and others.

Among his many TV film credits are scripts for Westerns, suspense, comedy, and drama, including Wagon Train, Ironside, My Three Sons, Owen Marshall, and The Waltons.

Water district in Walnut wins safety award

WALNUT — The Walnut Valley Water District has been recognized for its employe safety record during 1973 by the Association of California Water Agencies, the American Water Works Association and the State Compensation Insurance Fund.

The district had only one medical injury in 32,000 employe hours in 1973, officials said.

The safety record was good enough to earn a third place award in the Association of California Water Agencies' safety contest, cosponsored with the State Compensation Insurance Fund. Awards are based on safety data collected by ACWA safety questionnaire.

Walnut Valley Water finished behind Lindmore Irrigation District and West San Bernardino County Water District in its division.

As an added bonus of the contest, the Walnut district received an insurance premium refund from the State Compensation Insurance Fund.

Further recognition was received recently from the American Water Works Association, California Section Safety Committee, via a letter of commendation for "excellent performance in safety as shown by your report for 1973. . . . "

Army worms hit Ethiopia crops

ROME (UPI) — A plague of army worms has hit a wide area of Ethiopia, destroying crops just planted following a severe drought, the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization said Wednesday.

It said the worms, which at one stage of their development become flies and may move with the wind as far as 62 miles overnight, have spread across 15,500 square miles of farmland.

Many India doctors not qualified, report says

NEW DELHI (UPI) — India annually turns out a large number of doctors who do not know even the rudiments of their profession, a government report says.

In its anxiety to produce more doctors the country has "sacrificed quality for quantity," the report said.

The document was prepared by the government's employment commission after interviewing 2,239 candidates in Andhra Pradesh state.

Nearly 14,000 doctors graduate each year from the country's 104 medical colleges.

"Medical students in India are badly selected, undertaught and over examined. There are too many students and too few teachers and the curriculum is not purposeful and co-related," according to a report submitted some years back to the government by the Indian Medical Association (IMA).

The government report said the candidates had no idea of the basic principles of medicine and were unable to satisfactorily answer questions on medical, surgical, and other emergencies.

Good antidote

Lukewarm water is a good antidote for broad-leaved plants beset by aphids, spider mites, thrips and mealy-bugs. Spray the plants lightly.

Violent weather toll rises to 16

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — The death of an elderly man injured in the destruction of a nursing home by a tornado last week brought to 16 the number of Midwest residents killed by the violent weather.

Henderson Smith, 82, a Drumright, Okla., nursing home resident, died in a hospital Tuesday. The Red Cross said at least 500 persons in 12 Oklahoma counties suffered injuries in the destructive spring turbulence.

President Nixon has declared the counties a federal disaster relief area. Damages may exceed $50 million.

Are You Shooting Craps With Your Headaches?

By Dr. Wes Helzer, D.C.

Dr. Wes Helzer D.C.

Americans have become risk conscious and unfortunately seem to be either "less concerned about risks or more willing to take chances." In short, there seems to be an increasing emphasis on gambling.

We all too often laugh at danger in our everyday lives. We exceed the prescribed speed limit, we smoke, we put off all sorts of preventive maintenance around the home because we're willing to risk accident, illness and costly repairs.

The biggest gamble is in the health area, however.

As far as I'm concerned, you're gambling with your health if you gulp pills and potions every time you have a headache.

People laugh at the fine print on a pain killer bottle. "Temporary relief" it will always say.

Is that what a person really wants? Here today, gone tomorrow . . . back again the next day? I would think they would want to be rid of them once and for all.

Of course, an occasional headache doesn't always stop with an occasional reoccurrance. There's always a chance of migraine.

That's not to say that every headache is a migraine.

You'll need only one with its zig-zag flashes, nausea, and depression to tell you that.

But you'll never find a migraine that doesn't start with a headache.

Believe me, it's a throbbing, excruciating pain.

It has often been pointed out if you have occasional headaches do what so many migraine sufferers do. They seek specialized, effective care.

Life doesn't have to be a slow run downhill to pain killers. If you're a headache sufferer you're shooting craps with your health if you don't seek permanent correction of your problem.

And, incidentally, the odds are in your favor if you do.

Now some jobs are worth more in today's Army.

Take a look at the challenging jobs below.
Not everyone can get them. You must qualify first. But, if you can, you'll be eligible for our $1500—$2500 "Cash Bonus Option."
And most of the jobs are open to women.
The amount of bonus depends on the job. You'll be expected to serve a 4-year enlistment. But, the bonus will be paid in a lump sum when you complete your training. (In most cases 16 weeks.)
You'll receive expert instruction. You'll be trained with the actual equipment you'll use on the job. And you'll learn a skill that could lead you to a successful career in civilian life, as well as the Army.
Here are some of the jobs:

- Construction Machinery Operator
- Missile Crewman
- Missile Repairman
- Electronic Repairman
- Electrical Instrument Repairman
- Radio Teletype Operator
- Map Draftsman
- Radar Crewman
- Radar Mechanic
- Radio Mechanic
- Electronic Technician
- Telephone Repairman
- Tank Mechanic
- Electrical Plant Operator
- Inventory Clerk

Ask your Army Representative about our $1500-$2500 "Cash Bonus Option."
Or call 800-523-4800. In Pa., 800-462-4955.
The jobs are demanding. But the rewards are great.

Oldest piano in New York

Am asked the whereabouts of the world's oldest existing piano. Believe that's still in the metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City, is it not? Was put together by one Bartolomeo Cristofori in Florence, Italy. In 1720. That was one year after the first street lantern in this country was erected in Boston. And one year before France sent 25 prostitutes to Louisiana to attract Candian settlers.

Thirty years ago and earlier, only 6 per cent of the country's college students were married. On a lot of campuses now, nearly 33 per cent are married.

The housewife in Norway is guaranteed by law a week-long vacation annually.

That grass skirt isn't native to Hawaii, but to Samoa, sir.

Autos

Q. "How long did it take the auto makers to put together a car before Henry Ford set up his assembly line? How about after?"

A. Before, 12 hours 30 minutes. After, 1 hour 33 minutes. In 1914.

Q. "Louie, is there any case on record of a man being named after a flower? Like a woman might be called Rose? Or Lily?"

A. Know of nonesuch. Do recall once bumping into an old boy with the middle name of Ivy, but believe that was a surname on his mother's side.

Q. "Can a Federal judge, if convicted in an impeachment, be pardoned by the President?"

A. No, sir, can't happen.

Queries from clients

Q. "What position in baseball years ago was known as the pigtail?"

A. That was the kid who ranged behind the catcher to retrieve wild pitches. Before backstops.

Q. "What's a 'versatrans'?"

A. factory-floor robot that does just about everything except the schottische.

Q. "What proportion of the newborn babies around here go home from the hospital on prepared formula instead of mother's milk?"

A. Three out of four.

For Tuesday, June 18

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You have a lot of good ideas today, but you're likely to do more talking about them than putting them to use.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Some confusion will result if you're not extra careful with the way you handle your business and financial affairs.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll be able to awaken enthusiasm and support from everyone today, but the one you really need. You'll have to light a special fire.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Limit your spending today to household items and basic needs. Contracting for special services requires more looking around.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Someone in your threesome today will cause you some type of complication, if you let her take over and run things.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A situation where you've put yourself out on the limb has a flaw in its foundation. Try to get to the root of the problem.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A plan you have is feasible if it is worked out the way you envision it. However, another party will try to muddle things up.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A situation where you share a joint interest needs some looking into. All isn't as well as it appears on the surface.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Leave yourself a little more room to negotiate today. You're apt to change your mind after you've made an agreement.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan 19) Your aims and ambitions will not be in line with those of a co-worker. This will have a diluting effect upon your efforts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're likely to treat a serious situation too lightly. Instead of solving the problem, you'll just postpone it.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your present endavor lacks a sturdy foundation and it is apt to fall apart as soon as it is subjected to pressure.

your birthday June 18

This will be a busy year for you socially with many short trips. Don't jump into new partnerships with casual contact.

Irwin likes profile

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (UPI) — As the new holder of golf's most prestigious prize, sternfaced Hale Irwin faces a major identity crisis.

He has to decide whether to go on being his own colorless self, or to become a second Jack Nicklaus.

Irwin, a former football standout at Colorado, presented this perplexing problem for himself after winning the U.S. Open championship Sunday, coming from one shot off the pace to beat Forrest Fezler by two strokes. Tied for third, another shot back, were Bert Yancey and Lou Graham.

Although a competent golfer who has shown strong improvement since joining the tour in 1968, Irwin hasn't portrayed the same kind of public image as such other men as Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino and Gary Player. While it doesn't particularly concern him, a victory such as the one that earned him $35,000 on Sunday does leave people asking, "Hale who?"

"I like having a low profile," the handsome, dark-haired Irwin said. "I can't say I want to be anonymous, but I think there's a time and a place for everything. I haven't felt before this that I deserved to be in the spotlight.

"I'm not going to change now. This is just one tournament—needless to say a very big one—and it'll be good for me, good for my ego. But that doesn't mean I'll be something I'm not. I won the way I am. If that means being anonymous, I can't help it."

One asset that could help Irwin attain public recognition is that he speaks straight. He answers questions in a forthright manner—albeit it sounds at times as if he is lecturing—but he is honest. And that's where the part about being a Nicklaus comes in.

In talking about what comes next for him, Irwin wasn't prepared to make any reckless commitments. But he believes earnestly that he can't stop here, that he must move to a higher plateau.

"There'll be a reckoning after I have time to absorb what has happened," he said. "By that I mean a re-evaluation of my goals. Now that I have achieved this particular goal, I want to go on to something bigger. Maybe two major championships.

"Nicklaus won 14. That's a pretty big goal. I don't think of myself as a Nicklaus, but that's a pretty good goal to shoot at."

Obviously, if he comes anywhere near his target, Irwin will have to shed his cloak of anonymity.

Irwin's first major triumph fell something short of artistic merit as he shot no better than a three-over-par 73 for his final round, with four bogeys on the final nine, and his winning score of 287 was seven over par for the tournament, the highest by an Open champion in 11 years.

Most of the credit for the incredibly high scores, though, must go to the tortuous Winged Foot Golf Club, whose 6,961 yards yielded only eight subpar rounds during the four days. Irwin was unable to better par once—his best effort being an even-par 70 on Friday—and neither did Fezler, who closed with a 70.

Irwin, who said he had a dream three weeks ago that he would win the Open, took control in his own mind on the ninth hole when he sank a 35-foot birdie putt that put him in the lead for good over his playing partner and friend, Tom Watson.

"I felt a lot better when I made that putt," he said. "I felt that being on top I was driving the car and they would have to find me."

They couldn't. Watson, after carrying a one-stroke lead into the final round, folded with a closing 79 that placed him at 292, in a tie for fifth place with Palmer, who had a 76, and Jim Colbert, with a 74.

"It looks like I blew it, and you can say I blew it," said the 24-year-old Watson, still seeking his first tour victory although he has on three occasions been the leader going into the final round. "Whenever you lose, you have the same feeling. It grips in your gut and it tears you up."

Player, the first-round leader, closed with a 73 to tie Tom Kite for eighth place at 293, and another stroke back were Nicklaus, who turned in a closing 69, and Buddy Allin, with a 73. Johnny Miller, the defending Open champion who admitted that he has lost his competitive desire after winning five tournaments this year, never was in it and his final round 77 left him at 302, 15 strokes off the pace.

"I haven't shot this high since turning pro five years ago," Miller said. "There's a lot of extra pressure put on the defending champion, too much pressure. But then again, there was also just too much golf course."

With Watson dropping off on the back nine, it was the mustachioed Fezler, a nonwinner on the tour, who presented the only real challenge to Irwin. Fezler was only a shot behind as he teed off on the 18th hole, but he knocked himself out when he hit his second shot into thick rough short of the green and took three to get home for a bogey.

It was just about the same time that Irwin was facing a 10-foot putt to save par on the 17th hole.

"I didn't know what Fezler did on the 18th," Irwin related. "I knew I had to make my putt to get at least a tie. It was a left to right downhill putt, just the kind you don't want. It broke six inches and it was the best putt of the tournament. Shortly after I made it, I learned Fezler had bogeyed."

And it was just a few minutes after that that the U.S. Open had a new champion.

Aztecs' winning streak snapped by Earthquakes

By ADRIAN MERCADO
P-B Correspondent

LOS ANGELES — The San Jose Earthquakes rumbled at East Los Angeles College Stadium, and by the time the dust settled, the scoreboard showed a 2-1 victory for the visitors over the Los Angeles Aztecs.

The Aztecs, who had established an eight game record in the North American Soccer League, saw their winning streak ended by an aggressive and determined San Jose squad before 6,130 fans.

Los Angeles did not have a good afternoon, and committed many errors which could have put them behind early in the game. Twenty five minutes into the first half, right back Jose Lopez misjudged a header and almost deflected it into his own net; only a leaping fingertip push by goalie Blas Sanched saved a sure goal by hitting the ball over the crossbar.

At the 41-minute mark, Jerry Kazarian of the locals shot the ball past Earthquake goalie Mirko Stojanovic. As the ball was about to enter the net teammate Renato Costa, for some unknown reason, headed the ball away from the goal. Douglas McMillan, the current NASL leading scorer gave a leading pass to Reanto Costa who wasted the opportunity by shooting wide to the right, at the 42nd minute. San Jose, on the other hand, also missed several scoring opportunities, and Aztec goalie Blas Sanchez made outstanding saves. The first half ended at a scoreless tie.

The NASL leaders used up their two allowable substitutions at the start of the second half by replacing UCLA's Jose Lopez with Ricardo De Rienzo and subbing Uri Banhoffer for Peter Filotis. At the 49th minute, De Rienzo saved a goal by stopping a shot at the goal line while his goalie was sprawled on the ground.

Baseball school accepting entries

POMONA — Late registration for the Bobby Valentine-Tommy Lasorda Baseball School, which is being held at Ralph Welch Park in Pomona, will be accepted from 8:30-9 Tuesday morning at the park.

Boys who do apply for late registration will be able to attend classes Tuesday through Friday.

The school at Welch Park is being conducted all this week, with a $30 registration fee required. The school is open for boys from the ages of 9 to 17.

Valentine will be helping some of the area baseball coaches at the school Tuesday and Wednesday. Then LaSorda and Tom Paciorek will be conducting classes Thursday and Friday.

The school is being held from 9 a.m.-12 p.m. for the five days.

At the school, the boys will be divided into groups with players of their own age and ability to enable more individual professional instruction.

Freitas, Swann teammates again

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — When quarterback Jesse Freitas of San Diego State and flanker Lynn Swann of University of Southern California team up for the West in the Coaches' All-America game Saturday night at Lubbock, Tex., it will be a reunion.

They were high school teammates at Foster City.

"I'm excited about it, no question about that," Swann said. "Jesse and I look forward to our reunion—that same old combination on the 50-yard line and in the end zone."

Swann was USC's all-time leading receiver. After starting at Stanford, Freitas transferred to San Diego State and set several passing marks.

Sutton faces Pirates tonight

Dodgers drop Mets to cellar

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

PITTSBURGH — If the Dodgers play their average game, they should do all right in the series with the Pirates beginning tonight.

In 64 games to date, Walter Alston's hard-hitting crew has scored 354 runs, an average of slightly over 5½ runs per game. But they may need to be right up to their average in tonight's contest.

Don Sutton (6-5) carries a 4.27 earned run average into the game against the Bucs' Ken Brett (7-4). The Pirates climbed out of the Eastern Division cellar Sunday with their win over the Giants.

Meanwhile, the Dodgers toppled the New York Mets and Tom Seaver (3-6) into the basement. Andy Messersmith (7-2) hurled a jewel of a five-hitter. The "Baron" saw his consecutive scoreless inning streak ended at 35, but was in charge all the way in a five-hit, 7-1 victory.

After the game, the Dodger pitcher had a confession to make that came as a surprise to many people.

"I've never been able to throw the curve for a strike consistently until this year," Messersmith revealed. "But this year I have been able to break it off consistently, especially the last four games.

"I could always throw a big rainbow and people would go 'ooh, what a great curve ball,' but I haven't been able to get it over for a strike."

Sunday's win enabled the Dodgers to stay seven games ahead of Cincinnati in the National League West.

Messersmith kept the New Yorkers away from home plate for eight and 2-3 innings. After retiring Felix Millan and Cleon Jones in the ninth, Messersmith gave up a double to Rusty Staub and a single to John Milner for the Mets' only run and the first earned tally scored off Messersmith in 35 and 2-3 innings.

"I think I'm pitching damn near as well as I can right now," the husky righthander remarked.

In his last four starts, Messersmith has blanked the Cubs 10-0 on a six-hitter; shutout the Pirates 6-0 on a five-hitter; lost a four-hitter to the Cardinals 1-0 on an unearned run; and beaten the Mets.

His ERA now is down to 2.27.

"It's been a good year from the start," Messersmith continued. "I've been drawing a lot of good pitchers on my starts or I think my record would be a lot better. I think I have pitched 13 quality games out of my 15 starts.

"Today, I had good command of three pitches, my curve, changeup and fastball."

The last time Messersmith and Seaver hooked up neither was the pitcher of record as the Dodgers won in 14 innings, 2-1, on May 1. Messersmith went 11 innings in that game at Dodger Stadium giving up one earned run.

Seaver hurled 12 innings that day and completely dominated the Dodgers except for a homer by Steve Garvey. "Tom Terrific" struck out 16 and walked only two while allowing three hits, including Garvey's roundtripper.

For the first six innings Sunday, he looked just as good. The one-time USC star gave up only two hits, struck out seven and walked two, one intentionally.

But he lost his magic in the seventh. Jimmy Wynn led off with his fourth triple of the year on an 0-2 pitch. Garvey hit the same pitch for a single to break a scoreless deadlock.

Seaver's troubles were only beginning. Willie Crawford bounced a 1-2 pitch over the glove of Milner at first and Garvey raced around to third. On a 1-1 count, Ron Cey lined a single to left scoring Garvey. Steve Yeager grounded out and the runners advanced to second and third.

Dave Lopes was walked intentionally. That brought up Messersmith, who battles as hard at bat as he does on the mound. The Dodger pitcher worked the count to 3-2, fouled off two pitches, and then walked on a ball both the umpire and Messersmith thought was low.

Crawford trotted across the plate as Seaver stormed in to protest. The Met star was still muttering and gesturing as he stalked off the field to be replaced by Bob Miller, the well-traveled reliever.

Miller gave up a soft-line single to leadoff man Bill Buckner scoring both Cey and Lopes. Generous scoring gave Bill Russell an infield hit, loading the bases again. But Miller fanned Wynn, up for the second time in the inning, and got Garvey on a fly ball.

Walks to Cey and Lopes and Messersmith's single brought a run in the eighth inning. Garvey's 13th home run and 55th run batted in gave the Dodgers a 7-0 lead in the ninth.

DODGER DATA: It rained right up to noon Sunday in New York and the game was played under cloudy skies. The Dodger plane remained on the ground after the players had boarded for an hour and 15 minutes before taking off. Extremely turbulent air was encountered enroute from New York to Pittsburgh, and their were some white knuckles plainly visible.

New York's Shea Stadium is in the takeoff pattern of planes leaving nearby LaGuardia Field. By actual count, between 23 and 29 jet airliners flew over the stadium during each ballgame.

Garvey's home run in the ninth came off Jack Aker, who was making his debut as a Met after being purchased from Atlanta.

Angels' bullpen earns nickname--arson squad

ANAHEIM (UPI) — The California Angels' bullpen has drawn the colorful sobriquet of the Arson Squad because of its inability to put out fires this year.

Bobby Winkles' relief corps lived up to the nickname—and then some—Sunday.

The Angels took a 4-1 lead into the ninth inning against the Boston Red Sox and lost 7-4.

For California, it was the second loss in three games to the Red Sox following a disastrous 2-8 road trip.

"Losing a game like this has got to get you down some," said Angel skipper Bobby Winkles. "There's no doubt about that.

"But the great thing about baseball is you don't have to wait a week to get back at someone. Of course, sometimes I think we should wait a week to get back at someone."

Dick Lange took the 4-1 lead into the Red Sox ninth but was lifted after walking Dwight Evans on four straight pitches and giving up a single to Rick Burleson.

Exit Lange. Enter Barry Raziano.

"Obviously Lange had lost his stuff," offered Winkles. "And, naturally, you got to go to a guy who has gotten everybody out lately."

Raziano, who came to California from the Kansas City Royals in the Vada Pinson deal and then spent the first two months of the season at Salt Lake City, pitched two flawless innings of relief against the Red Sox Friday night. The Angels won 4-3 in 15 innings.

In fact, Raziano went into Sunday's game with a record of 16 straight retired batters.

But he gave up four straight hits after getting Dick McAuliffe on a long fly to right and, suddenly, the American League Eastern Division leaders had a 6-4 lead.

Carlton Fisk, the Boston catcher, broke a 4-4 tie with a two-run double.

After Carl Yastrzemski flew to center off John Cumberland, who relieved the Angels' reliever, Fisk was caught in a rundown between third and home and managed to score when third baseman Bob Oliver's throw to the plate hit Fisk in the back.

For the three-game series, Fisk was 9 for 16 to raise his batting average to .325. He hit his 10th homer of the season off Lange in the third inning Sunday.

The Red Sox receiver was severely injured by a foul tip in the groin area during spring training and didn't come off the disabled list until April 26. He's missed 19 games this year.

"It feels good to be healthy again," smiled Fisk.

Boston finished the day with a 3½-game lead in the East while the Angels found themselves in last place in the West 6½ back of Oakland.

Their bullpen has given up 62 runs in 122 innings and has only five saves all year.

California opens a three-game series with the New York Yankees tonight. Rookie southpaw Frank Tanana, 4-8, goes against the Yanks' Dave Pagan, 0-1.

All systems go for cage All-Star game

LA VERNE — In just a little over 24 hours from now, history will be made in the valley.

The La Verne Rotary Club will be offering the First Annual Pomona Valley High School All-Star Basketball Game at Claremont High, beginning at 8 p.m.

It'll be the first time an event of this sort will be presented in the valley.

Both teams have been practicing for two weeks for this match-up, pitting the stars from North of the San Bernardino Freeway against the South squadron.

Each team draws from exactly 10 high schools from their area, so all seems equal.

Or does it?

The South team, coached by former Chino High coach Frank Elder and assisted by Montclair High coach Lanny Moore, has been picked as a slight favorite over the North, coached by Claremont High's Jack Smith and assisted by Bonita High's Remi Tremblay.

The South seemingly has the height advantage, while the North appears to possess a little more quickness.

After a little over a week of preparation and with a week of practice still ahead of them, both head coaches took a look at their squads.

"We played around with several things," stated Elder, who came out of retirement to coach the South. "And we've decided to play two equally strong teams. We'll start one of the teams in the first half, but it may not necessarily be the best five guys we have. Of course, all the players must play in the first half. We'll see what happens in that half and then start piecing things together."

The South has four big men on its roster, but Elder indicated that he'll probably split them up and play two each on the two teams he's planning on forming for the game.

However, he did say, "We may play all four at the same time, and I wouldn't be surprised if that turns out to be the best combination."

The four he's referring to is 6-foot-6 Cleve Porter of Ganesha, 6-foot-6 Kirk Christ of Walnut, 6-foot-6 Mark Gosswiller of Montclair, and 6-foot-8 Tim Smith of Chino.

"The players' attitudes have been real good," added the South head coach. "They've been nice to work with. It's just that the hardest part is trying to get them all together at one time for practice. Between jobs and graduation, we usually have only about eight at practice at one time.

"We want to put on a show," added Elder, "but we also want to win. That's what it's all about, isn't it?"

As for the North, Smith has also been very pleased with the attitudes of the players.

"It's been outstanding," he exclaimed. "Most of the time we have 10 of the players at a practice, and that's pretty good, considering all the things everyone has to do this time of the year."

The North will have a slight home court advantage, since they've been holding practice in the gym where the game will be played. But the South will have a chance to practice in the Claremont gym tonight, with the North taking the court for practice immediately afterwards.

"I think our mental attitude will make up for the ability the South team has on us," stated Smith. "Right now, we're at a plateau, and I'm hoping we go just a little bit higher."

Smith narrowed the starting lineup down to seven players, when he had a week of practice to go. Of course, the starting lineup really doesn't mean anything, since all the players will see action at least in the first half.

The seven he named included guards Todd Ervin of Claremont, Rory Pernot of Royal Oak and Curt Oldenkamp of Upland, forwards Bruce Abraham of Claremont, Bill Berndt of Royal Oak and Greg McCrary of San Dimas, and center Stu DuVall of Upland.

ALL-STAR NOTE: At a recent dinner where all the players in the All-Star game were invited, some of the players told what colleges they were planning to attend next year. Here are a few of the choices:

For the South — Porter of Ganesha (USC), Mike Partington of Chaffey (UC Davis), Rick Antoni of Chaffey (Cal Poly).

For the North — Jamie Broecker of Alta Loma (Brigham Young University), Bruce DuVall of Alta Loma (UC Irvine), Mike Yarbrough of Pomona (Claremont-Mudd), Berndt of Royal Oak (UC Irvine), Pernot of Royal Oak (Azusa Pacific), DuVall of Upland (Claremont-Mudd) and Bill Karr of Damien (UCLA).

Big League race looks exciting

POMONA — Tranks to developments over the weekend, the Pomona Valley Big League baseball race is considerably closer.

Diamond Bar beat San Dimas 7-3 in the nightcap of their doubleheader Sunday after San Dimas had won the opener 8-2, thus shaving San Dimas' league lead to only ½ game.

Pomona American No. 1, paced by Jerry Loftis' no-hitter, beat Pomona Southwest twice Saturday night to climb within the ½ game margin. San Dimas now stands at 9-2 in league play with the Americans sporting an 8-2 ledger.

Southwest vs. Diamond Bar at Ralph Welch No. 1, 7 p.m.
National vs. American No. 1 at Ralph Welch No. 2, 7 p.m.

To make things more exciting, Pomona National also swept a doubleheader Sunday over American No. 2 to hold down an 8-3 record and cut their games-behind margin to only one.

Loftis started the weekend by hurling his no-hitter in the opener of a Saturday twinbill. The righthander from Garey High fanned seven and walked only one in his gem, which was his third mound victory of the Big League season and his second straight shutout.

American No. 1 also beat Southwest 10-1 in a nightcap contest Saturday.

San Dimas got a two-hit pitching effort from Rich Espinosa to capture their Sunday opener with Diamond Bar. Espinosa fanned five D.B. batters and was backed by two-run doubles by Tim Brown and Mike Kendricks.

Diamond Bar's Pete Liebrick stopped San Dimas' eight game winning streak in the nightcap, beating S.D. 7-3. It was Liebrick's second win of the year.

Pomona National kept pace by sweeping a pair from American No. 2 by scores of 11-2 and 4-3. Doug Seiner and Paul Bentley picked up the wins on the hill for National. American No. 2 also proved generous in the field, as they committed 14 errors in the twinbill which led to 13 unearned National runs.

A clean sweep in Legion play

La Verne and Claremont posted District 18 American Legion wins Sunday, while Montclair nabbed a District 25 double triumph.

La Verne Post 330 ripped La Puente, 19-5, at Los Altos High; Claremont Post 78 bombed Covina, 15-2, at Mt. San Antonio College; while Montclair outlasted Upland, 11-10, in 12 innings in a game which began Saturday night at 8:30 and ended well after midnight, then came back to best Redlands, 6-1, in Sunday's regularly scheduled contest.

In other Legion action Sunday, Rowland dropped a 10-3 District 18 loss to West Covina Post 790.

Post 330 had little trouble against La Puente. Harold Drake drove in four runs for La Verne, while both Bruce McNaught and Gary Zakem had three hits. In all, 13 different Post 330 batters collected hits, for a total of 22 La Verne safeties.

Zakem hurled the first five innings, fanning eight, to get the win. Bill Bumstead finished up with five K's in four relief frames. La Verne now stands at 3-2 in District 18 action and 14-7-1 overall.

Claremont Post 78 broke out of their slump in a big way against Covina Post 207. The Cardinals pounded out 18 hits to beat Post 207 easily. Paul Sokolowski, the 15-year old righthander, fired a five-hitter for the Cards.

Post 78 sent 15 batters to the plate in a wild second inning which saw them score nine times. Key hits in the frame was a two-run triple by Tony Janusz.

Sokolowski had three hits and two walks for a perfect day at the plate, and seven other Claremont batters collected at least two hits.

Claremont Post 78 is now 2-4 in the District and 8-9-1 overall.

Montclair and Upland tangled in a District 25 battle Saturday night, and Post 616 finally came away with a 11-10, 12-inning win.

Post 616 routed Upland ace Steve Iles with a six-run second inning, but Post 73 came back to score seven of their own runs in the third to tie the game up.

Mike Medeiros, who relieved in the ninth, fanned seven Uplanders to get credit for the win. Medeiros also scored the winiing run on Bruce Richardson's sacrifice fly in the 12th.

The Post 616 southpaw came back Sunday to hurl six innings in Montclair's win over Redlands Post 106. Don Pierce finished up with three scoreless relief frames, as a two-run single by Gary Baker in the seventh put the game out of Redlands' reach. The wins give Montclair a 4-2 District 25 ledger, while Upland now stands at 5-2 in District action.

West Covina Post 790 bumped Rowland off 10-3 in a District 18 battle Sunday, dropping Rowland to a 2-4 District ledger. Bryon Smith had three hits, including a first-inning homer, but it wasn't enough to overcome a 13-hit Post 79 attack.

Aztecs lose first game to San Jose

Los Angeles continued to be frustrated at every attempt to open the scoring; at the 52nd minute goalie Sanchez threw the ball quickly to Banhoffer who passed a long leading ball to McMillan — McMillan eluded goalie Stojanovic and pushed the ball into the net, but the referee called the play "offside."

Seven minutes later McMillan took the ball on the left wing worked his way toward the goal and crossed a "banana" pass around a defender to Jerry Kazarian who pounced on it and took a right-footed shot that hit the net before the goalie could react to give the Aztecs a 1-0 lead.

Apparently, while going for the ball, Kazarian re-injured his right knee and, for all practical purposes, the Aztecs played with only 10 men as Kazarian stayed out by the sidelines hobbling and unable to help his team.

San Jose started pouring on the pressure and on one play, at the 59th minute, center back Ramon Moraldo miskicked an easy roller to him and the Earthquakes' leading scorer Paul Child scored his fifth season goal by shooting the ball past the much surprised Aztec net-minder to tie the score.

At the 41st minute, San Jose's right winger Art Welch, who had entered the game 30 minutes earlier, picked up a pass from defenseman Davie Kemp, dribbled within 22 yards of the Aztec goal and fired a hard left footed sizzler into the goal for the winning score.

"We were all hoping we could come out of this one with a win," said the soft-spoken Welch, "this is the greatest thing that could happen to us."

When this reporter asked Aztec owner, Dr. Jack Gregory how the loss would affect his team on their next league game against the New York Cosmos next Sunday he said: "It will teach them how to defend better against a pressure team that's on the attack all the time, and with one man out injured they (Aztecs) just couldn't stay under the pressure of that constant attack. You know what will happen when you are being pressured for a full half — one of the balls will finally go in — and it did."

Reds remain undefeated

GLENDORA — The Walnut Reds advanced their Thorobred League baseball mark to a spotless 6-0 Sunday by whipping Glendora 12-7 at Glendora High.

Even without Lance Parrish, who signed a pro contract Friday, the Reds banged out 16 hits. Jeff Corkill led the attack with a home run and two singles, good for four RBIs. Corkill is now hitting .594 for the season.

Mark Canavan also had three hits and four RBIs for Walnut, who put the game away in the eighth with a six-run outburst against Citrus College hurler Craig Hanson.

Bob Veselic hurled five grames in relief to receive credit for the win.

Walnut, now 11-1-1 on the year, will continue league play Thursday against Charter Oak at Charter Oak High.

CLIFF KING Says:

A "laugh track" is, according to one TV producer, "an admission that we don't know how to make our shows funny enough". When the material isn't very funny, a recording of laughter is used to remind the viewer that it is time to laugh. As might be expected, the "canned" laughter is usually much heartier than the situation justifies.

Some stars . . . notably Tony Randall and Jack Klugman of "The Odd Couple" . . . have refused to resort to the laugh track crutch. Many viewers, who feel they can spot a funny situation when they see it, appreciate their stand.

Welters sign for Olympic tiff

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Armando Nuniz, the world's No. 8 welterweight contender, and 10th ranked Billy Lloyd of Philadelphia have signed for a 10-round bout at the Olympic Auditorium June 27.

Muniz, 33-5-1 with 21 knockouts, beat Texas' Roy Barrientes in his last fight at Toronto, Canada, June 3.

Lloyd, 29-6 with 22 knockouts, KO'd Zovek Barajas in his last bout at the Olympic April 25.

Yankees drop rookie catcher

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — The New York Yankees announced Sunday they are returning rookie catcher Jim Deidel to their Syracuse farm Club in the International League.

The Yankees dropped Deidel in order to make room on the roster for pitcher Rudy May, picked up in a cash deal from the California Angels on Saturday.

Deidel had only two at bats with New York and did not get a hit.

Largest purse

The largest purse in Los Alamitos came in 1962 when Jet Deck won the $207,750 Los Alamitos Futurity. The former world champion's share was $93,265, another Los Alamitos record.

Baseball roundup

Lolich putting his game together

By United Press International

It was no sweat for Mickey Lolich.

The hefty Detroit lefty hurled his 12th complete game of the season and ninth in a row Sunday when he pitched the Tigers to a 3-2 victory in 11 innings over the Kansas City Royals in a game played in chilly 50 degree weather.

"The cold weather enabled me to go the 11 innings," said Lolich, whose resplendent pot belly first came to public attention in 1968 when he won three games, including the decisive seventh contest, against St. Louis in the World Series.

"The hot weather makes the bulky man sweat," added the 6-foot-1, 207-pound southpaw who posted his third win in a row and raised his record for the season to 8-7.

Lolich got off to a poor start this year, dropping five of his first six decisions, including the first four in a row. But complete games are nothing new for the Tigers' workhorse who led the American League in that department with 29 in 1971—before the days of the designated hitter—and in innings pitched with 376.

"I feel I've got it all together now," Lolich said after striking out 11 Royals and walking only two as the victory boosted the Tigers into a tie with Cleveland for second place in the East Division. "My arm wasn't strong early in the season. I wasn't pitching regularly every four days what with all the days off and rainouts. I was struggling in the beginning of the year, there's no question about it. But I've got it going now."

Aurelio Rodriguez, whose three-run homer in the ninth inning Saturday enabled the Tigers to beat the Royals 11-9, got the decisive hit again Sunday when he singled with two out in the 11th to drive in Jim Northrup with the winning run. Detroit got its first two runs in the first without the aid of a hit thanks to four walks and an error while Hal McRae's two-run homer in the third accounted for Kansas City's runs.

In other AL games, Chicago routed Baltimore 9-1, Boston rallied to beat California 7-4, New York topped Oakland 5-3, Minnesota and Cleveland split a doubleheader with the Twins winning the opener 3-0 and the Indians taking the nightcap 3-1, and Milwaukee edged Texas 4-3.

In the National League, Pittsburgh beat San Francisco 4-3, Los Angeles downed New York 7-1, Montreal edged San Diego 9-8, St. Louis topped Atlanta 6-3, Cincinnati blanked Philadelphia 5-0 and Chicago nipped Houston 2-1 in 10 innings.

White Sox 9, Orioles 1

Seldom-used first baseman Tony Muser led a 13-hit assault with a two-run homer, a double and two singles in pacing Chicago past Baltimore. The victory ended the White Sox' five-game losing streak, enabling knuckleballer Wilbur Wood to post his 11th victory and sending Jim Palmer, who never got past the first inning, down to his eighth loss in 11 decisions.

Yankees 5, A's 3

Ninth inning doubles by Elliott Maddox and Bobby Murcer, each of whom had three hits, and a sacrifice fly by Bill Sudakis snapped a 3-3 tie and powered New York to its victory over Oakland. Pat Dobson went the distance on a seven-hitter to record his sixth victory in 14 decisions while Jim Hunter, tagged for all 12 New York hits in 8 1-3 innings, suffered the loss to even his record at 8-8.

Twins 3, 1 Lndians 0, 3

John Lowenstein drove in two runs and stole four bases to back the seven-hit pitching of Fritz Peterson and give Cleveland its win over Minnesota in the nightcap. Peterson's bid for a shutout was spoiled with two out in the ninth when Craig Kusick singled home Rod Carew. Carew banged out four hits in the opener, including an RBI double, as the Twins spoiled Jim Perry's bid for his 200th career victory.

Brewers 4, Rangers 3

Designated hitter Charlie Moore singled home George Scott with an unearned run in the seventh inning to snap a 2-2 tie and give Milwaukee its victory over Texas as the Brewers snapped their six game losing streak. Jim Colborn went the distance for Milwaukee, allowing 10 hits, including a pair of homers by Jim Spencer and one by Alex Johnson, to record his third victory against three losses. Bob Coluccio homered for the Brewers' second run.

Reds 5 Phillies 0

Reliever Clay Carroll, called on to make his first start since June 8, 1973 when Roger Nelson came down with a sore arm just before gametime, yielded six hits in eight innings and won his fourth game for the Reds with ninth-inning help from Pedro Borbon. Joe Morgan had a homer, double and single and Dave Concepcion a two-run single to lead the Reds' attack which dealt Dick Ruthven his fourth loss.

Cardinals 6 Braves 3

Lynn McGlothen pitched a seven-hitter and struck out seven to raise his record to 9-3 for the Cardinals. The pitcher, obtained from the Boston Red Sox in a winter trade, also contributed three hits to the Cardinals' attack. Carl Morton, who yielded eight hits, including Darrell Evans' fifth homer of the season, suffered his sixth setback.

Pirates 4 Giants 3

Jim Rooker pitched a five-hitter and Al Oliver hit a two-run homer for the Pirates while Tom Bradley was tagged with his seventh loss. Rooker yielded all three San Francisco runs in the first inning when he had control problems but then settled down. The Pirates took the lead for good in the second inning when Manny Sanguillen and Rennie Stennett doubled for one run and Gene Clines drove in another run with an infield out.

Expos 9 Padres 8

Ron Fairly's run-scoring double climaxed a two-run ninth-inning rally which lifted the Expos to their victory over the Padres. The Padres had tied the score in a four-run ninth during which Clarence Gaston hit a two-run pinch homer. Barry Foote drove in three runs for the Expos as rookie Don DeMola won his first major league game.

Cubs 2 Astros 1

Fred Scherman walked Andy Thornton with the bases filled and one out in the 10th inning, forcing in Rick Monday with the winning run for the Cubs. Cesar Cedeno homered to give the Astros a 1-0 lead in the first inning but the Cubs tied the score on Billy Williams' homer off Larry Dierker in the fifth.

Stardust Mel gets second big victory

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Stardust Mel has virtually assured himself an invitation to the $150,000 Hollywood Derby by further tarnishing Agitate's claim to being the best threeyear-old in the West.

Stardust Mel, a California bred gelding, beat Agitate for the second straight time in winning the $55,300 Will Rogers Handicap at Hollywood Park Sunday.

Capturing his third stakes victory this year, the gray 3-year-old sped the 1 1-16 mile over the infield turf course in 1:40 4-5, just one second off the course record set by Pretense in 1967.

Agitate, the California Derby winner and third-place finisher in the Kentucky Derby, was turned back for the second straight time in his bid for his first Hollywood Park victory.

In his last start, the winter 3-year-old champion came in eight lengths behind winner Battery E. and Stardust Mel in the Argonaut Handicap June 2.

On his first try on the grass in the Will Rogers, Agitate didn't fail by much.

Agitate was beaten by a head in a photo finish after being overhauled by Stardust Mel at the head of the stretch.

"He probably would have won it if he hadn't been lugging in," said Agitate's pilot, Bill Shoemaker. "At that, he was going to come back and beat the winner in another jump."

El Seetu was a late-closing third and Park Bridge finished fourth in the field of eight.

Battery E., Agitate's and Stardust Mel's conqueror in the Argonaut, was fifth.

Trainer Larry Rose gave pre-race instructions to jockey Fernando Toro on how to race Stardust Mel and the gelding produced a $32,800 purse for his owners. Bought for $6,000 as a yearling, he now has career earnings of $129,800.

Rose said, "I told Fernando to let him run out of there, that he'd probably be laying third or fourth and to let him roll in the stretch. I didn't care if he went inside or outside. It worked perfectly and Fernando rode him beautifully."

Stardust Mel returned $9.60 to his backers in beating the 3-2 favorite, Agitate.

Miss Musket, the nation's top 3-year-old filly, came back from her first career loss last month by winning Saturday's $83,550 Hollywood Oaks.

In capturing the meeting's 3-year-old filly championship, Miss Mustket avenged her only defeat in seven previous starts.

Foster ready for Ahumada in title bout

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (UPI) — Light heavyweight boxing champion Bob Foster said Sunday no one will ever take his title away from him in the ring.

"Nobody is going to take it away from me until I'm ready to quit," Foster said on the eve of his record 14th title defense. "And I'm not ready to quit."

Foster, who many observers say has trained harder for this fight than any other in his career, meets challenger Jorge Ahumada of Argentina tonight in the second part of a closed-circuit boxing program that also includes the heavyweight match between Joe Frazier and Jerry Quarry from Madison Square Garden.

Foster, who last defended his title Dec. 1 in South Africa against Pierre Fourie, will take a 51-6-0 record in the ring.

"I've been fighting so long, it's just like getting up and going to work," said Foster, who will be the hometown as well as the betting favorite.

Ahumada, who is seven years younger and, at 5-10, five inches shorter than Foster, sports a record of 40-5-1, including 21 knockouts. He has notched nine straight wins since coming to the United States last September.

"I have a job to do and I intend to do it," Ahumada said. "I haven't come all this way for nothing. As long as I can remember, I've thought of becoming champion of the world. This is my chance, my big chance."

Foster is guaranteed a purse of $200,000. Ahumada is guaranteed $25,000.

Frazier, Quarry in tough battle

NEW YORK (UPI) — ...And then there were three.

Going into tonight's 12-round battle between Jerry Quarry and Joe Frazier, there are four top-rated heavyweights in the world—Jerry and Joe and Muhammad Ali and champion George Foreman.

Sometime tonight either Quarry or Frazier will drop out, and it would not be too surprising if the Joe Louis, the referee, counts to ten over the loser.

For Quarry, 197 ½, a loss will mean the end of a carefully rebuilt career which has seen the "new Quarry" fight the way they thought he should have fought from the time he made his pro debut back May of 1965.

For Frazier, 212, defeat will mean the end of his dream of regaining the title which fell from his head when Foreman humiliated him in two rounds in January of 1973.

Frazier was in the Madison Square Garden ring in January against Ali, in a rematch of their historic first encounter of March, 1971, when Joe scored a unanimous decision over 15 rounds. Their second encounter over 12 rounds went to Ali, the decision being unanimous, but close.

When Ali lost the first one, he set out to convince the world that he really had won it, and pretty much succeeded. When Joe lost, his dignity prevented him from protesting, but there were many—Quarry among them—who thought the referee seriously impeded Frazier's style that night. Others contend that had the fight been 15 rounds, Frazier would have gotten the nod.

Be that as it may, the fact remains that Frazier must whip Quarry or lose all hope of luring Foreman into a rematch. Note that he speaks of Foreman. Both Joe and Jerry believe that Ali will come to the end of the line against Foreman in September in Africa.

Quarry's worst enemy in the past has been Quarry himself. Irish as they come, stubborn and headstrong, he admits that he wasted five years before coming under the guidance of veteran handler Gil Clancy. And then there is the new wife, the lovely Charlie whose pretty face and figure mask a steel-like intensity to help her husband gain the heights he should have attained several years ago.

The fight itself probably will not go the distance. Neither man is a ring stylist. Both are willing, indeed eager, to slug it out. Quarry, loser in seven rounds to Frazier when Joe was at his peak in June of 1969, says he will not make the mistake of "going out and locking horns with a bull" as he did then. Nevertheless he believes that when he lands the big punch, Joe will go.

"Joe's gone back," he says. "The legs aren't the same, and the power is fading. I saw that in the Ali return, when the lefts that used to send guys kicking only slowed Ali down."

As for Joe's estimation of the "new Quarry" he just smiles and says: "He's the same old Jerry. You'll see once the bell rings."

Fight seats still choice

INGLEWOOD — Choice seats remain in all prices for tonight's closed circuit TV boxing doubleheader which feature Joe Frazier and Jerry Quarry in a rematch of their torrid 1969 title fight.

The Forum and the Anaheim Convention Center will show Frazier-Quarry, plus Bob Foster vs. Jorge Ahumada on large screen color. The show starts at 7 o'clock with the 12-rounder between Frazier and Irish Jerry, coming from Madison Square Garden. The ex-champion won their first meeting.

French Open honors go to Borg, Evert

PARIS (UPI)) — Bjorn Borg of Sweden turned 18 on June 6. He plans to get his driver's license in July. Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., was 19 on December 12.

The two teenagers swept to identical feats Sunday. With victories in the French open tennis championship finals they each won their second consecutive international tennis tournament.

America's No. 2 woman pounded Olga Morozva of the Soviet Union 6-1, 6-2 in the women's final. Long-haired Borg made a classy comeback over Spaniard Manuel Orantes 2-6, 6-7, 6-0, 6-1, 6-1 to become the youngest champ ever at the French competition.

"Never in my life did I think I could win the Italian and French championships back-to-back," Barg said afterwards.

But they both had done it. Two weeks ago in Rome each had won their respective singles championship.

But Rome is not considered on the same level with Paris and Evert said, "It's really a thrill to win my first big title. I needed to win this because it's the world's biggest clay court tournament."

Now both she and Borg will be shooting at the other two of the world's big three tennis competitions, Wimbledon in England and the U.S. championships at Forest Hills, N.Y.

Scottish fans dancing jigs at World Cup

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — Scotish football fans poured into Germany today and danced jigs in the streets of Frankfurt in anticipation of their nation's clash Tuesday with world soccer champion Brazil.

But Brazilian manager Mario Zagalo gave the Scots, who beat Zaire 2-0 Friday, only half a chance of entering the final round of the World Cup.

Zagalo said Brazil would go through in Group Two with either Yugoslavia or Scotland accompanying it.

Brazil and Yugoslavia drew 0-0 in their opening match last Thursday.

The Scottish fans apparently thought different. Scots in kilts and tam o'shanters, shirtless, T-shirted or swathed in the national golden standard with lion rampant, flocked through Frankfurt streets and bars, clearly the most visible supporters from the eight teams which give battle Tuesday.

Today was a rest-day and most teams in Tuesday's games scheduled light training and practice sessions.

Tuesday's Group One games have Australia meeting West Germany in Hamburg and Chile playing East Germany in Berlin.

Group Two game Tuesday match Yugoslavia against Zaire in Gelsenkirchen and Scotland versus Brazil in Frankfurt.

SPORTS NEWS IN BRIEF

RICHARD PETTY coasted home first under a caution flag Sunday to win the Motor State 360-mile race — his first victory ever at Michigan International Speedway.

Six caution flags over a total of 40 laps kept the winning speed down to 127.98 miles per hour and also helped rookie driver Earl Ross to finish second in his Chevrolet.

JACKIE OLIVER ducked a punch from teammate George Follmer before the start of Sunday's Can-Am series opener and then managed to overtake Follmer, who was disabled by a flat tire, to win the race and the $10,000 top prize in Mosport, Ont.

JERRY HANSEN ran his winning streak to 19 consecutive class victories by taking both the semi-windup and feature events of the National June Springs on the twisting four-mile road America course Sunday.

SANDRA HAYNIE won the fourth hole of a sudden death playoff over Gloria Ehret with a par four Sunday to capture the $40,000 Lawson's LPGA Open Golf Tournament.

Miss Haynie, who picked up $5,700 for the victory, forced the playoff with a two-foot birdie putt on the final regulation hole of the tournament.

THE RESIGNATIONS of all but 10 of the Canadian Football League's 288 veteran players took effect Sunday, leaving training camps manned only by rookies and jeopardizing the league's summer exhibition schedule.

The "resignation walkout" followed a breakdown in contract talks Saturday night.

ANDY RAE of Australia has made No. 1-seeded Dan Lambert of Cal Poly San Luis Obispo a bridesmaid for the third straight year.

Rae, of University of San Diego, scored a 6-4, 6-4 victory over Lambert Saturday to capture the NCAA Division II Singles title.

THE HAWAII LEIS established a win streak of sorts Saturday night, whipping the Los Angeles Strings 24-21, for their second straight win and fourth victory in 22 World Team Tennis matches.

THE FOUR KISTLER BROTHERS of Riverside captured two matches apiece to advance to the third round of the National AAU Junior Freestyle Wrestling Championships on the opening day Saturday at the Long Beach Arena.

NCAA tennis meet underway

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The 90th annual NCAA tennis championships get under way today with top-seeded Brian Teacher, a UCLA sophomore from San Diego, not scheduled to play until Tuesday.

Stanford's Alex Mayer, last year's champion, quit the Cardinal team just before the Pacific-8 tournament this spring. He has signed a pro contract with the New York Sets of the World Team Tennis circuit.

Bob Moose out for '74 season

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Pittsburgh pitcher Bob Moose, who lost a rib during surgery for removal of a blood clot two weeks ago says he won't be able to play again this season.

Problems not all that bad

By ROGER SPEAR

Q — I have recently read a book predicting economic chaos within the next few years. It suggests putting money into Swiss or other foreign currencies or gold as a hedge. Any suggestions you have to offer would be appreciated. — J.L.

A — Prophets of doom have been predicting cataclysms in one form or another since the world began, and people have listened because these predictions contain an element of truth. I do not suggest that our economic system is 100 per cent healthy — far from it. We have serious problems, as do all the industrial Western nations, with inflation raging at the two-digit pace. However, contrary to the opinion of the author of the book you read — who oversimplifies a very complex situation and comes up with temptingly easy solutions — the consensus of informed opinion is optimistic on our domestic economy. This is a viewpoint I share.

Supporting the view that the recession is showing signs of abating are: an upturn in the Federal Reserve Board production index, a slowing down in the rate of gain in consumer and wholesale prices, a decline in the unemployment rate and an easing in short-term interest rates.

As for squirreling money in gold bullion, aside from being illegal, you could be caught in a price squeeze and lose a lot more than interest. Recently, the Western nations agreed that central banks could sell gold on the free market, and the price of gold dropped $6 an ounce in one day. European central banks have a hoard of 1 billion ounces which, if dumped on the relatively thin gold trading market, would drastically affect the price.

Nor would I recommend switching to Swiss or other gold-convertible foreign currency. Look at the muddle at Franklin National Bank. They tried to outmaneuver their confreres in the international monetary market and ended up losing their shirts, their jobs and a lot of stockholders' money.

Atlantic salmon going the way of the whale?

LONDON (UPI) — About a decade ago one of the great mysteries of the sea —the feeding area of that noble fish, the salmon —was discovered by the fishermen of Denmark's huge island of Greenland.

The salmon gathered at the Davis Straits off the southwest coast of Greenland and then dispersed to the river of their birth in Britain, Canada, Ireland, Iceland and the United States.

Naturally when Atlantic fishermen realized the commercial value of what had been found, far fewer of the fish managed to reach their traditional spawning grounds. Some wound up canned and others on the fishmongers slab and for a while there was a lot of Atlantic salmon around the market place.

Now the supply is diminishing, prices are soaring, salmon gourmets are complaining and ecologists are worried that the fish may follow the whale on the road to scarcity and possibly extinction.

Salmon was over $9.60 a pound in London at the start of the season a month ago, a combination of a smaller catch and a rise in the standard of living with a consequent taste for more expensive fish.

Now with the season in full swing it is still out of reach of many people at $4.80 a pound — and this in a nation where salmon was once so plentiful that a century or so ago servants were protected by work agreements from being fed the fish too often.

The international outcry that led to an a agreement with Denmark on a quota of salmon from the Greenland grounds was echoed recently in Britain's House of Lords, some of whose members own stretches of salmon rivers. They were alarmed by reports Denmark had admitted the quota had been exceeded by 43 per cent in 1973.

Lord Wells-Pestell, for the government, said Denmark had expressed regret and there was no suggestion the overfishing was deliberate. The British government, he said, had made clear its concern and the quota agreed by the North Atlantic national fishery authorities would be discussed again by an international commission in June.

Viscount Massareene and Ferrard said there was scientific evidence that about 35 per cent of the salmon caught off Greenland are spawned in British waters, many of them artifically hatched by the owners of the rivers. Lord Wells-Pestell said he thought the figure might be even higher than that.

Lord Wells-Pestell said it had been agreed all fishing in the Greenland grounds would stop by 1976 with the exception of a quota of 1,100 tons for Greenland. He admitted however, in response to a question that there was no penalty for infringement of the agreement.

Lord Inglewood asked if government spokesmen were aware "that greedy fishermen proferred exactly the same arguments when the whale was threatened and very nearly succeeded in exterminating the whale. Will they therefore be extremely tough in this forthcoming conference? Otherwise the salmon will go the same way as some species of whale."

Brazil sugar

BRASILIA (UPI) — Brazilian sugar exports for 1974 are expected to reach a level of 2.4 million tons, according to the Sugar and Alcohol Institute.

Brazil is the world's secocd largest exporter of sugar. The first is Cuba.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — "May has lived up to its tradition of being a difficult month for the market, but there were some positive signs as it came to an end last week to suggest that June should be better and this could become apparent quite early in the month," says E. F. Hutton & Co. The breadth figures are improving and the number of new daily lows seem to be dwindling, it continues. "There were 498 new lows last week," the firm adds, "well below the 776 the previous week at higher market levels.

"There is a growing feeling among participants in the money markets that a peak in interest rates is near," according to Continental Bank of Chicago. But credit demand will determine the futures of interest rates, the bank says. At the moment commercial bank loan demand has eased, but the Federal Reserve Board recently reported a sharp jump in major money center bank loans, it notes. "It seems likely that the monetary authorities will require further evidence that credit demands are slowing in the next few weeks before taking any action which would support a market rally," the bank adds.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market has headed downward in light of the increasing prime rate and little other news to cheer it, according to Merkin & Co. Although some industrial stocks showed some strength recently, "the overall market breadth has been weak, with deterioration occurring practically across the board among secondaries."

"The market remains closely attuned to interest rates," according to Standard & Poor's Corp. Even if the upward pressure on interest rates is easing, investors need more concrete evidence of a brighter monetary climate, the firm continues. "Prudence suggests a standpat attitude pending more positive monetary signals, which could spur a worthwhile advance in stock prices," it notes.

"The bond market has turned into a disaster area," says Argus Research Corp., with underwriters suffering large losses on new issues and buyers finding their purchases soon sell at big discounts. The yield spread between lower-grade and high-grade bonds still is narrow, the firm continues. "Therefore, given current market rates, there is no great advantage to trading down," it says. But should a big surge in the spread occur, "the record suggests that it will provide a profitable opportunity," the firm adds.

Broadway Beat

New York offers theater throughout the summer

NEW YORK (UPI) — This is the time of summer hiatus for the Broadway theater. There will be no more productions until next fall, when the 1974-75 season begins on an indefinite date.

But there will be shows to be seen by visitors to the city, a dozen shows that should be available through Labor Day. They are:

"A Little Night Music" at the majestic Theater. A lovely musical of tangled romances in turn-of-the-century Sweden; in its second year.

"A Moon for the Misbegotten," Eugene O'Neill's wonderful drama with Jason Robards and Colleen Dewhurst at the Morosco.

"Candide," a revised revival of the musical based on the Voltaire novel with score by Leonard Bernstein; at the Broadway.

"Don't Bother Me, I Can't Cope," long-running all-black musical revue with Micki Grant songs at the Edison.

"Good Evening" at the Plymouth is an hilarious two-man topical, satirical revue by and with England's Peter Cook and Dudley Moore.

"Grease" at the Royale is in its third year; a musical that looks back at the youth and music of the 1950s affectionately.

"Irene" stars Jane Powell in a drastically altered revival of the 1919 musical hit about a New York girl of Irish ancestry who wins a millionaire; in its second year at the Minskoff.

"Lorelei" at the Palace is a remake of 1950s "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" musical with the same star playing the lovable 1920s golddigger, Carol Channing.

"Over Here!" is a recent arrival starring the two surviving Andrews Sisters of singing fame in a musical that is deep in early 1940 nostaglia. At the Shubert.

"Pippin" at the Imperial is one of the theater's most unusual musicals, set in medieval France, well into its second year and the biggest Broadway grosser for many months.

"Raisin" is a musical version of the prize play, "A Raisin in the Sun," about a Chicago Negro family seeking a better way of life. At the 46th Street Theater.

"Words and Music" at the Golden is an amusing oddity in which veteran songwriter Sammy Cahn, who is vastly entertaining, reviews many of his hits with the aid of three singers.

If these 12 stay through the summer, that will be about the average of recent years.

Summer Festival '74

Group discounts, new restaurant at Bowl

HOLLYWOOD — A new group discount program will be offered for Summer Festival '74 at the Hollywood Bowl, and a new restaurant will provide discount rates and picnic suppers for groups.

In addition to discounts, preferential seat locations are given to groups placing advance reservations. The Columbine Restaurant, operating under the auspices of Gaper's, Inc., is the same company that serves Chicago's Ravinia Festival. The Columbine Restaurant will offer discounts to groups ordering picnic dinners in advance. Reservations for both facilities may be made either by phone or by mail.

Groups may reserve one or more of five picnic areas at no charge. The bowl's group sales department will provide all groups with maps of the picnic areas upon request. Charter buses bringing groups to the bowl will be allowed to drive directly to these reserved picnic areas and, later, take the group members across the street for convenient after-dinner arrival on the bowl grounds.

The Columbine Restaurant will deliver picnic dinners and supplies to groups placing advance orders. This same service is available to groups who reserve boxes and wish to dine at their seats prior to the concert. Tables may also be reserved for box-seat dining, and will be delivered upon request.

As an incentive to group organizers, Hollywood Bowl has initiated the Summer Festival Association. SFA membership is automatically granted to group leaders, who will receive certificates redeemable for any of several benefits not available to the general public, including a 50 per cent discount on tickets to regularly-scheduled bowl events, restaurant and gift shop discounts, free admission to Marathon Concerts, and complimentary parking at either of the bowl's two satellite parking lots.

Further information, a schedule of concerts, or group brochures can be obtained from Carly Cady, at (213) 626-5781, ext. 622, Mondays through Fridays.

Do's and don'ts

Parents can help children learn a musical instrument

KALAMAZOO, Mich (UPI) — Parents who wear ear plugs when the kids take up drum, piano, violin, or anything musical, are not helping one bit.

They are not getting into the spirit of helping the child discover the joys of making music. His or her own kind.

The American Music Conference in Kalamazoo says with encouragement from parents, any child can learn to play well.

How much fun a child derives from his music studies is determined by a parent's attitudes and support when the child begins studying. Reaching for ear plugs is wrong.

Advice to parents

As a guide to parents, Dr. William Fowler, professor of music at the University of Utah and a member of AMC's educational advisory board, offers the following do's and don'ts.

—DON'T . . . dictate the choice of instrument. "Banjo players can't become great artists. Whoever heard of a famous tuba player?" are statements that don't wash with the young and eager.

DO— . . . allow your son or daughter to select the instrument to be learned. Remember, your child is the one who will be studying the instrument. It must be one that he wants to learn and the one he will want to spend time practicingon.

—DON'T... use practice as punishment. "You've been a bad boy (girl), so march right down and practice for an hour."

Don't Compare

—DO ... encourage the child to practice a reasonable length of time each day. Perhaps your child can accomplish more with two 15 minute sessions daily than one half hour or one hour at a time.

—DON'T ... compare him unfavorably (especially with a sibling). "Susie could play that piece perfectly when she was only six years old. And you can't even get through it going on 10."

—DO...try to find ways to compliment the child on his growing abilities to play well. Encouragement will make the child more eager to perfect his abilities and please you.

—DON'T ... Pooh-pooh his creative efforts. "What is all that doodling around? Stick to the music your teacher gave you."

Buy or Rent

—DO ... allow your child to enjoy making his own music by improvising. While his lessons may be necessary to learn the basics, he'll accomplish greater musical growth by injecting his own feelings in the music he plays.

—DON'T ... furnish him with a bad instrument. "This horn is good enough to learn on. After you've shown your father and I that you deserve a better one we'll consider it."

—DO ... buy or rent a good instrument, even if it is an inexpensive one. Good instruments help the beginner develop an ear for music and recognize "sour notes."

—DON'T ... discredit the kind of music he likes. "You know your father doesn't approve of the Nashville sound. Go play the Segovia scales."

Learn His Way

—DO ... allow him free choice in the music he wants to play. Many educators believe that children benefit from all types of music that is well written. Youngsters normally advance from contemporary to classical selections on their own when they develop abilities and seek greater challenge in the music they play.

—DON'T ... insist he "Keep your eyes on the music all the time. Otherwise you'll never learn to read."

—DO ... let him learn the music the way that is most comfortable for him, whether by sightreading or by note.

—DON'T ... force him to practice every day for long periods. "Beethoven practiced six hours a day. All we're asking you to do is four."

Teen club installs officers

The Inspirations, a teen service club for girls 13 through 17, sponsored by the Diamond Bar Junior Woman's Club, were feted at an installation dinner given by retiring advisers Belinda Hill and Kathie Cademartori.

Present at the installation of officers were Mrs. Judy Camp, advisor, and Mmes. Reida Buehler, Kathie Cademartori, Belinda Hill and Ginny Pippenger, coadvisors. Past advisors Lynn Gebert, Chris Schaefer and Carolyn Hohn were also invited.

Taking office as president was Miss Connie Whitson. Other officers inducted were Miss Vicki McGregor, vice president; Miss Alice Richey, secretary; Miss Shelly McCluskey, treasurer, and Miss Stephanie Richards, publicity chairman.

For their achievements working at Pacific State Hospital, with Camp Glen Rockey and with the Indians the Inspirations received recognition from San Gabriel District, California Federation of Junior Women's Clubs.

Pamela Card is wed in Mt. Baldy Church

MRS. JOHN WALKER

Mt. Baldy Village Church was the setting for the marriage of Miss Pamela Irene Card and John Paul Walker.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon S. Card and the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Bryan Walker, all of Claremont, exchanged vows in an evening, double-ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an A-line gown with an empire bodice. The skirt of chiffon was accented by a full, gathered back which flowed to a chapel train. Guipure lace adorned the neckline, waist and cuffs of the bishop sleeves. A Juliet cap of re-embroidered lace held the bride's chiffon veil.

A cascade of yellow roses, light blue daisies and baby's breath was carried by the bride.

The bride's sister, Debbie Marie Card, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Vanessa McHenry, and Miss Susan Keaton.

The groom's sister, Judy Anshutz, handled the guest book.

Scott Thompson was best man. Ushers were Jim Walker, David Card and Phil Kaylor.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the rites.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker are honeymooning at Mazatlan, Mexico. They will reside in Burbank.

Mr. Walker is employed by Stephens Electronics in Burbank and the bride is employed at the Hollywood Branch of Security Pacific National Bank.

MRS. CALVIN CHAMBERLAIN

Auxiliary officers seated

The Women's Auxiliary of Pomona District 14, Los Angeles County Medical Association, installed its officers for 1974-75 at a dinner meeting.

Mrs. Calvin B. Chamberlain was installed as president. Other officers are Mrs. Fritz Moser, president-elect; Mrs. Richard Voller, first vice president; Mrs. Jerome Johnson, second vice president; Mrs. Edward Daseler, recording secretary; Mrs. John Terveer, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Carroll White, treasurer.

At the same ceremony, officers of District 14, LACMA, were installed. Peter Schabarum, chairman of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, spoke on legislation relating to the medical field.

Writers sponsor contests

Contests in fiction, poetry and nonfiction will be opened to members of the Pomona Valley Writers Club at the meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Ontario Public Library.

All persons interested in creative writing are invited to attend. Entries should be submitted anonymously.

At the May meeting, a certificate of award was presented to a new member, Stanton Baum, for his short story, "Janie," the heart-warming love of a father for his dying child.

In the poetry contest, Gale Donahue was presented a certificate for her entry, "Famous Victory," a cynical description of Sherman's March.

Miss Donahue also won in the nonfiction contest for "Warlock of Placerville," a profile of a man that was called a witch.

Informal gathering arranged

A get-acquainted meeting for new members is planned by Ontario Legal Secretaries Association at an informal gathering Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the law offices of Maroney, Demchuk and Brandt, Upland.

Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Evelyn Campbell and Mrs. Rosie Relph.

Mrs. Marjorie Cantu, PLS, president, Mrs. Betty A. Gustafson, PLS, governor, and Mrs. Wynn Carland will present a report on the state convention of Legal Secretaries in San Francisco. At that time, Mrs. Cantu was presented a Professional Legal Secretary certificate.

Members are asked to bring a prospective member or guest.

Reservations should be made by calling Anne Woods, 983-0511, Ext. 226.

Secretaries schedule installation

A candlelight ceremony at T&J Restaurant in Rosemead Wednesday will mark the installation of the new officers of the Professional Secretaries Association.

The new officers are: Mrs. Gloria Morrow, president; Miss Helen Burrus, first vice president; Mrs. Donna Sell, second vice president; Mrs. Macaleen Spaulding, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Amy Irwin, recording secretary; and Mrs. Lucille Tweed, treasurer.

Anyone interested in learning more about the association should call Mrs. Donna Sell, 213 966-2192, or Mrs. Irwin, 714-986-7411.

Parents Anonymous organized

The Walnut Junior Woman's Club, sponsors of a local chapter of Parents Anonymous, invite parents to attend their weekly meetings.

The group meets every Thursday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the Faculty Center of Mt. San Antonio College, 1100 N. Grand Ave., Walnut.

This is a non-agency, no fee, self-help group. Babysitting and coffee are provided by the Juniors. Persons interested in finding out more about Parents Anonymous or in attending a meeting may call Jerry Curtin, 985-6173.

Newsmakers

Boxy jackets for pants, bias cut jersey dresses and two and three piece suits are newsmakers for fall. The third piece in some suits is a vest.

NABA sets luncheon on Friday

A social meeting is planned Friday by North American Benefit Association.

A noon sack luncheon at the home of Mrs. Irma Garri, 310 W. 4th St., San Dimas, will precede an afternoon of games. The hostess will serve dessert and beverage. Members are to take white elephants to be used as game prizes.

The next meeting of NABA will be on July 5 at 2 p.m. in the Women's Community Club, 172 W. Monterey St.

Celebration planned by WCTU unit

The La Verne Woman's Christian Temperance Union has completed plans for its Centennial Birthday Celebration at 2 p.m. Friday at West Hillcrest Lounge, 2700 Magnolia Ave., La Verne.

The celebration is open to the public.

Persons planning to attend may call the president, Mrs. Eva Minnich, 593-3250 or Mrs. Ruth Weaver, secretary, 593-6493.

Square dance graduation scheduled

The Wheels and Chains Square Dance Club will graduate its class Thursday at Suzanne School, Pierre and La Puente Roads, Walnut, at 8 p.m.

George Caudill will call the dances.

All clubs with classes about to graduate are invited.

Biggy pants

The newest style in pants will best be left to skinny figures. These new slacks resemble men's drawstring pajama pants and gather and tie at the waist.

Policeman to address Zonta Club

Sgt. Art Traeber, community relations officer, Pomona Police Department, will be the speaker at the meeting of Zonta Club of Pomona Valley Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Heritage House.

The speaker's topic will be "Burglary Prevention in your Home."

PBX Club installation scheduled Wednesday

MRS. MARY BUETTNER

The installation of new officers for the PBX Club of Pomona is scheduled Wednesday evening at Griswold's Indian Hill Inn, Claremont.

Mrs. June Crane, retiring president and vice president of the PBX Clubs of California, will install new officers.

They are Mrs. Mary Buettner, president; Mrs. Marsha Helton, first vice president; Mrs. Doris Brian, second vice president; Mrs. Beth Dennis, third vice president; Mrs. Raylene Scott, secretary; Mrs. Mary Jane Brown, treasurer; Mrs. Hilda Henderson, chaplain; Mrs. Pauline Judd, historian; and Mrs. Arlene Wildman, editor.

During the business meeting, discussion will include the International Convention July 10 through 14 in Toronto, Ontario, Canada. Some members plan to attend.

A social hour at 6:30 p.m. will precede the 7 p.m. dinner. Reservations may be made with Mrs. June Crane, 987-2521.

Purpose of the PBX Club is to meet and discuss the various problems of PBX operators, to promote goodwill among the operators, employers and the telephone company.

GUARANTEED TO CONSUMER BY PARENTS' MAGAZINE

People talk openly about sex, even VD. Can we now talk openly about the poor kid who wets the bed? For the sake of that unfortunate child, we're going to tell it like it is!

THE DAMAGE CAN BE TERRIBLE! Most bedwetters can't have friends over to spend the night or can't stay overnight with friends. Or go to camp. Their mothers get exasperated — and physically worn out — by the extra loads of laundry. The poor kid is overwhelmed by guilt, excluded from normal relationships with peer groups and is frequently teased by cruel companions. Self-confidence is lost, ego is lowered and withdrawal is usual. An explosive mixture.

WAIT FOR IT TO BE OUTGROWN? Well, here's the bad news. Statistical data is now available which shows that out of 100 kids 5 years old wetting the bed, 50 of them will still be wetting at age 11! WE'RE HERE TO HELP and we've been doing it for nearly a quarter of a century.

If you want to help your child . . . and the man or woman that child will grow up to be . . . send this coupon today. We'll mail you our booklet entitled "BEDWETTING—WHAT IT'S ALL ABOUT AND HOW TO END IT." No obligation. If the bedwetting is not caused by organic defect or disease, we can help your child . . . and wouldn't that be a relief!

Same as he did for Arabs

Nixon pledges nuclear aid to Israel

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI) — President Nixon concluded a visit to Israel today with an agreement to provide nuclear technology for peaceful purposes similar to one signed in Egypt last week. He then returned to the Arab world for the last stop of his Mideast journey.

King Hussein, America's oldest Arab friend, and his 25-year-old queen Alia greeted President and Mrs. Nixon when their plane arrived in Jordan. Several hundred onlookers, including many small children waving American flags, applauded as Nixon got off his plane following a half-hour flight from Jerusalem.

Eight F105 Starfighter jets escorted Nixon's plane from the moment it entered Jordanian airspace and roared overhead as the King and the President reviewed an honor guard.

"Welcome to the great President Nixon," airport loudspeakers boomed. Welcome to the guest of our King Hussein. Welcome to the eternal land of Jordan, to the land of the (Arab) cause."

The promise to sell nuclear reactors, fuel and technology to Israel came as part of a communique signed by Nixon and Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin in Jerusalem. It also included provisions for additional U.S. economic and military assistance for Israel.

Nixon's Israeli visit was friendly though it was the first stop where there were placards referring to Watergate. There also was a small anti-Nixon demonstration in behalf of Jewish "prisoners" in the Soviet Union. It was broken up by police who pushed the protesters aside. Nixon did not see it.

Today's communique was very similar to the one Nixon signed with President Anwar Sadat in Cairo Friday, showing U.S. attempts to be even handed in its Mideast dealings. It calls for new U.S. economic aid to "offset the heavy additional costs inherent in assuring Israel's military capability for the maintenance of peace."

The nuclear agreement like the one signed with Egypt — and like similar ones with other countries —contains safeguards to make sure nuclear technology is used for peaceful purposes, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said.

Nixon's message throughout his visit to Jerusalem was one of U.S. friendship. He told leaders Sunday to take the necessary risks to "wage peace" so that the "cradle of civilization will not become its grave."

"Under no circumstances does the fact that the United States is seeking better relations with some of Israel's neighbors mean that the friendship of the United States and the support for Israel is any less," Nixon said in a toast at a dinner in his honor Sunday.

"We're used to taking risks and living with them," Israeli Information Minister Aharon Yariv said today in a statement praising Nixon's efforts to reach a permanent Mideast settlement. "The question is how big will they be and what will be done to minimize them. Without taking risks one doesn't achieve anything."

Some Israeli leaders had been critical of the U.S.Egyptian nuclear agreement, fearing giving nuclear power to the Arabs might lead to nuclear weaponry. Former Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said Sunday if that happened, "the peace mission of President Nixon will become a fatal and historic mistake."

But Kissinger, in a news conference before leaving the presidential party for a meeting of NATO foreign ministers in Canada, said, "We are prepared to do for Israel what we did for Egypt."

Kissinger expressed confidence the built-in safeguards would be adequate but to quelch any remaining fears, he said, "We will review the agreement to make sure there are no loopholes."

Kissinger said he believed Nixon's trip had helped assure Israel its long-term security was tied to the Mideast negotiations and that the Arab world for the first time was ready to accept Israel as a permanent nation.

Westminster bombed by Irish; 11 persons hurt

LONDON (UPI) — A bomber believed to have been a member of the Irish Republican Army (IRA) slipped through the dense security screen of the House of Commons today and planted a bomb that exploded only a few yards from the meeting place of Britain's legislators.

The blast shattered a gas main setting off a fire that damaged 900-year-old Westminster Hall, one of the most historic buildings in the kingdom and imperiled its world-famous hammer-beam ceiling. Fire fighting teams from all over the capital managed to put out the blaze before it did serious harm.

Scotland Yard said 11 persons were injured, only one of whom had to be kept in hospital—a girl with a broken leg. It accepted the bombing as a challenge from the IRA that no building or person is safe and rechecked security at Buckingham Palace and other sensitive centers.

Since the Palace of Westminster —a complex of buildings which includes the House of Commons, the House of Lords, Westminster Hall and the tower of Big Ben —has always been considered an obvious target for the IRA it has been under heavy guard.

But an underground car park is being built in the forecourt of Westminster Hall and several score workers, some of them Irish, have been engaged as laborers. With or without inside help a bomber managed to place from 15 to 20 pounds of gelignite in an alcove near the staff canteen.

At 8.20 a.m. (3:20 a.m. EDT) today a caller with an Irish accent telephoned Press Association, a local news agency, and said a bomb was due to go off in the House of Commons in six minutes. The caller used a code word that identified his warning as genuine.

The warning was still being circulated when the bomb detonated about 10 minutes later with at least four members of Parliament already in their offices preparing for today's session of the House of Commons which proceeded as scheduled.

None was among the injured. David Steel, chief whip of the Liberal Party, said they got out into the street to find smoke billowing from the building and already almost obscuring Big Ben.

In scenes reminiscent of the wartime bombings fire apparatus from all over central London raced to the scene and also prepared to protect Wesminister Abbey, most precious of the nation's churches, just across the street. The explosion came at the height of the morning rush hour and traffic in central London was jammed for hours.

Steel was indignant that a building of such historic ancestry should be attacked — Winston Churchill lay in state there, Charles I was sentenced to be beheaded there, Henry VIII played tennis in the hall and when it was cleaned some years ago his tennis balls were found in the beamed ceiling.

Other arriving legislators were equally incensed.

"It's appalling!" said Lord Carrington, former chairman of the Conservative Party. "What a dreadful thing!"

"It's a very old building and very difficult to make secure," said James Prior, former Minister of Agriculture."

Robert Mellish, chief whip of the Labor Party, said the bombings would not frighten Britons who remembered the bombings by German planes in World War II.

"The hall," he said," is part of our heritage. I suppose we can be thankful they didn't throw a bomb at us in the chamber itself."

A bomb exploded at the House of Commons in London today, injuring several people and causing extensive damage. This photo from Parliament Square shows flames and smoke pouring from the historical structure. The fire was put out within an hour. Scotland Yard and London police are investigating.

Pomona woman slain in dispute over swim pool

POMONA — A woman was killed Sunday afternoon in a dispute over two boys swimming in cutoffs in an apartment complex pool.

Three persons, including the victim's husband and son, were arrested.

The victim was Mary Treanor, 37, assistant manager of the apartment building at 1468 S. Palomares St., where the shooting took place. She was killed outright by a .38-caliber bullet which struck her in the face.

Those arrested wer Oscar Eric Harris, 41; 2366 Belinda Ave., who was accused of shooting Mrs. Treanor; Jerry Treanor, 22-year-old husband of the victim; and Jimmy Greenfield, the victim's 20-year-old son by a previous marriage.

Treanor was booked on a murder charge because he was involved in the altercation which preceded the shooting, Detective Sgt. Ron Pfaff said. Greenfield was arrested on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon. He took shots at Harris after picking up Harris' revolver when it was knocked from Harris' hand, investigators said.

They gave this account of the shooting:

Harris was attending a party at the apartment complex where friends lived. They planned to swim and have a barbecue.

Two boys, members of the visiting group, went swimming in the pool wearing cutoffs. Treanor, husband of the victim, objected, told them to get out, and they did.

Harris became upset and when he told the boys to go ahead and swim, he and Treanor got into an argument during which Harris slapped Treanor twice. Treanor left the pool area but returned a few minutes later and the trouble began again.

Harris drew the revolver and as Treanor backed away, Mrs. Treanor stepped between them and was shot in the face. The pistol was knocked from Harris' hand and the victim's son picked it up and fired two shots at him, missing.

Police, who were sent to the complex with the report of a disturbance, were arriving as the shots were fired. They took Harris into custody without incident. The others were arrested later as details of the incident were learned.

Bottle-throwing fracas results in 11 arrested

POMONA — Eleven persons were arrested late Saturday night in the fracas which followed the arrest of a youth accused of throwing a bottle at a passing car.

The trouble was outside the Eagles Lodge at 954 W. Mission Blvd., where a dance was being staged after a wedding reception there. Before things quieted the trouble spread to the parking lot of the Taco Lita stand nearby.

Officers said the Pomona youth, 17, hit a car passing in Mission Boulevard with a pop bottle and bounced another bottle off a police car. When he was taken into custody some members of the group, which numbered about 200 persons, began throwing bottles and other police were summoned.

Sgt. Thomas W. McCullough later declared an unlawful assembly and officers formed a skirmish line and moved into the crowd. The arrests were made amid a hail of thrown objects, police said, but no one was injured seriously.

Charges included assault on police officers, failure to disperse, resisting arrest, disturbing the peace and (for younger persons) curfew violation. Those adults arrested were:

Christine Layvas Duenas, 42, 730 E. Grand Ave., charged with assault, battery of a police officer, resisting arrest and failure to disperse; Ralph Dennis Carpio, 20, 1171 E. Franklin Ave., assault of a police officer, resisting arrest, failure to disperse; Eugene Guevera, 18, 2077 Primrose Way, failure to disperse; and Steve Ybarra, 19, 1585 Ganesha Place, battery and assault on a police officer.

China explodes nuclear bomb; so does France

NEW DELHI (UPI) — China exploded an enormous nuclear bomb today in its Lop Nor testing area about 1,500 miles west of Peking, the Indian Atomic Energy Commission announced. France exploded a smaller one in the South Pacific earlier today.

It was believed to be the first time two nations were known to have carried out atomic tests the same day.

The Indian announcement said Monday's China blast was carried out above ground at 2 a.m. EDT in the Lop Nor region.

"On the basis of the signals obtained at our monitoring stations," the announcement said, "the explosion was conducted in the atmosphere and had a yield of approximately one megaton of TNT"—a million tons of TNT.

The commission gave no other details.

China exploded its first atomic low-yield bomb on Oct. 16, 1964, becoming the fifth nation to possess nuclear power. An explosion of a Chinese hydrogen bomb was announced June 17, 1967.

China's Lop Nor region, a desolate and sparsely populated area in Sinkiang Province which borders the Soviet Union, is the country's traditional nuclear testing ground. Peking has repeatedly defended its domestic nuclear testing program, but has criticized other countries for conducting tests outside their territories.

Australian Prime Minister Gough Whitlam and his New Zealand counterpart, Norman Kirk, both protested France's reported nuclear explosion over Mururoa. Whitlam warned that the test was "likely to lead to deposits of radioactive fallout within Australian territory."

Confirmation of energy chief stalled by senator

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate today confirmed the nomination of John C. Sawhill as head of the Federal Energy Administration but two and a half hours later withdrew its approval.

Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd received unanimous consent to temporarily delay the confirmation. He explained that a senator, not identified, wanted to speak on the nomination and had not been forewarned of the confirmation vote.

Byrd said that Sawhill would be confirmed promptly, probably as early as Tuesday.

Earlier, Sawhill had been approved by routine voice vote to replace William Simon, now Treasury Secretary, as the nation's energy chief. He immediately issued a statement promising not to take a job in the oil industry when he leaves the government.

Sawhill said he hoped his pledge would assure "the American people that I will perform my regulatory responsibilities in a fair and unbiased manner."

After being confirmed by voice vote, Sawhill, 37, also released a financial statement which placed his net worth at $132,000.

Sawhill, whose agency has been criticized for making use of oil industry executives in key jobs, said:

"I hereby make a commitment not to take a position in the oil industry when I leave public service."

He also promised to make public a financial statement "annually as long as I remain in this position."

The Senate also confirmed the nominations of Francine Neff of New Mexico to be U. S. treasurer.

Struve quads in good shape

POMONA — Five days after their birth, the Struve quads today are reported in good condition at Pomona Valley-Community Hospital.

The two girls and two boys, who weighed a total of 11 pounds and five ounces at birth June 12, are progressing nicely, a hospital spokesman said.

They are the children of Richard and Connie Struve of Claremont. They have been named Tonya Marie, Todd Allan, Kevin Michael and Kristina Lynn. They have a brother, Scott, who is 23 months old, at home.

The babies were born 1½ months early. Mrs. Struve, 28, was expecting twins.

Kissinger says Arabs accept Israel

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, leaving the traveling White House to attend a NATO meeting in Ottawa, said Monday the Arabs are now willing to recognize Israel's existence and that for the first time in 26 years Mideast peace was possible.

He left Ben-Gurion International Airport for a NATO foreign ministers meeting about an hour before President Nixon took off for Amman, Jordan, on the fifth and final leg of his Middle East tour.

Kissinger told a news conference the Arabs are now willing to recognize the existence of Israel as a Middle Eastern state.

He said he thought the negotiations between Egypt and Israel, and Syria and Israel, engineered by the United States since the October war, had resulted in a gradual depolarization that for the first time in 26 years made peace possible in the Middle East.

"It is our conviction that for the first time the Arab states, even the more radical ones like Syria, are talking about a continuing state of Israel, and some of the Arab states seem to have made a crucial decision to work out the modalities" of coexistence, Kissinger said.

"I believe that as a result of this trip Israel will understand that its long term security is better guaranteed by what is going on," he said, adding:

"One of the more satisfactory results of this process has been the transformation of Israel's fears into a greater sense of security through the negotiations that the President opened last year."

Kissinger mediated the troop disengagement agreements that separated the armies of Egypt and Israel in Sinai and the armies of Syria and Israel on the Golan Heights front. The Golan Heights agreement will be fulfilled June 26.

GREEN LIGHT, AT LAST!

Tips from 4 help police convict 7 drug pushers

POMONA — Four anonymous We Turn In Pushers, Inc. (We T.I.P.) informants have helped Pomona police and Los Angeles County Sheriff's Deputies in the convictions of eight drug pushers in the valley area recently, said a We T.I.P. spokesman.

According to a spokesman from the Pomona Police Department, three convictions have resulted from the arrests of three persons suspected of selling illegal drugs in the Pomona area.

Aiding the Pomona Police in the arrest and conviction of Vicki Lynn Bruce, 22, of 1468 Grand Ave., Melvin Francis Arneson, 21, of 2233 W. Orange Grove Ave., and Amos Ward Jr., 27, of 1317 S. Hamilton Blvd., on various narcotic violations were We T.I.P. tipsters GF 3279, GB 673, and GD 2428.

The three informants have been authorized to pick up their rewards at the prearranged drop point by the We T.I.P. Board of Directors.

According to a spokesman from the Los Angeles County sheriff's San Dimas substation, five persons were arrested in September 1973 as the result of an investigation in which We T.I.P. information was used.

The arrests resulted in the convictions of Wayne Carl Shelton, 32, of 244 Third St., San Dimas; David Bowen Martens, 24, of 204 Arrow Highway, San Dimas; Gerald Thomas Heatley, 24, of 236 W. Third St., San Dimas; and Marcia Louise Laughlin, 26, of 236 W. Third St.; and Steven Allen Griffin, 24, of 2044 11th St., La Verne, on heroin charges.

The We T.I.P. Board of Directors and the Los Angeles Sheriff's Department in making the announcement of the arrests and conviction commended the anonymous informant whose information aided their investigation of the suspected drug pushers. The anonymous informant in the case declined to accept any reward for his or her information.

The We T.I.P. Board urged other citizens to use the T.I.P. telephone line (toll free) 800-472-7785 to call in any information about suspected drug trafficking in the local community. The callers are not asked their names by the We T.I.P. operator, who will assign them secret code names and numbers in the event their information aids police in arresting and convicting a pusher. We T.I.P. offers a $100 to $500 reward to the anonymous informants if their information aids in bringing a conviction.

Students to study Ontario airport

CLAREMONT — Students from Harvey Mudd College will be conducting an extended survey this summer on the possibility of the expansion of the existing runway system at Ontario International Airport.

The study program, sponsored by the National Science Foundation, is an extension of studies by local governments, private industry and other colleges.

The Harvey Mudd team hopes to provide information necessary to reach a decision on runway construction. The information is not included in prior investigations. By using computer simulation programs, the student investigators intend to predict the increase in noise and air pollution levels in and around the airport.

Compsoing the Harvey Mudd team will be James D. Potter, a chemistry major from Santa Ana, who proposed the project to the science foundation; Marlin Eller of Whitman College, Walla Walla, Wash.; James Pringle, Occidental College, Los Angeles; Susan Gordon, University of Redlands; and Gilbert Maxey and Thomas Harmon of Harvey Mudd.

Team members were chosen from applicants responding to notices sent out to various colleges and universities around the nation. The group will live in Claremont during the 12-week summer study.

According to Potter, the team expects to provide information that will be useful to local government officials in formulating zoning policies and traffic routes consistent with the best interests of the adjacent communities.

Formal title of the project is "Mathematical Modeling of Noise and Air Pollution at Expanding Ontario International Airport." The study has earned a grant of $7,850 for student stipends and expenses.

Chino boy shot in head during family squabble

CHINO — A 6-year-old Chino boy accidentally shot in the head while his parents were holding a .22-caliber rifle Saturday night at their home, 11524 Central Ave., today is listed in "grave" condition at Chino General Hospital.

Freddie David Martinez Jr. was admitted to the Chino hospital shortly after the 11:34 p.m. Saturday incident. Doctors reported that the youth was shot once in the head.

According to sheriff's officers, Martinez, 25, and his wife, Lorraine Marie Martinez, 23, became engaged in an altercation and Martinez picked up the rifle and loaded it.

Deputies said that Martinez cocked the weapon and was in the process of handing the rifle to his wife when it accidentally discharged. The bullet struck the boy in the head a short distance away.

Mrs. Martinez, immediately called the Chino police and an ambulance.

No charges have been filed in the shooting incident, but Sgt. Robert Edmonds of the sheriff's homicide division said the investigation is continuing.

Montclair man held after hit-run chase

POMONA — A Montclair man was arrested early Sunday by Pomona police who pursued him four miles after he hit a parked car and refused to stop, authorities said.

The man, Gerald Robert Abbott, 28, 10834 Central Ave., was booked on charges of hit-run driving, drunken driving and evading arrest. Montclair police and highway patrolmen joined the chase.

Police said Abbott struck a car parked on Mission Boulevard at Palomares Street and refused to pull over when overtaken by officers at Mission Boulevard and Reservoir Street. The chase began there and ended in Montclair at State Street near Central Avenue where Abbott's car hit a Montclair police car driven by Sgt. Bill Goff as Abbott attempted to drive over a street divider, officers said. Goff wasn't injured.

During the purusit the cars involved reached 60 miles an hour.

Barefoot bandit holds up clerk at local dairy

POMONA — A man armed with a small caliber handgun forced a 16-year-old sales clerk at the Pine View Dairy, 1430 East End Ave., to hand over a small amount of cash from the cash register Sunday evening

West End Sheriff's deputies said a man described as a Caucasian, 22 to 24, 160 pounds, with brown hair wearing a "T"-shirt and Levis walked into thedairy store about 7:13 p.m. and pulthe dairy store about 7:13 p.m. and pulthen.

Snethen said the robber forced him to take the money from the cash register and place it in a bag. The thief fled on foot. Snethen said the man was barefooted and had on a green, yellow and blue watch cap.

Upland man found dead of wounds

UPLAND — Upland police this morning were investigating the death of a 20-year-old Upland man found dead of a shotgun wound in his head at 1034 Springfield St., at 6:28 p.m. Sunday.

Raymond Michael Carroll, 20, of that address was found dead in the living room of his apartment. Police said they found a .12 gauge shotgun lying beside his body.

The gunshow wound was apparently self-inflicted, officers said.

3 Claremonters injured as car falls over bank

UPLAND — Three Claremont men were injured early Sunday when their car failed to negotiate a curve, went down the embankment and struck a tree on Mt. Baldy Road north of Ice House Canyon Road.

California Highway Patrol placed the driver under arrest on suspicion of felony drunk driving.

The driver, Michael Alan Olson, 21, 3927 Mural Drive was treated at Doctors Hospital Montclair before being placed under arrest.

His passengers, Alan Nissim Schemtob, 19, of 1814 Rosemont St., and John Willard Cole, 19, of 102 Wesley Way, were taken to the San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland by ambulance, treated and released.

Automotive Council schedules dinner

UPLAND — The Automotive Service Council of California Inland Empire Unit 14 will hold a dinner meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Upland Inn.

After the meeting, members will adjourn to Bob's Auto Electric Shop, 205 W. Holt Blvd., Ontario, where they will demonstrate their own infra-red exhaust gas analysers.

Youth arrested on suspicion of possessing LSD

CHINO — A 15-year-old Chino High School youth today was in custody of the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department on suspicion of possession and transporting of LSD for sale.

The youth was stopped at 12:30 a.m. on Euclid Avenue south of Edison Avenue by the California Highway Patrol. He was placed under arrest on suspicion of driving under the influence of alcohol.

While making the arrest, officers found a clear plastic bag containing a small quantity of wafers which were determined to contain LSD, the CHP said.

He was turned over to the sheriff's department. CHP identified the youth only as a Chino High School student.

Youth injured when bicycle hits mobilehome

DIAMOND BAR — Fourteen-year-old Steven Pardee of 249 Tanforan Lane today is in satisfactory condition at Pomona Valley Community Hospital in Pomona wher he is being treated for concussion.

The youth was injured at 10:15 p.m. Sunday when, according to the California Highway Patrol, he rode his 10-speed bicycle into the rear of a parked housecar.

The mobilehome was parked on Sunset Crossing Road West of Del Sol Lane. The CHP said it was registered to Peter Leibrick of 23763 Sunset Crossing Road. It received minor damage to the left rear.

Young Pardee was placed in the intensive care unit of the hospital Sunday but taken out today, a hospital spokesman said.

City plans workshops on neighborhood goals

POMONA — A city plan development workshop will be conducted in the old Post Office building at Mission and Thomas streets three nights this week.

The workshop, a project which encourages the participation of city residents in the formulation of goals for neighborhoods in Pomona, will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Under the guidance of Lawrence Halprin and Associates, the city is working on a general plan of development for Pomona, including specific proposals for distinct neighborhoods. At the special image workshop, participants attempt to devise an image of their neighborhoods and the city as they would like to see it become. Each participant describes a negative and a positive image that he has of the city.

More than 170 Pomona residents have participated in the workshops to date. They have drawn maps of neighborhoods as they ideally should appear and have agreed on a number of specific images for the city in the future.

Participants have largely agreed that they want quiet, cohesive residential districts, low-density housing, landscaped streets, and a downtown which is the hub of the city. A visual sense of neighborhood identity also has been described as a desired goal.

Cooler weather, clearer skies seen in valley

Cooler temperatures and clearer skies which began Sunday in the valley are expected to continue through today and Tuesday.

After hot, humid weather with moderate to heavy smog on Friday and Saturday, Sunday's weather brought very light smog and lower temperatures with cool breezes. Saturday's high reached 96 degrees with temperatures decreasing to a high of 86 on Sunday. Today's high is expected to be 79, and a 77 degree mark is predicted for Tuesday.

Continued light smog is expected today with a slight increase on Tuesday. The ozone count is predicted to be .15 parts per million today, the same as Sunday.

A stage two ozone level was reached in the West End area Saturday with an ozone reading of .40 parts per million.

L.V. Chamber honors Billy Masters for his work with community's boys

LA VERNE — Fourteen years ago this week Billy Masters of La Verne started out on a 3,000-mile trip by chartered bus with 37 Boy Scouts in the midst of his extra-curricular career as "Mr. Scoutmaster" in La Verne.

On Saturday evening at the annual dinner of the La Verne Chamber of Commerce, his long career as an influence for good among La Verne's youth was recognized. He was named the Citizen of the Year.

Eighteen years ago Masters agreed to handle a small group of eight scouts in Troop I sponsored by the La Verne Methodist Church so that his own son, Larry, then 11, might be a scout. He understood that he was to just fill in for three weeks until a man who had promised to take the troop would return.

By his own confession Masters says that he became so enthusiastic about his work with the boys that he was not really aware that much more than the three weeks had passed before he acknowledge that he was, in fact the permanent scoutmaster.

Evidence of the skills of his work with boys is the fact that his troop membership reached as many as 70. He has said, "I never had the heart to tell a boy he couldn't join us." An additional proof of his way with youth is fact that when he took off a year to give more time to his family, the troop membership dropped to only 18. So he took over the leadership again and within a short time the membership was back up to 50.

BILLY MASTERS

The impact of Masters' work with some 1,000 boys of the community was mentioned by those who recommended that he be the recipient this year of the community award. Speaking via tape were Paul Boetcher, administrator of the La Verne United Methodist Church; Mrs. Lila Beer, whose son had been in the troop; and Oscar Marshall who had been associated with Masters in the church and in community service for many years.

Among those present, were a number of his former scouts.

Recognition was given to the cooperation of Mrs. Masters in her husband's youth work.

Masters has lived in La Verne since his own youth and first tasted scout life under Kenneth Brownsberger.

Recognition has come to him from within the ranks of scouting. He was named Most Valuable Man of the Coahuilla District and is the holder of the Silver Beaver Award from the Old Baldy Council.

While serving as postmaster in Charter Oak he was named Citizen of Year there in 1966.

Although retired from active participation with the boys since 1971, Masters is the treasurer for the troop and institutional representative.

Fugitive murderer tracked down and shot

COEUR d'ALENE, Idaho (UPI) — Escaped murderer Carl Cletus Bowles' freedom flight from an Oregon prison ended abruptly Sunday when he was critically wounded by sheriff's deputy while standing knee-deep in Idaho's Spokane River.

Bowles, 33, escaped from Oregon State Prison May 17 while on an unsupervised pass and had left a trail of kidnap victims and stolen vehicles for pursuing law enforcement officers.

Kootenai County sheriff's deputies closed in on Bowles Sunday after he allegedly kidnaped a retired couple from Lowell, Oass., near Kellogg, Idaho, and forced them to drive him to Coeur d'Alene. He then hijacked another vehicle and wrecked it before stealing a motorcycle at gunpoint from Thomas A. Trapp, 26, Spokane, Wash.

A sheriff's department spokesman said Bowles forced Trapp to accompany him until he ran into two off-duty policemen from Post Falls who had joined the manhunt for the convict.

Bowles was chased down a county road that dead-ended on the banks of the Spokane River. The convict jumped and was wading across when he was ordered to halt by Sgt. James Guy.

Bowles turned around as if to shoot and Guy fired, wounding Bowles in the lower abdomen, according to county prosecutor Harry Button.

Bowles was serving a life sentence for killing Lane County, Ore., sheriff's deputy Carlton Smith during a four-day crime in Oregon, California and Nevada in 1965. Before being captured, Bowles kidnaped former California Finance Director Dale Champion and his family.

Button said Bowles would be charged in Idaho on five kidnaping charges, five of first-degree assault and grand larceny of a vehicle.

The convict is also wanted for kidnap and car theft in Oregon, where he escaped a massive dragnet near Eugene Friday during which he exchanged gunfire with FBI agents.

Bowles escaped custody May 17 while on an unsupervised pass issued by OSP superintendent Hoyt Cupp. Cupp was suspended for two weeks without pay by Gov. Tom McCall after the incident. Bowles had gone to a Salem motel to visit his niece, Mrs. Joan Coberly, 23, Monrovia, Calif.

Mrs. Coberly was arrested last Friday morning at a south Eugene, Ore., residence and is being held on a charge of hindering prosecution in the Lane County jail in lieu of $10,000 bail.

According to information contained in a complaint prepared by the U.S. attorney's office in Portland, Ore., Mrs. Coberly has admitted to the FBI that she planned and participated in Bowles' escape.

People in the news

Began dad's day

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — She's never been a father, but Mrs. John Bruce Dodd was presented a bouquet of roses Sunday for Father's Day. Mrs. Dodd is the founder of the day honoring dads.

She started it in 1910 as a local celebration in Spokane, and four years later Congress made it apply to fathers nationwide. Mrs. Dodd, 92, was honored at a special ceremony at Expo '74 Sunday and she later took a tour of the environmental world's fair.

Mrs. Dodd thought of the idea to honor her father, William Jackson Smart. She now lives at the Opportunity Medical and Convalescent Center.

The case for Patty

NEW YORK (UPI) — If Patricia Hearst, kidnap victim-turned-revolutionary, ever gives herself up or is captured, she will face at least 20 state and federal charges. Newsweek magazine reported in its latest edition that a defense strategy based on the assumption she was brainwashed is already being mapped out.

The newsmagazine said Dr. Frederick Hacker of Los Angeles, the psychiatrist who has advised the Hearst family since Miss Hearst was abducted Feb. 4, is fashioning the basic defense plan.

Newsweek quoted Hacker, a specialist in the study of terrorism, as saying, "The only defense Patty has is a psychiatric one."

Boone owes $52,000

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Singer Pat Boone must pay more than $52,000 in back income taxes because a judge ruled he cannot write off losses in a land development deal on his 1965 and 1966 tax returns.

The U.S. Tax Court, in a memorandum filed Wednesday, rejected Boone's argument that the surrender of $92,500 in debenture bonds was a "business expense" necessary "to protect his business reputation as an entertainer and an endorser of commercial products."

Boone had put the money into a sagging real estate development company in which he held 19 per cent of the stock. The deductions were taken in 1965 and 1966, when Boone reported taxable income of $100,158 and $119,901.

The tax court called the transaction "forgiveness of indebtedness" to a company in which Boone was a major shareholder and said that was not deductible as a loss because it was "tribution of capital."

Champ auctioneer

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — Ralph Wade of Brush, Colo., is the 1974 world champion livestock auctioneer.

Once Wade started his spiel in a weekend contest, the untrained ear heard only a mishmash of gibberish. But the buyers, who served as judges, picked out the all-important bids from the constant barrage of sound.

'Power of good'

TYNEMOUTH, England (UPI) — Charlie May says he smoked his first cigar at the time of the Spanish-American war. That was in 1898 and he was 23. He rolled his first lawn bowling ball when he was 63. Now he's a month short of 100 and is still doing both.

"Bowling and rum and cigars —they do me a power of good," he said.

He said he once nearly had had to give up bowling because arthritis crippled two fingers and affected his game. He had the fingers amputated.

U.S.-Israel pact highlights

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Highlights of the U.S.-Israeli agreement signed today by President Nixon and Israeli Premier Yitzhak Rabin:

Nuclear —"The two governments will negotiate an agreement on cooperation in the field of nuclear energy, technology and the supply of fuel from the United States under agreed safeguards. This agreement will in particular take account of the intention of the government of Israel to purchase power reactors ... As an immediate step, Israel and the United States will, in the current month, reach provisional agreement on the further sale of nuclear fuel to Israel."

Economic aid —Substantially more U.S. assistance will be provided to "offset the heavy additional costs inherent in assuring Israel's military capability for the maintenance of peace."

Military aid —No specifics but an Israeli delegation will go to Washington to work out an agreement on long-term supplies.

Terrorism —The two leaders "condemned acts of violence and terror causing the loss of innocent human lives," a reference to tactics of Palestinian guerrilla groups.

Middle East —Support is reaffirmed for U.N. Resolution 338 which calls for recognition of the integrity of all states in the area and the rights of the Palestinian people.

Space —"Special emphasis will be put on exchanges of scientists and the sponsorship of joint projects."

Private investments — Negotiations will begin immediately for concrete arrangements to implement a general U.S.-Israeli business accord to include "the area of avoidance of double taxation."

Tourism —"The two governments will resume negotiations on an agreement granting landing rights to the Israel national carrier (El Al Airline) in additional major cities in the continental United States."

Culture —Israel will send two cultural exchange missions to the United States in 1976 for the American bicentennial celebration. They will include an archeological exhibition depicting "the Land of the Bible" and a tour by the Israel Philharmonic Orchestra.

Sea wreckage found, but 10 still missing

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — A 13-foot sailboat dinghy and two large sections from the cabin of the yacht Shooting Star, missing with 10 persons aboard, was hauled from waters off the Mexican coast by searchers Sunday.

"It would indicate there is a possibility the craft has been broken up," said the Coast Guard, which reported a 10-mile stretch of debris was also scattered near the recovered dinghy.

"The fate of the 10 men is still unknown."

The blue sailboat, one of two dinghys, known to have have been carried by the pleasure yacht, was found capsized in three-foot seas about 32 miles northwest of San Benito island off Baja California but there was nobody aboard.

Except for the white section of cabin material, there was no sign of the 63-foot converted navy air-sea rescue craft or any of its 10 passengers, including newly re-elected Orange County supervisor Ronald W. Caspers, 43.

They have been missing since they issued a distress call just before midnight Thursday from waters near San Benito Island, about 275 miles south of San Diego, Calif. They reported they were taking on water and in danger of sinking.

Oil nations try again to boost prices and taxes

QUITO, Ecuador (UPI) — The world's major oil exporting nations try once more today to convince Saudi Arabia to go along with higher oil prices and taxes for the rest of the year.

Saudi Oil Minister Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani has urged his colleagues in the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries to lower prices while the other 11 OPEC members are in favor of getting more money from the oil companies starting July 1.

Unanimous agreement is necessary on pricing policy. The final session of the three-day meeting will begin at 9 a.m. EDT.

Despite predictions by key members that an agreement would be reached by Sunday night, the 12 ministers, meeting without their aides, failed in a three-hour session to reach an accord. However, Iranian Interior Minister Jamshid Amouzegar, one of the most outspoken proponents of a price increase, was optimistic.

Ford closes four plants; massive layoffs loom

DETROIT (UPI) — Ford Motor Co. shut down four assembly plants in the United States and Canada until further notice today because a strike at a key stamping plant shut off the flow of auto and truck parts.

The president of the United Auto Workers union, Leonard Woodcock, said the strike could result in massive layoffs throughout the Ford system within the next few days.

A company spokesman said he could not confirm that.

The strike, which started last Tuesday at the key Chicago Heights stamping plant, halted production of such items as hoods, doors and roofs used in virtually all Ford vehicles.

About 4,000 workers went on strike at the stamping plant over failure to obtain a local contract agreement to supplement the national settlement reached last autumn.

The production halt led to parts shortages resulting in the shutdowns today of assembly plants in Los Angeles, Kansas City, Mo., St. Thomas, Ont., and Oakville, Ont.

The four plants employ about 8,900 workers and produce Thunderbirds, Pintos, Mavericks and Comet autos and light and medium trucks.

The Chicago Heights plant turns out about 80 per cent of Ford's truck body parts as well as auto hoods, doors and other parts.

Woodcock spoke at ceremonies in Chicago marking the installation of new officers of Local 588, the UAW local involved in the Chicago Heights walkout.

"The strike could have a crippling effect upon the entire Ford system," Woodcock said, "possibly leading to layoffs of tens of thousands of workers in the next two or three days."

General Motors Corp. also reported two plant shutdowns over the weekend —at Tarrytown, N.Y., and Van Nuys, Calif., where assembly lines are phasing out 1974 model vehicles.

W.H. meet called to find way to lower retail meat prices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's economic counselor, Kenneth Rush —who feels profits for meat packers and retailers are too high — called representatives to the White House today to seek a way to cut retail meat prices.

Informed government sources said Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz might also announce that government meat purchases for donation to schools would be expanded —a further move to aid farmers groaning under low livestock prices in a glutted meat market.

"The (profit) margins of the middlemen —packers, retailers —are unreasonably high," Rush told reporters Friday. "It bears scrutiny as to why those margins are so high.

Rush explained the goal of the White House meeting was to get food industry middlemen to lower their profits so consumers, who already have some retail reductions, can get the full benefit of recent drops in live cattle and hog prices.

Groups invited to the White House meeting, Rush said, include spokesmen for cattle and hog producers, rural credit leaders, and representatives of meat packers and supermarket chains.

Consumer demand must be revived, an Agriculture official said, so farmers can get relief from a squeeze that currently has beef cattle raisers losing $120 a head and more on every animal they sell. "The public discovered it could get along without meat," he explained. "Now we have to buy that demand back by offering meat at lower prices."

Supervisor Hayes sets up hot line

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Supervisor James A. Hayes, chairman of the courts system for the county, has received so many telephone calls on juvenile justice problems he's set up a "hot line" to process them.

Hayes opens hearings on youth justice problems June 26. The public telephone number is 974-1099.

Conviction upheld for federal judge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court let stand today the conviction of former Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner Jr., the first sitting federal judge to be found guilty of a felony.

In a brief order with Justice Thurgood Marshall not participating, the Court refused to hear pleas by Kerner's lawyers that a judge cannot be convicted in criminal court without first being impeached by the House and removed from office by the Senate.

Kerner, on leave od absence but still a judge of the 7th U.S. Court of Appeals in Chicago and drawing his $42,500 annual salary, was convicted last year of mail fraud, conspiracy, tax evasion and perjury.

In other major actions today, the Court:

—Ruled 6 to 3 that a state is not required to provide a lawyer to a convicted indigent when he appeals to the high court.

—Sent to the U.S. Court of Appeals an appeal by biology teachers of Tennessee's "new monkey law," revising the one involved in the famed Scopes trial of 1925, which calls for inclusion of the Genesis theory in the teaching of evolution. In a related case, the Court refused to hear an appeal in which Bible fundamentalists argued that Houston, Tex., must use school texts giving "equal time" to the Genesis version.

—Ruled that inspecting the outside of a suspect's car for evidence in a murder case is not the sort of "search" requiring a warrant.

—Let stand a lower court decision that allowing nurses to give tranquilizers to unruly juveniles at state correctional institutions is cruel and unusual punishment under the Constitution.

The Greek sets odds on Nixon impeachment

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jimmy the Greek Snyder has established betting odds on the chances of impeachment and conviction of the President.

Snyder told People Magazine the odds on Nixon's being impeached by the House are a "toss-up." But he said the chances of his being convicted by the Senate are 100 to 1 against.

Snyder told the magazine he based his prediction partly on a February poll of the House by his public relations firm.

With a 70 per cent return, that survey indicated that 91 members were against impeachment and 23 leaning against it; 64 were for it and 23 leaning for it, and 105 undecided.

But Snyder stressed that release of the edited transcripts of the White House tapes have made a "big difference," and that there may be other surprises in the tangled Watergate case.

"Who knows what's going to happen, like what (former presidential lawyer Charles) Colson is going to say," said Snyder.

Watergate anniversary

Has it been just 2 years?

By JOHN MILNE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two years ago this morning, security guard Frank Wills found masking tape on a door leading into the Watergate office building and called the cops.

That event changed Richard Nixon's life and put the word Watergate into the history books.

It was about 2 a.m. Sgt. Paul Leeper, and officers Carl Shoffler and John Barrett answered Wills' call and searched the building. Barrett saw the shadow of a man outside a sixth-floor office and yelled, "Hold it, come out!"

"They got us," someone whispered into a walkie-talkie. Five men wearing blue surgical gloves stood up, their hands raised. "Are you gentlemen metropolitan police?" asked James McCord, a security officer of the Committee to ReElect the President who was arrested in the office of Democratic party chairman Lawrence O'Brien.

The "third-rate burglary" — as White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler later called it —has become one of the most extensively investigated crimes of our time, a politically-motivated caper with the unreal quality of a spy novel.

The trail of the arrested men led to the White House, to the President's most trusted advisers, and recent public opinion polls indicate that many of the same people who overwhelmingly returned Nixon to the White House that year — before the rest of the scandal unfolded —now favor his impeachment.

A year ago today, former White House counsel John W. Dean III was getting ready to tell his story to the Senate Watergate Committee. He testified that Nixon knew of the cover-up, even participated. A Watergate grand jury has named Nixon as an unindicted co-conspirator and the Supreme Court said this weekend it would decide whether that citation is legal.

There are still unanswered questions about the break-in. No one has ever said for sure what the burglars wanted, and whoever knows won't tell.

O'Brien apparently was the target. Asked about the information the burglars wanted, deputy GOP campaign director Jeb Magruder said O'Brien was "certainly from our standpoint, their most professional political operator, (who) could be very difficult in the coming campaign. So we had hoped that information might discredit him."

Magruder told the Senate Watergate Committee this break-in was part of a plan proposed by G. Gordon Liddy, a former FBI agent and CRP employe. His partner was E. Howard Hunt, a former CIA agent and spy novelist who saw himself as "a member of a special investigations unit, later known as the plumbers, which the President had created to undertake specific national security tasks for which the traditional investigative agencies were deemed to be inadequate."

Hunt said the reason for the break-in was, according to Liddy, "that he had information, the source of which I understood to be a government agency, that the Cuban government was supplying funds to the Democratic Party campaign."

Other burglars had been recruited by Hunt in early 1971. Some were "plumbers." They were Cuban-Americans who remembered the Bay of Pigs and seemed like characters out of spy novels: Frank Sturgis, Eugenio Martinez, Virgilio Gonzalez and Bernard L. Barker, who explained himself this way in the Senate Watergate hearings:

"E. Howard Hunt, under the name of Eduardo, represents to the Cuban people their liberation. I cannot deny my services in the way that it was proposed to me on a matter of national security knowing that, with my training, I had personnel available for this type of operation."

On May 27, 1972, one of these teams —the exact members remain unknown —broke into Democratic National Committee offices and tapped a series of phones. Barker he followed Hunt's orders to look for evidence of Cuban contributions and found none, but stole and photographed other documents.

Across the street, in Room 419 of Howard Johnson's motel, sat former FBI agent Alfred Baldwin III, eavesdropping and taping what he heard. He said he listened to about 200 calls, some dealing with political strategy but others personal — "explicitly intimate," he recalls.

But the tap on the phone they wanted —O'Brien's —didn't work right, so on June 17, 1972, they went back. Barker, Martinez, Sturges and Gonzalez checked into $38-a-night rooms at the Watergate Hotel next door. Sometime that night, McCord put tape on a door from the garage into the office building.

Wills, a 24-year-old guard found it and took it off. He dismissed it, figuring it had been done by maintenance men and went out for coffee. The surprised burglars decided to break in anyway. They put on another strip of light-colored masking tape, a device burglars use to keep a door from locking. Wills found it again and placed his call.

Across the street, Baldwin was standing on the balcony. The lights on the 8th floor went on. He grabbed the walkietalkie and told Hunt, two floors below in the Howard Johnson's, but was reassured. "That's the 2 o'clock guard check," Hunt said.

Then the lights flickered on and off on the sixth floor. Baldwin saw two men, one with a gun, on the sixth floor balcony. "As I observed them," he testified, "I called over the walkie-talkie again 'base 1, unit 1, are our people in suits or are they dressed casually?' and the call came back "our people are dressed in suits. Why?

"I said 'you have trouble because there are some individuals out here who are dressed casually and who have got their guns out' and the guy on the other end went a little bit frantic."

Leeper said one of his men saw Baldwin on the balcony and wondered if the man would turn in an alarm. He guessed that because the policemen were wearing casual clothes — they are part of a special Washington Police squad —they gainsd enough time to arrest the men in the office, along with an overnight bag containing "various items, cameras, bulbs, clamps for clamping the cameras to the desk, walkietalkies,. things of that sort." He said the men also had $3,600 in cash.

Later, the sergeant said, he checked the register at the Watergate hotel and discovered some of the phony names were identical with ones at the motel across the street. In Room 219, where Hunt had been, he found $4,200 in brand-new $100 bills, some electronic equipment, and a black notebook with "E. Hunt, W.H." on it.

Perhaps the most prophetic was officer Barrett.

"I saw an arm," he said. "I stopped in the position before I entered the secretary's office outside of Chairman O'Brien's and I hestitated there because it was dark back in the partitioned area, and while hesitating at that partition I saw a man down in a crouched position as if hiding by stooping —when the shadow crossed my face, I was startled, and that began the whole mess."

Two years later, the "whole mess" looms larger than anyone imagined then.

Teams look for victims of mudslide

ACAPULCO, Mexico (UPI) — Rescue teams searched today for victims of a mudslide that washed away part of a hillside in this Pacific coast resort, burying several homes under tons of earth.

Police said the number of victims was not immediately known, although unofficial reports from the scene said at least 10 persons were missing and feared dead.

Torrential rains flooded Acapulco streets Sunday afternoon and loosened the earth on the hillsides above the town, authorities said, causing the slide.

Let's 'Open' up Pomona

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

It would obviously be presumptuous for Pomona to put in a bid for the next Olympics, and I think both the Super Bowl and the World Series are out of reach of the Kumquat Kapital of the Upper Chino Valley. But there is always the U. S. Open.

For the benefit of local hockey fans, the U. S. Open is a competitive athletic contest in which nobody hits anyone on the head. It is a game called golf, in which blonde young men chase a tiny white ball over the greensward until it falls into a tiny hole, called "the cup." It is a silly game — so silly that 100,000 people turned out to watch it at Mamaroneck, N.Y., recently, and the winner took home $35,000. How silly can you get?

Try to picture an Open in Pomona (Mountain MEADOWS?!) and envision what that would mean to the communities of what we now refer to as "the valley" — to distinguish it from other valleys. For openers, 700 motel rooms were reserved for players, press and tourney officials — how many more must have been utilized by the 100,000 spectators.

And these people have to eat — think how the local restaurants would be bustling! And drink — you could hear the bar cash registers chunkin' from San Bernardino to San Juan Capistrano. Air lines, car rental agencies, taxi cabs, cleaning establishments, sporting goods stores, barbers and beauty shops, gas stations and even banks and post offices reaped the whirlwind.

Since golf is not played at night — not the Open, anyway — the nightlife from the Los Angeles Music Center to the massage parlors of Colton shared in the cornucopia.

Unemployment? Forget it — for a week. Waiters, bar tenders, hotel maids, movie ushers, police, mechanics, doctors, pickpockets and muggers had more trade than they could handle. The Open staff in Mamaroneck had 100 concessionaires, 50 private security guards (in addition to off-duty policemen), 400 marshals, 260 scorers, 50 drivers of courtesy cars, 10 bus drivers and 80 hot dog vendors, who vended 90,000 hot dogs, a new Open record.

Hundreds of high school and college teachers were hired at $3 an hour for crowd control — they've had experience. Hundreds of workers were employed to put up bleachers and TV towers, to handle parking, to sell programs, to man the press tent and serve at the succession of dinners and banquets at the clubhouse.

It's just a golf tournament, but to the little city of Mamaroneck, about the size of Claremont, and the surrounding communities, it was a $3 million windfall.

Let's all get together and build a jazzy championship golf course and put in our bid. One Open, and we can all retire.

Bridge

Locating ace helps score

By Oswald & James Jacoby Jacoby

Some hands are fun for rubber bridge playes, but a real headache at match points.

South wins the first heart trick with his queen. A rubber bridge player counts nine certain tricks and leads either a club or a diamond. If he goes after the clubs he will wind up with 11 tricks since West, who holds the club ace, won't be able to clear his hearts and there will be time for South to set up diamonds also. If he attacks diamonds East will win the trick and lead his eight of hearts, whereupon South will have to settle for his contract without any overtricks at all.

How would an expert play this hand in match point duplicate?

He would attack diamonds first, but he would do so by playing a spade to dummy at trick two and then leading dummy's jack of diamonds. If East is smart enough to play the ace it is too bad, but the chances are that East will duck quickly. Then expert South will play the king! The reason for this play is to make sure about the location of the diamond ace. If West held the ace he might let the jack hold, but he could never fail to put it on the king.

Then, having located the diamond ace, expert South would go after clubs and wind up with 11 tricks and a good duplicate score.

Special shades

NEW YORK (UPI) — High intensity street lighting is an approved crime deterrent but it has a drawback. The stronger light keeps some people awake nights. Many people solve the problem with room-darkening window shades, says the Window Shade Manufacturers Association.

Chosen in pretty colors, the shades add a decorative note while they cut out glare.

Federal loans, grants

11 colleges in valley to receive $1,874,934

Federal education grants and scholarships totaling $1,847,934 will be awarded to colleges within the 35th Congressional District, Rep. Victor Veysey has announced.

Scholarship loan funds for 11 area colleges will total $1,239,293 and will provide 90 per cent of the National Direct Student Loan program, a matching institutional grant will provide the remaining 10 per cent.

Area colleges and the amount each will receive are: Cal Poly, Pomona, $560,195 for 1,336 students; Chaffey College, Alta Loma, $32,084 for 76 students; Claremont Graduate School, $69,119 for 164 students; Claremont Men's College, $37,301 for 89 students; Harvey Mudd College, Claremont, $22,101 for 52 students; La Verne College, $54,904 for 131 students; Mt. San Antonio College, Walnut, $227,194 for 542 students; Pitzer College, Claremont, $55,176 for 131 students; Pomona College, Claremont, $33,140 for 79 students; Sawyer College, Pomona, $99,092 for 236 students; and the School of Theology, Claremont, $18,258 for 43 students.

Supplemental education grants totaling $608,641 were awarded to eight area colleges and will provide assistance for approximately 873 students at the following colleges:

Cal Poly, $236,379 for 341 students; Chaffey College, $35,474 for 51 students; Claremont Men's College, $32,850 for 47 students; Harvey Mudd College, $24,004 for 34 students; La Verne College, $22,985 for 33 students MSAC, $173,241 for 250 students; Pitzer College, $63,103 for 88 students; and Scripps College, $20,705 for 29 students.

The elegibility for aid under the grant programs will be determined by financial need. The awards for individual students will range from $200 to $1,500 for academic year.

Each grant also requires that participating colleges provide an equal amount of financial assistance to the students from other sources of state and private funding.

The doctor comments

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have a gall bladder that is not working. Why is this ailment so common in older persons? Will a low-fat diet and no-gas foods control it? Why should it be removed? Is it really necessary? I am taking Donnatal pills before meals and Butazolidin after meals, which gives me relief. Are these harmful if taken constantly? I will appreciate any information you can give me. Incidentally, I'm 79.

DEAR READER — Doctors call such a gall bladder a "non-functioning" gall bladder. Remember that the gall bladder is just a sack to store bile until it is needed. Otherwise, the bile from the liver flows down the main duct right into the small intestine as soon as it is manufactured by the liver. A nonfunctioning gall bladder is one that can't fill or store bile for any reason.

In 97 per cent of these cases the gall bladder contains stones. The process that leads to the stone formation ends up causing the gall bladder to stop functioning. A stone may be lodged in the opening to the gall bladder blocking the flow of bile into the gall bladder. Or, the bladder may have been inflamed and remains as a scarred contracted sack with stones inside it.

We really don't know what causes the stones in the first place. Some people form bile that is very rich in cholesterol. The cholesterol settles out as crystals and begins the stone formation. There is some evidence that bacteria in the gall bladder contributes to the problem even if they are not the primary cause. The bacteria can pass up the bile ducts from the small intestine and into the gall bladder.

The stones that are formed may be mostly of cholesterol. These can sometimes be dissolved by medicine — a recent medical development. Other stones are small, hard, black stones formed from the bile pigments. Most stones are a mixture of the two.

There is no rule that a nonfunctioning gall bladder must be removed in every case. The reason many doctors want to remove them is that within 10 years 30 per cent of the patients with gall stones will have complications from gall bladder disease. This includes obstruction of the bile ducts with a stone, causing jaundice and liver disease, pancreatic disease, acute inflamed gall bladder, which can be a painful attack and lead to serious complications, and the possibility of developing cancer. It is equally important to note that 70 per cent of patients with gall stones do not develop complications.

As you might guess, in people younger than 50, most doctors agree that surgery should be done. From 50 to 60 there is a hot debate, and after 60 it is often not done unless there is already evidence of a complication that requires it.

Your medicines are fine if you seem to be getting along with them. I'm not sure why you are taking them. If it is for pain from gall bladder diseases that may be one reason for considering surgery at your age.

A low-fat, "no-gas foods" diet will help to prevent the indigestion symptoms from gall bladder disease. Such a diet will not cure the gall bladder disease itself, however.

Higher crime rate expected for Pomona; thefts will top the list

POMONA — Crime will rise 14.8 per cent this year, according to figures revealed by Police Chief Forest P. Wallick.

The projections for 1974 show a decrease in some major crimes, such as homicide, manslaughter and rape, but a continuing increase in others, including assault, robbery, burglary and grand theft.

Total major crimes in Pomona have increased from 5,566 reported in 1969 to 7,761 reported in 1973. The projected total for this year is 8,910.

"Thus it appears," Wallick wrote, "that crime will continue to rise in the future in Pomona as well as in the nation as a whole."

Explaining the rise in crime, he stated:

"There simply are more persons committing more crimes than ever before. It appears that many have departed from the moral controls which existed at one time. There has been a steady deterioration in the country's moral fiber and I see no relief in the near future. The deterioration of the tight family unit, with the strict discipline it used to involve, has led to a loosening of moral values and an increase in crime."

The major crime statistics for 1973 showed there were 11 murders, nine cases of manslaughter, 42 rapes, 340 cases of aggravated assault, 481 cases of nonaggravated assault, 333 robberies, 1,762 burglaries, 1,618 petty thefts, 1,491 grand thefts and 674 auto thefts.

The figures revealed that while crime is rising just about everywhere, it is rising at a more rapid rate in Pomona than in nearby cities of comparable size.

In a chart comparing Pomona with El Monte (pop. 70,000), West Covina (74,000) and Ontario (68,000), Pomona's crime rate of 8,720 led them all. El Monte's was 5,214, West Covina's 5,251 and Ontario's 5,336.

In statistics comparing Pomona's record of major crimes solved, Pomona's figure of 31 per cent topped the national average of 22 per cent. Despite this higher-than-average rate of solutions, the criminal here still has a 70 per cent chance of not getting caught, Wallick said.

In a report on the efforts of the department's Burglary Task Force, which has been operating just more than one year, figures showed that burglaries have continued to increase. However, Wallick wrote, the rate of increase is substantially less than the percentage increase for the two similar periods prior to the fielding of the Task Force.

More flexible approach at Cal Poly

No major required for frosh; counseling expanded

POMONA — For the first time in its 35-year history, Cal Poly will permit first-time-freshman students to enroll without declaring a specific major area of study.

Under the undeclared major program, persons entering Cal Poly as freshmen may elect to postpone their choice of major until the end of their third quarter classes. Transfer students from other colleges and universities, however, will still be required to select a major course of study at the time they apply for admission.

The change was adopted by the university following its faculty senate's evaluation of student needs. The results of the study convinced the senate that a program allowing freshmen greater flexibility concerning their choice of major would benefit many students.

Both students enrolled at Cal Poly and those who chose not to enroll because they were not ready to declare a major were considered by the university before the undeclared major status was approved.

Students who enter Cal Poly without declaring a major will be advised by the counseling center staff. A faculty committee representing Cal Poly's six academic schools will work with the director of counseling and testing services and the dean of undergraduate studies developing recommendations concerning the eventual establishment of majors for the students.

In addition, the committee will develop recommendations about class schedules for students as undeclared majors giving these students exposure to a variety of fields of study consistent with their experience.

U.S. gives scholarship foundation failing grade

Please help our local high school seniors and guidance counselors by checking on the authenticity of the American Education Foundation.

It offered a chance at scholarships to seniors and played down grades and financial need. It did require a $5 fee.

I sent in an application for my son and have heard nothing yet.

Sinclair S. Sinclair is the executive director of the foundation. The address is Suite 1000, Hollywood Equitable Building, 6253 Hollywood Blvd., Hollywood, 90028.

The California State Scholarship and Loan Commission sent out a special letter to say this scholarship offer did NOT have official approval.

I would appreciate any information you can get to help both the seniors who may have applied from local high schools plus counselors who guide them. — B.B., Ontario.

You enclosed one of the foundation's applications for awards ranging from $100 to $3,000.

It consisted of a four-page questionnaire ending with the warning that the application would be returned unless the $5 processing fee was enclosed.

Eligibility requirements were high moral character, good citizenship and dedication to American ideals plus citizenship or admission to the United States on a permanent visa. The deadline for 1974-75 awards was May 1.

It looks as if you won't have to worry about 1975-76 applications.

Our inquiry to the California State Department of Consumer Affairs brought a reply from the U.S. Postal Service that the director of the American Education Foundation was arrested for mail fraud on April 16.

The man who demanded high moral character of applicants was identified by J. W. Zemblidge, postal inspector, as Ernest S. Sinclair.

His case has been turned over to the U.S. attorney in Los Angeles for "further legal procedures." Zemblidge will inform us of the outcome.

A friend signed me into the Record Club of America about 3½ months ago.

I have received only three of six albums I was supposed to get. It has been about six weeks over the required amount of time for waiting. Twice before I wrote to the club but still the albums haven't come.

I joined the club for these records and feel that I should be able to get them.

Will you please see if you can correct this mistake for me? I never received a membership number so can only give you my name and address. — W. W., Claremont.

You listed the missing records, "Don't Shoot Me, I'm Only the Piano Player" with Elton John, "Houses of the Holy" with Led Zepplin and "Magician's Birthday" with Uriah Heep.

Five and a half weeks after we wrote to Record Club of America we received a copy of a message to you stating that the records had been shipped. It was another two weeks before you telephoned to say they had arrived.

A few days ago I received a catalogue from Breck's of Boston. In it was an announcement of "Breck's Dutch Bulb Sweepstakes."

When this company went bankrupt, it owed me $3.69. I'm still waiting for it. You at Action Line tried to help me.

How can the company have a big sweepstakes? — Mrs. L. R., Pomona.

John E. Rice, credit manager, explained to you and Action Line how the spring blossoming you wrote about was possible.

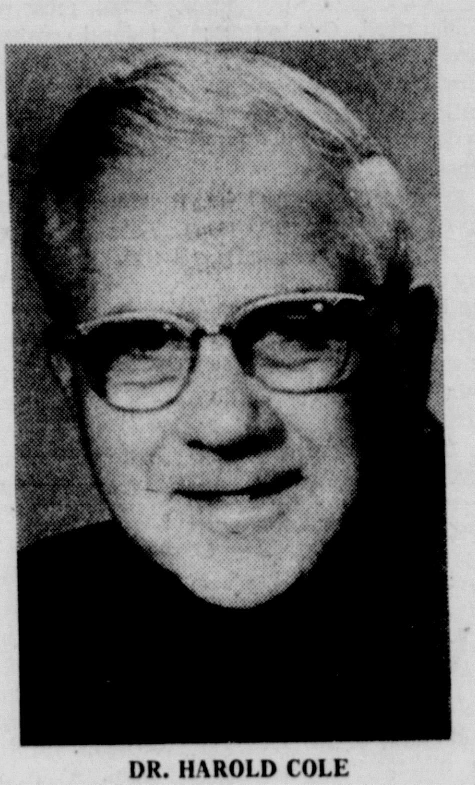
Early in 1973 Foster Gallagher, Inc., a mail order firm, purchased certain assets (and no liabilities) of the Joseph E. Breck Co., from the referee in bankruptcy, including the Dutch bulb mail order business using the trade name of Breck's of Boston.

Claims against the former company are in the hands of Paul W. Glennon, Referee in Bankruptcy, 1128 John W. McCormick, Post Office and Court House, Boston, 02109.

PVCH radiologist ending 40-year medical career

POMONA — After July 1, Dr. Harold A. Cole will finally have time to pursue his reading and golf game.

He's retiring from a medical career which began in 1934 when he started his internship at Lutheran Deaconess Hospital in Chicago after graduating from the University of Rochester Medical School.



DR. HAROLD COLE

Since 1946, Dr. Cole has been a radiologist at Pomona Valley Community Hospital. He has shared in the development of the radiology department from a one-room, scantily equipped facility to a complex center which includes diagnostic, therapy and nuclear medicine departments.

Dr. Cole served five years in the U.S. Army during World War II as a radiologist, including 28 months in India and Burma.

In addition to being on the staff at PVCH, Dr. Cole has served as a clinical professor at USC. He is a diplomat of the American Board of Radiology and a past president of the Pomona Chapter of the Los Angeles County Medical Association.

At a retirement party in his honor at Griswold's Inn, Claremont, Dr. Cole was presented gifts from his fellow staff members with Dr. Hugh Martin as master of ceremonies.

Dr. Cole and his wife, Virginia, plan to reside in South Laguna Beach. The Coles are parents of two sons and a daughter.

EDITORIAL Opinion

U.S.'s economic woes incurable?

An adviser to the government's policymakers is convinced no one has the ability to solve our economic difficulties. Not the President. Not Congress. Not the economic experts, government or private. Neither Republicans nor Democrats.

This is no usual man. He was at one time group vice president of one of the world's great corporations and is now a top-ranking consultant to a number of government departments. He has no solution and says: "my brain is not big enough."

We have become too inter-dependent, rich nations as well as poor, for food, oil, metals and other minerals and raw materials and for markets for our goods. It is impossible to forecast the actions of governments, logical and illogical, which may affect economic conditions in other nations. Inflation, shortages, recessions and monetary instability creep from country to country, continent to continent.

The roots of our economic problems reach into many countries and the resulting complexities are so great that human minds, however brilliant and however many computer they may employ, cannot cope with them. The situation is more difficult because what can be done economically to prevent disaster depends on what is politically practical. What will the President, any president, or Congress or the public go along with. No solution will work if there is not public acceptance.

Much lip service has been paid to the international aspects of our economic problems. A plethora of conferences has been convened these past years on world monetary systems, skyrocketing oil prices, or preventing producers of other raw materials from following suit, and on eliminating hidden tariff barriers.

Most meetings, unfortunately, have ended with a wringing of hands, pious statements and touted understandings which turn out to be agreements over trivia.

We have not adequately studied those international economic matters over which we have some control—the effects of U.S. funded multinational corporations, of Washington policies on international oil exploration and investments, of our encouragement or discouragement of investments in raw materials in Latin, African or Asian lands, of the economic aid we provide to countries around the world. We make policies and take actions in these matters piecemeal without understanding their overall effects.

Despite talk to the contrary, our government these past decades has given short shrift to world-wise economics and its effects on our lives.

The State Department fairly recently made its top economics man an undersecretary. It has not put him in the top echelon of policymaking. The secretary of the Treasury handles international economics with his left hand. Read the reports of the President's Council of Economic Advisers; note that blame for our troubles is laid internationally. There's an outline of how this happened but little real thought and less analysis (though considerable words) on how the problem can be solved.

The White House, too, has had an office dealing with these matters. It has had little influence and not a great deal of intellectual depth.

Truce and consequences

When Henry Kissinger undertook a spur-of-the-moment lucky 13th trip to Damascus he turned an apparent diplomatic failure into a highly important achievement.

The truce he engineered under which Israel and Syria agreed to disengage their troops in the Golan Heights and accept a U.N. supervised buffer zone arrangement just east of the two nations' common border ended a 79-day war of attrition that broke out shortly after the end of the October war. It was the first formal agreement they had reached since 1948, when Israel fought its war of independence.

President Nixon properly hailed the Secretary of State's success in this most difficult mission as a major diplomatic accomplishment. Just as properly he warned that there are "many difficulties ahead (in) achieving a permanent peace settlement for the entire Mideast area."

An indication of what those difficultities would include came in the Soviet-Syrian pronouncement that the truce was "a firststep and indivisible part of an overall settlement" which must be followed immediately by steps toward an Israeli withdrawal from all occupied Arab territory.

Despite difficulties to come, however, a roadblock has been removed, the consequences of which could mean a great deal to our hopes for Mideast and world peace. As in the removal of all diplomatic roadblocks, concessions had to be made on both sides. In this case the Israeli made the first gesture, dropping their insistence on Syrian guarantee to prevent Arab guerrilla infiltration, accepting instead a U.S. offer of political support in the event of Israeli retaliation should such infiltration occur.

Like all truces, it is not totally reassuring; but the fact that it came about and that its consequences could mean so much most certainly is.

Rodino panel relies on FBI

WASHINGTON — At the forthcoming impeachment hearings, the case against President Nixon will be based largely upon the work of the FBI, which uncovered 90 per cent of the Watergate conspiracy.

This will be awkward for the President who has always championed the FBI. After he graduated from Duke University, he even tried to become an FBI agent.

Those who favor impeachment consider it good strategy, therefore, to stress their reliance upon the FBI. Contrary to the public impression, it wasn't investigative reporters but FBI agents who dug out most of the Watergate facts.

The White House tried to head off the FBI investigation by obstructing the agents, throwing out false leads and crying national security. At White House instigation, former CIA director Richard Helms and deputy director Vernon Walters asked the FBI to lay off sensitive Watergate matters, falsely claiming it would jeopardize CIA operations.

But the FBI pressed doggedly ahead. Early in 1973, the top FBI brass checked upon the investigation to make sure it was being handled properly. Robert E. Gebhardt, who headed the General Investigative Division, reported back confidentially to Associated Director W. Mark Felt on Feb. 23, 1973:

"The handling of the Watergate investigation from the headquarters level through the field operation level was done in accordance with procedures, both administrative and investigative, that are customarily employed in any major investigative effort by the FBI.

"Among cases handled in the recent past in which similar procedures were followed are: the assassination of Martin Luther King; Capitol bombing, March 1, 1971; and major kidnapping cases such as the Barbara Jane Mackle case."

Most of the agents who developed the Watergate case, meanwhile, are still doing the sleuthing for the special prosecutors.

DEATHBED PROMISE: Friends who are close to the human Richard Nixon tell us he faithfully kept a promise he made to Dwight Eisenhower on the late President's deathbed.

Two days before Ike died, President Nixon paid his last visit to the old general at Washington's Walter Reed Army Hospital. "Dick," said the dying Eisenhower, "there's one thing I want you to promise me. I want you to be as good to Lyndon Johnson as he has been to me."

Nixon gave his word. Our sources say he squelched moves by his subordinates to hunt for scandals in the Johnson administration and use them to embarrass the Democrats in the 1970 and 1972 electrons.

"Would you go after Johnson?" he would ask. If he thought the revelations might hurt Johnson personally, Nixon would say no.

When Johnson died on Jan. 22, 1973, President Nixon ordered his full Cabinet to attend special services. "Earlier today," directed a January 23 memo to all Cabinet members, "your office was contacted with the request from the President that you attend the Rotunda services for former President Johnson . . ."

EPIDEMIC OF PILLS: The federal crackdown on heroin apparently has caused America's drug users to turn to pills and powders meant for medical purposes.

This is the import of new figures submitted to Capitol Hill by the Customs Service. The figures are based on Customs seizures, which often reflect the American drug scene more accurately than do drug arrests and convictions.

The new figures show that through April, heroin seizures have declined almost 68 per cent during fiscal 1974, compared with the same period a year ago. Opium confiscation is down 83 per cent.

Yet during the same period, the seizures of barbiturates, pep pills and other medical drugs have increased a staggering 371 per cent.

U.S. drug companies, large and small, must report drug sales to the federal government. To get around this, the drug companies simply are shipping the pills out of the country to foreign wholesalers whose sales aren't subject to U.S. inspection.

These wholesalers ship the drugs to smugglers below the border or in the West Indies, who bring them clandestinely back into the United States in crate-size lots.

Footnote: The ethical pharmaceutical industry insists it can't control what foreign wholesalers do with the drugs. The U.S. companies, however, ship huge amounts of drugs out of the country, knowing the amounts far exceed the needs for medicinal purposes.

Another kind of warfare

Just when it appears that antibodies may rid the world of war, with big war too devastating to contemplate and small wars too debilitating to tolerate, we let ourselves begin to believe that peace is possible.

Surely, we reason, mankind cannot devise any more hideous ways to wage war. Then suddenly he does.

The kinds of war we now call "terrorism" and "guerrilla warfare" are as old as Old Testament "pillage" with this difference: The Huns and Vandals carried off women and treasure as spoils of war.

Today's barbarians have found our Achilles' heel: They barter with the lives of kidnaped children. They use our sensitivity—our singular sacrifical love for our offspring—as leverage to blackmail us.

The Israelis, surrounded by hostility, cannot afford the luxury of a filial compassion which could escalate to their extinction.

When Arab raiders invaded a border village and held most of 100 Israeli school children hostage, the Israelis knew what they had to do and they did it.

They advised through Tel Aviv radio that capitulation was under consideration while in Parliament they stalled—until Israeli commando troops could rush to the scene.

Those troops stormed the schoolhouse, freed the captives and killed the captors. Yes, there was much risk and some died. At last year's Olympics a similar gamble cost lives. But any less forthright response and every Israeli schoolchild would be in jeopardy.

The FBI under J. Edgar Hoover always sought to discourage payment of ransom because, Director Hoover knew, criminals feed, grow and multiply in direct ratio to the timidity of their victims.

If political blackmailers can trade captive children for whatever they want, then the rest of us are no match for them.

Is there no option other than to sacrifice captive children? Israel didn't sacrifice them.

But neither did the Israeli Parliament pussyfoot. Nor did the rescue troops fool around advising the felons of their rights. Nor did they shout halt three times or say please even once. Nor did they diddle around with warnings or tear gas or stun guns.

They waded in throwing hot lead and left that vicious bunch cold dead. Of course, there will be other bunches. Even uncompromising counterattack will not exorcise the world.

But neither will the children of today's Israel cower piteously behind locked doors and shuttered windows hoping for mercy while their own fear feeds the insatiable carnivorous appetites of despots. Their parents have seen the end of that road.

Political reform

The reaction of voters to recent disclosures of political corruption, was clearly revealed in the California primary election on June 4th. One group of voters voiced their desire for meaningful political reform, while another didn't bother to vote.

The landslide victory of Proposition 9 should encourage the non-voters to reenter the political process by registering and voting in the general election in November. The victory also demonstrated that average citizens still have a say in government and that their patience toward political corruption is limited. For too long, some public officials have taken care of themselves first, special interests second, and the people last.

Unfortunately, the House of Representatives in Washington, is completely out of tune with the will of the people. Many incumbent Republicans and Democrats alike, are dragging their feet on political reform. Unless each citizen lets his congressman know how he feels about "politics as usual," little change will take place at the federal level.

The best way citizens can make their desires known, is to join one of the many organizations now working to achieve nation-wide political reform. Thousands of volunteers from the over one hundred organizations that endorsed Proposition 9, have shown what can be done if enough people care. But much must be done if America is to have the good government to which our forefathers aspired. Now is the time for all citizens to devote at least some time and effort to convince those special interests and politicians who did not actively support Proposition 9, that they must stop opposing political reform and, instead, accept it as the way of the future.—Peter P. Dawson, La Verne, Common Cause 35th Congressional District coordinator, Coalition for Proposition 9.

So they say

'Nobody really needs (a 25-foot yacht) when you get right down to it. It's not like a fur coat that will at least keep you warm nor is it a diamond ring that may be a good long-term investment."

— George Irvine, Jr., president of Chris-Craft Corp., discussing slowly improving yacht sales after sharp decline attribued to fuel crisis.

"The way the boycott weapon is being used now, it is a method of forcing union recognition outside the law."

— Washington, D.C. lobbyist criticizing the recent boycott of Farah slacks forcing that firm's management to concede to union organizers' demands.

"The voice is a very delicate instrument — an instrument that is the closest to one's soul of any instrument there is and because of that, it is the most sensitive and delicate.'

— Opera singer Evelyn Lear.

Gossip for today

Were it not for legal technicalities and judicial booby traps, the average American might not be groping quite so blindly in his efforts to develop a logical sense of morality. But in all justice to laws and lawyers I must confess that, thanks to one legal authority, I have at least learned the answer to the question: When is pornography not pornography? — A district attorney has set me straight on that one. He has ruled that you can legally show a sex film for free in a school although it would be illegal to show it for admission in a theater.

It's getting so a person can't even resort to a bit of righteous indignation these days without subjecting himself to extreme frustration and embarrassment. — I know! — I displayed a bit of unhappiness recently by sounding my horn when the car in front of me didn't get going as fast as I thought it should have at the light signal change. The slowpoke driver immediately stuck his head out the car window, waved, and smiling a beautific smile, shouted: "Bless you my friend!" It was then I noticed his bumper sticker. It read: "HONK IF YOU LOVE JESUS."

GARRY WILLS

The Special Olympics for special people

Recently I spent the afternoon watching young people jump higher and farther than I can, and run faster. They were all mentally retarded.

Each Spring Special Olympics are held around the country on the same weekend, and entries for them have been soaring, along with attendance and the volunteering of services. Last year I went to the Maryland Special Olympics in Towson, and it seemed to have only half the numbers that showed up this year.

Some, with a mistaken sensibility, find it sad to watch young people labor so desperately at tasks their more fortunte peers can accomplish without effort. Those who work regularly with the retarded will have none of that. Eunice Kennedy Shriver, who seemed to be everywhere during the afternoon, was often asked to autograph a participant's program. She would ask for the young person's name and write a personal message to him or her.

If the child stammered or got stuck, she did not rush on or smooth things over. She waited and prompted the child until the task was achieved. The whole point of the Olympics is to show what the retarded can do for themselves. Each name pronounced against the recalcitrancies of the body is a triumph of courage and will.

When a girl stumbled in a race, the coach was not there to comfort her while she cried. He told her to get up and keep going. There is too much to be done for people to stand around wasting their time. (That way, too, the coaches keep from crying.)

And the price in achievement is stunning. Young people with medals and ribbons on their track shirts came up to me all afternoon and began, right off the bat, telling me how they had won them. They were the real educators of the day.

For the Olympics are not meant only to show the children what they can do, but to show us. Mrs. Shriver made the point repeatedly by asking each child who was about to get out of school if he or she had a job. An encouraging number said yes. There are many things the retarded can do, and are anxious to show their hard-won skills at. The false delicacy that shoved them all out of sight is disappearing, but not fast enough.

Some people still think of all the retarded as simply incompetent, and all as essentially alike in this incompetence. Yet here were people proving that even some severely handicapped children can do much more than might have been expected from them earlier. And many others were superb at what they did.

They call these spring meetings the Special Olympics, and the title is more than a euphemism. Some children wore gold medals, and some silver. Others wore ribbons of various sorts. But these were only the small recent victories in a whole series of achievements.

To get here, each had to overcome obstacles that would have disheartened most of us. In that sense, they were all wearing invisible clusters of gold medals. They are all special.

Two receive Westmont Memorial awards

POMONA — The 1974 winners of the Scott McAlister Memorial Award at Westmont Elementary School are Erika Corle, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. I. Corle of 1666 W. Ninth St., and John Mattson, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mattson of 1683 Meserve St.

Annually the awards go to the outstanding boy and girl, selected by the faculty on the basis of scholarship, sportsmanship and participation in service activities and youth groups.

Erika and John received plaques and dictionaries at a school assembly recently. In addition, their names were engraved on a perpetual plaque kept in the school office.

The McAlister Memorial Awards are donated to Westmont students by Mr. and Mrs. Robert McAlister of Claremont in memory of their son Scott, a Westmont student, who died.

TV writer will teach at Pitzer

CLAREMONT — John McGreevey, Emmy-winning television writer, has received an appointment as visiting professor of television arts at Pitzer College and will teach one course next fall.

McGreevey has had more than 300 shows aired on the three major television networks since he turned to that medium in 1955. Last year, he was awarded an Emmy for one of his Walton series scripts, "The Scholar."

After earning his B.A. in English and theater arts at Indiana University, he sold more than 100 radio scripts in six years.

Among his live television credits were Philco, Studio One, Lux Video, Suspense and others.

Among his many TV film credits are scripts for Westerns, suspense, comedy, and drama, including Wagon Train, Ironside, My Three Sons, Owen Marshall, and The Waltons.

Water district in Walnut wins safety award

WALNUT — The Walnut Valley Water District has been recognized for its employe safety record during 1973 by the Association of California Water Agencies, the American Water Works Association and the State Compensation Insurance Fund.

The district had only one medical injury in 32,000 employe hours in 1973, officials said.

The safety record was good enough to earn a third place award in the Association of California Water Agencies' safety contest, cosponsored with the State Compensation Insurance Fund. Awards are based on safety data collected by ACWA safety questionnaire.

Walnut Valley Water finished behind Lindmore Irrigation District and West San Bernardino County Water District in its division.

As an added bonus of the contest, the Walnut district received an insurance premium refund from the State Compensation Insurance Fund.

Further recognition was received recently from the American Water Works Association, California Section Safety Committee, via a letter of commendation for "excellent performance in safety as shown by your report for 1973. . . ."

Army worms hit Ethiopia crops

ROME (UPI) — A plague of army worms has hit a wide area of Ethiopia, destroying crops just planted following a severe drought, the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization said Wednesday.

It said the worms, which at one stage of their development become flies and may move with the wind as far as 62 miles overnight, have spread across 15,500 square miles of farmland.

Many India doctors not qualified, report says

NEW DELHI (UPI) — India annually turns out a large number of doctors who do not know even the rudiments of their profession, a government report says.

In its anxiety to produce more doctors the country has "sacrificed quality for quantity," the report said.

The document was prepared by the government's employment commission after interviewing 2,239 candidates in Andhra Pradesh state.

Nearly 14,000 doctors graduate each year from the country's 104 medical colleges.

"Medical students in India are badly selected, undertaught and over examined. There are too many students and too few teachers and the curriculum is not purposeful and co-related," according to a report submitted some years back to the government by the Indian Medical Association (IMA).

The government report said the candidates had no idea of the basic principles of medicine and were unable to satisfactorily answer questions on medical, surgical, and other emergencies.

Good antidote

Lukewarm water is a good antidote for broad-leaved plants beset by aphids, spider mites, thrips and mealy-bugs. Spray the plants lightly.

Violent weather toll rises to 16

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — The death of an elderly man injured in the destruction of a nursing home by a tornado last week brought to 16 the number of Midwest residents killed by the violent weather.

Henderson Smith, 82, a Drumright, Okla., nursing home resident, died in a hospital Tuesday. The Red Cross said at least 500 persons in 12 Oklahoma counties suffered injuries in the destructive spring turbulence.

President Nixon has declared the counties a federal disaster relief area. Damages may exceed $50 million.

Are You Shooting Craps With Your Headaches?

By Dr. Wes Helzer, D.C.

Dr. Wes Helzer D.C.

Americans have become risk conscious and unfortunately seem to be either "less concerned about risks or more willing to take chances." In short, there seems to be an increasing emphasis on gambling.

We all too often laugh at danger in our everyday lives. We exceed the prescribed speed limit, we smoke, we put off all sorts of preventive maintenance around the home because we're willing to risk accident, illness and costly repairs.

The biggest gamble is in the health area, however.

As far as I'm concerned, you're gambling with your health if you gulp pills and potions every time you have a headache.

People laugh at the fine print on a pain killer bottle. "Temporary relief" it will always say.

Is that what a person really wants? Here today, gone tomorrow . . . back again the next day? I would think they would want to be rid of them once and for all.

Of course, an occasional headache doesn't always stop with an occasional reoccurrance. There's always a chance of migraine.

That's not to say that every headache is a migraine.

You'll need only one with its zig-zag flashes, nausea, and depression to tell you that.

But you'll never find a migraine that doesn't start with a headache.

Believe me, it's a throbbing, excruciating pain.

It has often been pointed out if you have occasional headaches do what so many migraine sufferers do. They seek specialized, effective care.

Life doesn't have to be a slow run downhill to pain killers. If you're a headache sufferer you're shooting craps with your health if you don't seek permanent correction of your problem.

And, incidentally, the odds are in your favor if you do.

Sets tea mark, then celebrates with beer

BELFAST (UPI) — Queen's University student William McLaughlin claimed the tea-drinking championshiip recently by swilling three gallons in less than five hours.

McLaughlin drank 60 cups of tea, surpassing the Guinness book of records champion who drank 54.

McLaughlin celebrated the record by following up with a half-pint of beer.

Now some jobs are worth more in today's Army.

Take a look at the challenging jobs below.
Not everyone can get them. You must qualify first. But, if you can, you'll be eligible for our $1500—$2500 "Cash Bonus Option."
And most of the jobs are open to women.
The amount of bonus depends on the job. You'll be expected to serve a 4-year enlistment. But, the bonus will be paid in a lump sum when you complete your training. (In most cases 16 weeks.)
You'll receive expert instruction. You'll be trained with the actual equipment you'll use on the job. And you'll learn a skill that could lead you to a successful career in civilian life, as well as the Army.
Here are some of the jobs:

- Construction Machinery Operator
- Missile Crewman
- Missile Repairman
- Electronic Repairman
- Electrical Instrument Repairman
- Radio Teletype Operator
- Map Draftsman
- Radar Crewman
- Radar Mechanic
- Radio Mechanic
- Electronic Technician
- Telephone Repairman
- Tank Mechanic
- Electrical Plant Operator
- Inventory Clerk

Ask your Army Representative about our $1500-$2500 "Cash Bonus Option."
Or call 800-523-4800. In Pa., 800-462-4955.
The jobs are demanding. But the rewards are great.

Oldest piano in New York

Am asked the whereabouts of the world's oldest existing piano. Believe that's still in the metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City, is it not? Was put together by one Bartolomeo Cristofori in Florence, Italy. In 1720. That was one year after the first street lantern in this country was erected in Boston. And one year before France sent 25 prostitutes to Louisiana to attract Candian settlers.

Thirty years ago and earlier, only 6 per cent of the country's college students were married. On a lot of campuses now, nearly 33 per cent are married.

The housewife in Norway is guaranteed by law a week-long vacation annually.

That grass skirt isn't native to Hawaii, but to Samoa, sir.

Autos

Q. "How long did it take the auto makers to put together a car before Henry Ford set up his assembly line? How about after?"

A. Before, 12 hours 30 minutes. After, 1 hour 33 minutes. In 1914.

Q. "Louie, is there any case on record of a man being named after a flower? Like a woman might be called Rose? Or Lily?"

A. Know of nonesuch. Do recall once bumping into an old boy with the middle name of Ivy, but believe that was a surname on his mother's side.

Q. "Can a Federal judge, if convicted in an impeachment, be pardoned by the President?"

A. No, sir, can't happen.

Queries from clients

Q. "What position in baseball years ago was known as the pigtail?"

A. That was the kid who ranged behind the catcher to retrieve wild pitches. Before backstops.

Q. "What's a 'versatrans'?"

A. factory-floor robot that does just about everything except the schottische.

Q. "What proportion of the newborn babies around here go home from the hospital on prepared formula instead of mother's milk?"

A. Three out of four.

For Tuesday, June 18

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You have a lot of good ideas today, but you're likely to do more talking about them than putting them to use.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Some confusion will result if you're not extra careful with the way you handle your business and financial affairs.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll be able to awaken enthusiasm and support from everyone today, but the one you really need. You'll have to light a special fire.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Limit your spending today to household items and basic needs. Contracting for special services requires more looking around.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Someone in your threesome today will cause you some type of complication, if you let her take over and run things.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A situation where you've put yourself out on the limb has a flaw in its foundation. Try to get to the root of the problem.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A plan you have is feasible if it is worked out the way you envision it. However, another party will try to muddle things up.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A situation where you share a joint interest needs some looking into. All isn't as well as it appears on the surface.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Leave yourself a little more room to negotiate today. You're apt to change your mind after you've made an agreement.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan 19) Your aims and ambitions will not be in line with those of a co-worker. This will have a diluting effect upon your efforts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're likely to treat a serious situation too lightly. Instead of solving the problem, you'll just postpone it.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your present endavor lacks a sturdy foundation and it is apt to fall apart as soon as it is subjected to pressure.

your birthday June 18

This will be a busy year for you socially with many short trips. Don't jump into new partnerships with casual contact.

Irwin likes profile

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (UPI) — As the new holder of golf's most prestigious prize, sternfaced Hale Irwin faces a major identity crisis.

He has to decide whether to go on being his own colorless self, or to become a second Jack Nicklaus.

Irwin, a former football standout at Colorado, presented this perplexing problem for himself after winning the U.S. Open championship Sunday, coming from one shot off the pace to beat Forrest Fezler by two strokes. Tied for third, another shot back, were Bert Yancey and Lou Graham.

Although a competent golfer who has shown strong improvement since joining the tour in 1968, Irwin hasn't portrayed the same kind of public image as such other men as Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino and Gary Player. While it doesn't particularly concern him, a victory such as the one that earned him $35,000 on Sunday does leave people asking, "Hale who?"

"I like having a low profile," the handsome, dark-haired Irwin said. "I can't say I want to be anonymous, but I think there's a time and a place for everything. I haven't felt before this that I deserved to be in the spotlight.

"I'm not going to change now. This is just one tournament—needless to say a very big one—and it'll be good for me, good for my ego. But that doesn't mean I'll be something I'm not. I won the way I am. If that means being anonymous, I can't help it."

One asset that could help Irwin attain public recognition is that he speaks straight. He answers questions in a forthright manner—albeit it sounds at times as if he is lecturing—but he is honest. And that's where the part about being a Nicklaus comes in.

In talking about what comes next for him, Irwin wasn't prepared to make any reckless commitments. But he believes earnestly that he can't stop here, that he must move to a higher plateau.

"There'll be a reckoning after I have time to absorb what has happened," he said. "By that I mean a re-evaluation of my goals. Now that I have achieved this particular goal, I want to go on to something bigger. Maybe two major championships.

"Nicklaus won 14. That's a pretty big goal. I don't think of myself as a Nicklaus, but that's a pretty good goal to shoot at."

Obviously, if he comes anywhere near his target, Irwin will have to shed his cloak of anonymity.

Irwin's first major triumph fell something short of artistic merit as he shot no better than a three-over-par 73 for his final round, with four bogeys on the final nine, and his winning score of 287 was seven over par for the tournament, the highest by an Open champion in 11 years.

Most of the credit for the incredibly high scores, though, must go to the tortuous Winged Foot Golf Club, whose 6,961 yards yielded only eight subpar rounds during the four days. Irwin was unable to better par once—his best effort being an even-par 70 on Friday —and neither did Fezler, who closed with a 70.

Irwin, who said he had a dream three weeks ago that he would win the Open, took control in his own mind on the ninth hole when he sank a 35-foot birdie putt that put him in the lead for good over his playing partner and friend, Tom Watson.

"I felt a lot better when I made that putt," he said. "I felt that being on top I was driving the car and they would have to find me."

They couldn't. Watson, after carrying a one-stroke lead into the final round, folded with a closing 79 that placed him at 292, in a tie for fifth place with Palmer, who had a 76, and Jim Colbert, with a 74.

"It looks like I blew it, and you can say I blew it," said the 24-year-old Watson, still seeking his first tour victory although he has on three occasions been the leader going into the final round. "Whenever you lose, you have the same feeling. It grips in your gut and it tears you up."

Player, the first-round leader, closed with a 73 to tie Tom Kite for eighth place at 293, and another stroke back were Nicklaus, who turned in a closing 69, and Buddy Allin, with a 73. Johnny Miller, the defending Open champion who admitted that he has lost his competitive desire after winning five tournaments this year, never was in it and his final round 77 left him at 302, 15 strokes off the pace.

"I haven't shot this high since turning pro five years ago," Miller said. "There's a lot of extra pressure put on the defending champion, too much pressure. But then again, there was also just too much golf course."

With Watson dropping off on the back nine, it was the mustachioed Fezler, a nonwinner on the tour, who presented the only real challenge to Irwin. Fezler was only a shot behind as he teed off on the 18th hole, but he knocked himself out when he hit his second shot into thick rough short of the green and took three to get home for a bogey.

It was just about the same time that Irwin was facing a 10-foot putt to save par on the 17th hole.

"I didn't know what Fezler did on the 18th," Irwin related. "I knew I had to make my putt to get at least a tie. It was a left to right downhill putt, just the kind you don't want. It broke six inches and it was the best putt of the tournament. Shortly after I made it, I learned Fezler had bogeyed."

And it was just a few minutes after that that the U.S. Open had a new champion.

Aztecs' winning streak snapped by Earthquakes

By ADRIAN MERCADO
P-B Correspondent

LOS ANGELES — The San Jose Earthquakes rumbled at East Los Angeles College Stadium, and by the time the dust settled, the scoreboard showed a 2-1 victory for the visitors over the Los Angeles Aztecs.

The Aztecs, who had established an eight game record in the North American Soccer League, saw their winning streak ended by an aggressive and determined San Jose squad before 6,130 fans.

Los Angeles did not have a good afternoon, and committed many errors which could have put them behind early in the game. Twenty five minutes into the first half, right back Jose Lopez misjudged a header and almost deflected it into his own net; only a leaping fingertip push by goalie Blas Sanched saved a sure goal by hitting the ball over the crossbar.

At the 41-minute mark, Jerry Kazarian of the locals shot the ball past Earthquake goalie Mirko Stojanovic. As the ball was about to enter the net teammate Renato Costa, for some unknown reason, headed the ball away from the goal. Douglas McMillan, the current NASL leading scorer gave a leading pass to Reanto Costa who wasted the opportunity by shooting wide to the right, at the 42nd minute. San Jose, on the other hand, also missed several scoring opportunities, and Aztec goalie Blas Sanchez made outstanding saves. The first half ended at a scoreless tie.

The NASL leaders used up their two allowable substitutions at the start of the second half by replacing UCLA's Jose Lopez with Ricardo De Rienzo and subbing Uri Banhoffer for Peter Filotis. At the 49th minute, De Rienzo saved a goal by stopping a shot at the goal line while his goalie was sprawled on the ground.

Baseball school accepting entries

POMONA — Late registration for the Bobby Valentine-Tommy Lasorda Baseball School, which is being held at Ralph Welch Park in Pomona, will be accepted from 8:30-9 Tuesday morning at the park.

Boys who do apply for late registration will be able to attend classes Tuesday through Friday.

The school at Welch Park is being conducted all this week, with a $30 registration fee required. The school is open for boys from the ages of 9 to 17.

Valentine will be helping some of the area baseball coaches at the school Tuesday and Wednesday. Then LaSorda and Tom Paciorek will be conducting classes Thursday and Friday.

The school is being held from 9 a.m.-12 p.m. for the five days.

At the school, the boys will be divided into groups with players of their own age and ability to enable more individual professional instruction.

Freitas, Swann teammates again

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — When quarterback Jesse Freitas of San Diego State and flanker Lynn Swann of University of Southern California team up for the West in the Coaches' All-America game Saturday night at Lubbock, Tex., it will be a reunion.

They were high school teammates at Foster City.

"I'm excited about it, no question about that," Swann said. "Jesse and I look forward to our reunion—that same old combination on the 50-yard line and in the end zone."

Swann was USC's all-time leading receiver. After starting at Stanford, Freitas transferred to San Diego State and set several passing marks.

Sutton faces Pirates tonight

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

PITTSBURGH — If the Dodgers play their average game, they should do all right in the series with the Pirates beginning tonight.

In 64 games to date, Walter Alston's hard-hitting crew has scored 354 runs, an average of slightly over 5½ runs per game. But they may need to be right up to their average in tonight's contest.

Don Sutton (6-5) carries a 4.27 earned run average into the game against the Bucs' Ken Brett (7-4). The Pirates climbed out of the Eastern Division cellar Sunday with their win over the Giants.

Meanwhile, the Dodgers toppled the New York Mets and Tom Seaver (3-6) into the basement. Andy Messersmith (7-2) hurled a jewel of a five-hitter. The "Baron" saw his consecutive scoreless inning streak ended at 35, but was in charge all the way in a five-hit, 7-1 victory.

After the game, the Dodger pitcher had a confession to make that came as a surprise to many people.

"I've never been able to throw the curve for a strike consistently until this year," Messersmith revealed. "But this year I have been able to break it off consistently, especially the last four games.

"I could always throw a big rainbow and people would go 'ooh, what a great curve ball,' but I haven't been able to get it over for a strike."

Sunday's win enabled the Dodgers to stay seven games ahead of Cincinnati in the National League West.

Messersmith kept the New Yorkers away from home plate for eight and 2-3 innings. After retiring Felix Millan and Cleon Jones in the ninth, Messersmith gave up a double to Rusty Staub and a single to John Milner for the Mets' only run and the first earned tally scored off Messersmith in 35 and 2-3 innings.

"I think I'm pitching damn near as well as I can right now," the husky righthander remarked.

In his last four starts, Messersmith has blanked the Cubs 10-0 on a six-hitter; shutout the Pirates 6-0 on a five-hitter; lost a four-hitter to the Cardinals 1-0 on an unearned run; and beaten the Mets.

His ERA now is down to 2.27.

"It's been a good year from the start," Messersmith continued. "I've been drawing a lot of good pitchers on my starts or I think my record would be a lot better. I think I have pitched 13 quality games out of my 15 starts.

"Today, I had good command of three pitches, my curve, changeup and fastball."

The last time Messersmith and Seaver hooked up neither was the pitcher of record as the Dodgers won in 14 innings, 2-1, on May 1. Messersmith went 11 innings in that game at Dodger Stadium giving up one earned run.

Seaver hurled 12 innings that day and completely dominated the Dodgers except for a homer by Steve Garvey. "Tom Terrific" struck out 16 and walked only two while allowing three hits, including Garvey's roundtripper.

For the first six innings Sunday, he looked just as good. The one-time USC star gave up only two hits, struck out seven and walked two, one intentionally.

But he lost his magic in the seventh. Jimmy Wynn led off with his fourth triple of the year on an 0-2 pitch. Garvey hit the same pitch for a single to break a scoreless deadlock.

Seaver's troubles were only beginning. Willie Crawford bounced a 1-2 pitch over the glove of Milner at first and Garvey raced around to third. On a 1-1 count, Ron Cey lined a single to left scoring Garvey. Steve Yeager grounded out and the runners advanced to second and third.

Dave Lopes was walked intentionally. That brought up Messersmith, who battles as hard at bat as he does on the mound. The Dodger pitcher worked the count to 3-2, fouled off two pitches, and then walked on a ball both the umpire and Messersmith thought was low.

Crawford trotted across the plate as Seaver stormed in to protest. The Met star was still muttering and gesturing as he stalked off the field to be replaced by Bob Miller, the well-traveled reliever.

Miller gave up a soft-line single to leadoff man Bill Buckner scoring both Cey and Lopes. Generous scoring gave Bill Russell an infield hit, loading the bases again. But Miller fanned Wynn, up for the second time in the inning, and got Garvey on a fly ball.

Walks to Cey and Lopes and Messersmith's single brought a run in the eighth inning. Garvey's 13th home run and 55th run batted in gave the Dodgers a 7-0 lead in the ninth.

DODGER DATA: It rained right up to noon Sunday in New York and the game was played under cloudy skies. The Dodger plane remained on the ground after the players had boarded for an hour and 15 minutes before taking off. Extremely turbulent air was encountered enroute from New York to Pittsburgh, and their were some white knuckles plainly visible.

New York's Shea Stadium is in the takeoff pattern of planes leaving nearby LaGuardia Field. By actual count, between 23 and 29 jet airliners flew over the stadium during each ballgame.

Garvey's home run in the ninth came off Jack Aker, who was making his debut as a Met after being purchased from Atlanta.

Angels' bullpen earns nickname--arson squad

ANAHEIM (UPI) — The California Angels' bullpen has drawn the colorful sobriquet of the Arson Squad because of its inability to put out fires this year.

Bobby Winkles' relief corps lived up to the nickname—and then some—Sunday.

The Angels took a 4-1 lead into the ninth inning against the Boston Red Sox and lost 7-4.

For California, it was the second loss in three games to the Red Sox following a disastrous 2-8 road trip.

"Losing a game like this has got to get you down some," said Angel skipper Bobby Winkles. "There's no doubt about that.

"But the great thing about baseball is you don't have to wait a week to get back at someone. Of course, sometimes I think we should wait a week to get back at someone."

Dick Lange took the 4-1 lead into the Red Sox ninth but was lifted after walking Dwight Evans on four straight pitches and giving up a single to Rick Burleson.

Exit Lange. Enter Barry Raziano.

"Obviously Lange had lost his stuff," offered Winkles. "And, naturally, you got to go to a guy who has gotten everybody out lately."

Raziano, who came to California from the Kansas City Royals in the Vada Pinson deal and then spent the first two months of the season at Salt Lake City, pitched two flawless innings of relief against the Red Sox Friday night. The Angels won 4-3 in 15 innings.

In fact, Raziano went into Sunday's game with a record of 16 straight retired batters.

But he gave up four straight hits after getting Dick McAuliffe on a long fly to right and, suddenly, the American League Eastern Division leaders had a 6-4 lead.

Carlton Fisk, the Boston catcher, broke a 4-4 tie with a two-run double.

After Carl Yastrzemski flew to center off John Cumberland, who relieved the Angels' reliever, Fisk was caught in a rundown between third and home and managed to score when third baseman Bob Oliver's throw to the plate hit Fisk in the back.

For the three-game series, Fisk was 9 for 16 to raise his batting average to .325. He hit his 10th homer of the season off Lange in the third inning Sunday.

The Red Sox receiver was severely injured by a foul tip in the groin area during spring training and didn't come off the disabled list until April 26. He's missed 19 games this year.

"It feels good to be healthy again," smiled Fisk.

Boston finished the day with a 3½-game lead in the East while the Angels found themselves in last place in the West 6½ back of Oakland.

Their bullpen has given up 62 runs in 122 innings and has only five saves all year.

California opens a three-game series with the New York Yankees tonight. Rookie southpaw Frank Tanana, 4-8, goes against the Yanks' Dave Pagan, 0-1.

All systems go for cage All-Star game

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

LA VERNE — In just a little over 24 hours from now, history will be made in the valley.

The La Verne Rotary Club will be offering the First Annual Pomona Valley High School All-Star Basketball Game at Claremont High, beginning at 8 p.m.

It'll be the first time an event of this sort will be presented in the valley.

Both teams have been practicing for two weeks for this match-up, pitting the stars from North of the San Bernardino Freeway against the South squadron.

Each team draws from exactly 10 high schools from their area, so all seems equal.

Or does it?

The South team, coached by former Chino High coach Frank Elder and assisted by Montclair High coach Lanny Moore, has been picked as a slight favorite over the North, coached by Claremont High's Jack Smith and assisted by Bonita High's Remi Tremblay.

The South seemingly has the height advantage, while the North appears to possess a little more quickness.

After a little over a week of preparation and with a week of practice still ahead of them, both head coaches took a look at their squads.

"We played around with several things," stated Elder, who came out of retirement to coach the South. "And we've decided to play two equally strong teams. We'll start one of the teams in the first half, but it may not necessarily be the best five guys we have. Of course, all the players must play in the first half. We'll see what happens in that half and then start piecing things together."

The South has four big men on its roster, but Elder indicated that he'll probably split them up and play two each on the two teams he's planning on forming for the game.

However, he did say, "We may play all four at the same time, and I wouldn't be surprised if that turns out to be the best combination."

The four he's referring to is 6-foot-6 Cleve Porter of Ganesha, 6-foot-6 Kirk Christ of Walnut, 6-foot-6 Mark Gosswiller of Montclair, and 6-foot-8 Tim Smith of Chino.

"The players' attitudes have been real good," added the South head coach. "They've been nice to work with. It's just that the hardest part is trying to get them all together at one time for practice. Between jobs and graduation, we usually have only about eight at practice at one time.

"We want to put on a show," added Elder, "but we also want to win. That's what it's all about, isn't it?"

As for the North, Smith has also been very pleased with the attitudes of the players.

"It's been outstanding," he exclaimed. "Most of the time we have 10 of the players at a practice, and that's pretty good, considering all the things everyone has to do this time of the year."

The North will have a slight home court advantage, since they've been holding practice in the gym where the game will be played. But the South will have a chance to practice in the Claremont gym tonight, with the North taking the court for practice immediately afterwards.

"I think our mental attitude will make up for the ability the South team has on us," stated Smith. "Right now, we're at a plateau, and I'm hoping we go just a little bit higher."

Smith narrowed the starting lineup down to seven players, when he had a week of practice to go. Of course, the starting lineup really doesn't mean anything, since all the players will see action at least in the first half.

The seven he named included guards Todd Ervin of Claremont, Rory Pernot of Royal Oak and Curt Oldenkamp of Upland, forwards Bruce Abraham of Claremont, Bill Berndt of Royal Oak and Greg McCrary of San Dimas, and center Stu DuVall of Upland.

ALL-STAR NOTE: At a recent dinner where all the players in the All-Star game were invited, some of the players told what colleges they were planning to attend next year. Here are a few of the choices:

For the South — Porter of Ganesha (USC), Mike Partington of Chaffey (UC Davis), Rick Antoni of Chaffey (Cal Poly).

For the North — Jamie Broecker of Alta Loma (Brigham Young University), Bruce DuVall of Alta Loma (UC Irvine), Mike Yarbrough of Pomona (Claremont-Mudd), Berndt of Royal Oak (UC Irvine), Pernot of Royal Oak (Azusa Pacific), DuVall of Upland (Claremont-Mudd) and Bill Karr of Damien (UCLA).

Big League race looks exciting

POMONA — Tranks to developments over the weekend, the Pomona Valley Big League baseball race is considerably closer.

Diamond Bar beat San Dimas 7-3 in the nightcap of their doubleheader Sunday after San Dimas had won the opener 8-2, thus shaving San Dimas' league lead to only ½ game.

Pomona American No. 1, paced by Jerry Loftis' no-hitter, beat Pomona Southwest twice Saturday night to climb within the ½ game margin. San Dimas now stands at 9-2 in league play with the Americans sporting an 8-2 ledger.

To make things more exciting, Pomona National also swept a doubleheader Sunday over American No. 2 to hold down an 8-3 record and cut their games-behind margin to only one.

Loftis started the weekend by hurling his no-hitter in the opener of a Saturday twinbill. The righthander from Garey High fanned seven and walked only one in his gem, which was his third mound victory of the Big League season and his second straight shutout.

American No. 1 also beat Southwest 10-1 in a nightcap contest Saturday.

San Dimas got a two-hit pitching effort from Rich Espinosa to capture their Sunday opener with Diamond Bar. Espinosa fanned five D.B. batters and was backed by two-run doubles by Tim Brown and Mike Kendricks.

Diamond Bar's Pete Liebrick stopped San Dimas' eight game winning streak in the nightcap, beating S.D. 7-3. It was Liebrick's second win of the year.

Pomona National kept pace by sweeping a pair from American No. 2 by scores of 11-2 and 4-3. Doug Seiner and Paul Bentley picked up the wins on the hill for National. American No. 2 also proved generous in the field, as they committed 14 errors in the twinbill which led to 13 unearned National runs.

A clean sweep in Legion play

La Verne and Claremont posted District 18 American Legion wins Sunday, while Montclair nabbed a District 25 double triumph.

La Verne Post 330 ripped La Puente, 19-5, at Los Altos High; Claremont Post 78 bombed Covina, 15-2, at Mt. San Antonio College; while Montclair outlasted Upland, 11-10, in 12 innings in a game which began Saturday night at 8:30 and ended well after midnight, then came back to best Redlands, 6-1, in Sunday's regularly scheduled contest.

In other Legion action Sunday, Rowland dropped a 10-3 District 18 loss to West Covina Post 790.

Post 330 had little trouble against La Puente. Harold Drake drove in four runs for La Verne, while both Bruce McNaught and Gary Zakem had three hits. In all, 13 different Post 330 batters collected hits, for a total of 22 La Verne safeties.

Zakem hurled the first five innings, fanning eight, to get the win. Bill Bumstead finished up with five K's in four relief frames. La Verne now stands at 3-2 in District 18 action and 14-7-1 overall.

Claremont Post 78 broke out of their slump in a big way against Covina Post 207. The Cardinals pounded out 18 hits to beat Post 207 easily. Paul Sokolowski, the 15-year old righthander, fired a five-hitter for the Cards.

Post 78 sent 15 batters to the plate in a wild second inning which saw them score nine times. Key hits in the frame was a two-run triple by Tony Janusz.

Sokolowski had three hits and two walks for a perfect day at the plate, and seven other Claremont batters collected at least two hits.

Claremont Post 78 is now 2-4 in the District and 8-9-1 overall.

Montclair and Upland tangled in a District 25 battle Saturday night, and Post 616 finally came away with a 11-10, 12-inning win.

Post 616 routed Upland ace Steve Iles with a six-run second inning, but Post 73 came back to score seven of their own runs in the third to tie the game up.

Mike Medeiros, who relieved in the ninth, fanned seven Uplanders to get credit for the win. Medeiros also scored the winiing run on Bruce Richardson's sacrifice fly in the 12th.

The Post 616 southpaw came back Sunday to hurl six innings in Montclair's win over Redlands Post 106. Don Pierce finished up with three scoreless relief frames, as a two-run single by Gary Baker in the seventh put the game out of Redlands' reach. The wins give Montclair a 4-2 District 25 ledger, while Upland now stands at 5-2 in District action.

West Covina Post 790 bumped Rowland off 10-3 in a District 18 battle Sunday, dropping Rowland to a 2-4 District ledger. Bryon Smith had three hits, including a first-inning homer, but it wasn't enough to overcome a 13-hit Post 79 attack.

Reds remain undefeated

GLENDORA — The Walnut Reds advanced their Thorobred League baseball mark to a spotless 6-0 Sunday by whipping Glendora 12-7 at Glendora High.

Even without Lance Parrish, who signed a pro contract Friday, the Reds banged out 16 hits. Jeff Corkill led the attack with a home run and two singles, good for four RBIs. Corkill is now hitting .594 for the season.

Mark Canavan also had three hits and four RBIs for Walnut, who put the game away in the eighth with a six-run outburst against Citrus College hurler Craig Hanson.

Bob Veselic hurled five grames in relief to receive credit for the win.

Walnut, now 11-1-1 on the year, will continue league play Thursday against Charter Oak at Charter Oak High.

Aztecs lose first game to San Jose

Los Angeles continued to be frustrated at every attempt to open the scoring; at the 52nd minute goalie Sanchez threw the ball quickly to Banhoffer who passed a long leading ball to McMillan — McMillan eluded goalie Stojanovic and pushed the ball into the net, but the referee called the play "offside."

Seven minutes later McMillan took the ball on the left wing worked his way toward the goal and crossed a "banana" pass around a defender to Jerry Kazarian who pounced on it and took a right-footed shot that hit the net before the goalie could react to give the Aztecs a 1-0 lead.

Apparently, while going for the ball, Kazarian re-injured his right knee and, for all practical purposes, the Aztecs played with only 10 men as Kazarian stayed out by the sidelines hobbling and unable to help his team.

San Jose started pouring on the pressure and on one play, at the 59th minute, center back Ramon Moraldo miskicked an easy roller to him and the Earthquakes' leading scorer Paul Child scored his fifth season goal by shooting the ball past the much surprised Aztec net-minder to tie the score.

At the 41st minute, San Jose's right winger Art Welch, who had entered the game 30 minutes earlier, picked up a pass from defenseman Davie Kemp, dribbled within 22 yards of the Aztec goal and fired a hard left footed sizzler into the goal for the winning score.

"We were all hoping we could come out of this one with a win," said the soft-spoken Welch, "this is the greatest thing that could happen to us."

When this reporter asked Aztec owner, Dr. Jack Gregory how the loss would affect his team on their next league game against the New York Cosmos next Sunday he said: "It will teach them how to defend better against a pressure team that's on the attack all the time, and with one man out injured they (Aztecs) just couldn't stay under the pressure of that constant attack. You know what will happen when you are being pressured for a full half — one of the balls will finally go in — and it did."

CLIFF KING Says:

A "laugh track" is, according to one TV producer, "an admission that we don't know how to make our shows funny enough". When the material isn't very funny, a recording of laughter is used to remind the viewer that it is time to laugh. As might be expected, the "canned" laughter is usually much heartier than the situation justifies.

Some stars . . . notably Tony Randall and Jack Klugman of "The Odd Couple" . . . have refused to resort to the laugh track crutch. Many viewers, who feel they can spot a funny situation when they see it, appreciate their stand.

Welters sign for Olympic tiff

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Armando Nuniz, the world's No. 8 welterweight contender, and 10th ranked Billy Lloyd of Philadelphia have signed for a 10-round bout at the Olympic Auditorium June 27.

Muniz, 33-5-1 with 21 knockouts, beat Texas' Roy Barrientes in his last fight at Toronto, Canada, June 3.

Lloyd, 29-6 with 22 knockouts, KO'd Zovek Barajas in his last bout at the Olympic April 25.

Yankees drop rookie catcher

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — The New York Yankees announced Sunday they are returning rookie catcher Jim Deidel to their Syracuse farm Club in the International League.

The Yankees dropped Deidel in order to make room on the roster for pitcher Rudy May, picked up in a cash deal from the California Angels on Saturday.

Deidel had only two at bats with New York and did not get a hit.

The largest purse in Los Alamitos came in 1962 when Jet Deck won the $207,750 Los Alamitos Futurity. The former world champion's share was $93,265, another Los Alamitos record.

Baseball roundup

Lolich putting his game together

By United Press International

It was no sweat for Mickey Lolich.

The hefty Detroit lefty hurled his 12th complete game of the season and ninth in a row Sunday when he pitched the Tigers to a 3-2 victory in 11 innings over the Kansas City Royals in a game played in chilly 50 degree weather.

"The cold weather enabled me to go the 11 innings," said Lolich, whose resplendent pot belly first came to public attention in 1968 when he won three games, including the decisive seventh contest, against St. Louis in the World Series.

"The hot weather makes the bulky man sweat," added the 6-foot-1, 207-pound southpaw who posted his third win in a row and raised his record for the season to 8-7.

Lolich got off to a poor start this year, dropping five of his first six decisions, including the first four in a row. But complete games are nothing new for the Tigers' workhorse who led the American League in that department with 29 in 1971—before the days of the designated hitter—and in innings pitched with 376.

"I feel I've got it all together now," Lolich said after striking out 11 Royals and walking only two as the victory boosted the Tigers into a tie with Cleveland for second place in the East Division. "My arm wasn't strong early in the season. I wasn't pitching regularly every four days what with all the days off and rainouts. I was struggling in the beginning of the year, there's no question about it. But I've got it going now."

Aurelio Rodriguez, whose three-run homer in the ninth inning Saturday enabled the Tigers to beat the Royals 11-9, got the decisive hit again Sunday when he singled with two out in the 11th to drive in Jim Northrup with the winning run. Detroit got its first two runs in the first without the aid of a hit thanks to four walks and an error while Hal McRae's two-run homer in the third accounted for Kansas City's runs.

In other AL games, Chicago routed Baltimore 9-1, Boston rallied to beat California 7-4, New York topped Oakland 5-3, Minnesota and Cleveland split a doubleheader with the Twins winning the opener 3-0 and the Indians taking the nightcap 3-1, and Milwaukee edged Texas 4-3.

In the National League, Pittsburgh beat San Francisco 4-3, Los Angeles downed New York 7-1, Montreal edged San Diego 9-8, St. Louis topped Atlanta 6-3, Cincinnati blanked Philadelphia 5-0 and Chicago nipped Houston 2-1 in 10 innings.

White Sox 9, Orioles 1

Seldom-used first baseman Tony Muser led a 13-hit assault with a two-run homer, a double and two singles in pacing Chicago past Baltimore. The victory ended the White Sox' five-game losing streak, enabling knuckleballer Wilbur Wood to post his 11th victory and sending Jim Palmer, who never got past the first inning, down to his eighth loss in 11 decisions.

Yankees 5, A's 3

Ninth inning doubles by Elliott Maddox and Bobby Murcer, each of whom had three hits, and a sacrifice fly by Bill Sudakis snapped a 3-3 tie and powered New York to its victory over Oakland. Pat Dobson went the distance on a seven-hitter to record his sixth victory in 14 decisions while Jim Hunter, tagged for all 12 New York hits in 8 1-3 innings, suffered the loss to even his record at 8-8.

Twins 3, 1 Lndians 0, 3

John Lowenstein drove in two runs and stole four bases to back the seven-hit pitching of Fritz Peterson and give Cleveland its win over Minnesota in the nightcap. Peterson's bid for a shutout was spoiled with two out in the ninth when Craig Kusick singled home Rod Carew. Carew banged out four hits in the opener, including an RBI double, as the Twins spoiled Jim Perry's bid for his 200th career victory.

Brewers 4, Rangers 3

Designated hitter Charlie Moore singled home George Scott with an unearned run in the seventh inning to snap a 2-2 tie and give Milwaukee its victory over Texas as the Brewers snapped their six game losing streak. Jim Colborn went the distance for Milwaukee, allowing 10 hits, including a pair of homers by Jim Spencer and one by Alex Johnson, to record his third victory against three losses. Bob Coluccio homered for the Brewers' second run.

Reds 5 Phillies 0

Reliever Clay Carroll, called on to make his first start since June 8, 1973 when Roger Nelson came down with a sore arm just before gametime, yielded six hits in eight innings and won his fourth game for the Reds with ninth-inning help from Pedro Borbon. Joe Morgan had a homer, double and single and Dave Concepcion a two-run single to lead the Reds' attack which dealt Dick Ruthven his fourth loss.

Cardinals 6 Braves 3

Lynn McGlothen pitched a seven-hitter and struck out seven to raise his record to 9-3 for the Cardinals. The pitcher, obtained from the Boston Red Sox in a winter trade, also contributed three hits to the Cardinals' attack. Carl Morton, who yielded eight hits, including Darrell Evans' fifth homer of the season, suffered his sixth setback.

Pirates 4 Giants 3

Jim Rooker pitched a five-hitter and Al Oliver hit a two-run homer for the Pirates while Tom Bradley was tagged with his seventh loss. Rooker yielded all three San Francisco runs in the first inning when he had control problems but then settled down. The Pirates took the lead for good in the second inning when Manny Sanguillen and Rennie Stennett doubled for one run and Gene Clines drove in another run with an infield out.

Expos 9 Padres 8

Ron Fairly's run-scoring double climaxed a two-run ninth-inning rally which lifted the Expos to their victory over the Padres. The Padres had tied the score in a four-run ninth during which Clarence Gaston hit a two-run pinch homer. Barry Foote drove in three runs for the Expos as rookie Don DeMola won his first major league game.

Cubs 2 Astros 1

Fred Scherman walked Andy Thornton with the bases filled and one out in the 10th inning, forcing in Rick Monday with the winning run for the Cubs. Cesar Cedeno homered to give the Astros a 1-0 lead in the first inning but the Cubs tied the score on Billy Williams' homer off Larry Dierker in the fifth.

Stardust Mel gets second big victory

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Stardust Mel has virtually assured himself an invitation to the $150,000 Hollywood Derby by further tarnishing Agitate's claim to being the best threeyear-old in the West.

Stardust Mel, a California bred gelding, beat Agitate for the second straight time in winning the $55,300 Will Rogers Handicap at Hollywood Park Sunday.

Capturing his third stakes victory this year, the gray 3-year-old sped the 1 1-16 mile over the infield turf course in 1:40 4-5, just one second off the course record set by Pretense in 1967.

Agitate, the California Derby winner and third-place finisher in the Kentucky Derby, was turned back for the second straight time in his bid for his first Hollywood Park victory.

In his last start, the winter 3-year-old champion came in eight lengths behind winner Battery E. and Stardust Mel in the Argonaut Handicap June 2.

On his first try on the grass in the Will Rogers, Agitate didn't fail by much.

Agitate was beaten by a head in a photo finish after being overhauled by Stardust Mel at the head of the stretch.

"He probably would have won it if he hadn't been lugging in," said Agitate's pilot, Bill Shoemaker. "At that, he was going to come back and beat the winner in another jump."

El Seetu was a late-closing third and Park Bridge finished fourth in the field of eight.

Battery E., Agitate's and Stardust Mel's conqueror in the Argonaut, was fifth.

Trainer Larry Rose gave pre-race instructions to jockey Fernando Toro on how to race Stardust Mel and the gelding produced a $32,800 purse for his owners. Bought for $6,000 as a yearling, he now has career earnings of $129,800.

Rose said, "I told Fernando to let him run out of there, that he'd probably be laying third or fourth and to let him roll in the stretch. I didn't care if he went inside or outside. It worked perfectly and Fernando rode him beautifully."

Stardust Mel returned $9.60 to his backers in beating the 3-2 favorite, Agitate.

Miss Musket, the nation's top 3-year-old filly, came back from her first career loss last month by winning Saturday's $83,550 Hollywood Oaks.

In capturing the meeting's 3-year-old filly championship, Miss Mustket avenged her only defeat in seven previous starts.

Foster ready for Ahumada in title bout

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (UPI) — Light heavyweight boxing champion Bob Foster said Sunday no one will ever take his title away from him in the ring.

"Nobody is going to take it away from me until I'm ready to quit," Foster said on the eve of his record 14th title defense. "And I'm not ready to quit."

Foster, who many observers say has trained harder for this fight than any other in his career, meets challenger Jorge Ahumada of Argentina tonight in the second part of a closed-circuit boxing program that also includes the heavyweight match between Joe Frazier and Jerry Quarry from Madison Square Garden.

Foster, who last defended his title Dec. 1 in South Africa against Pierre Fourie, will take a 51-6-0 record in the ring.

"I've been fighting so long, it's just like getting up and going to work," said Foster, who will be the hometown as well as the betting favorite.

Ahumada, who is seven years younger and, at 5-10, five inches shorter than Foster, sports a record of 40-5-1, including 21 knockouts. He has notched nine straight wins since coming to the United States last September.

"I have a job to do and I intend to do it," Ahumada said. "I haven't come all this way for nothing. As long as I can remember, I've thought of becoming champion of the world. This is my chance, my big chance."

Foster is guaranteed a purse of $200,000. Ahumada is guaranteed $25,000.

Frazier, Quarry in tough battle

NEW YORK (UPI) — ...And then there were three.

Going into tonight's 12-round battle between Jerry Quarry and Joe Frazier, there are four top-rated heavyweights in the world—Jerry and Joe and Muhammad Ali and champion George Foreman.

Sometime tonight either Quarry or Frazier will drop out, and it would not be too surprising if the Joe Louis, the referee, counts to ten over the loser.

For Quarry, 197 ½, a loss will mean the end of a carefully rebuilt career which has seen the "new Quarry" fight the way they thought he should have fought from the time he made his pro debut back May of 1965.

For Frazier, 212, defeat will mean the end of his dream of regaining the title which fell from his head when Foreman humiliated him in two rounds in January of 1973.

Frazier was in the Madison Square Garden ring in January against Ali, in a rematch of their historic first encounter of March, 1971, when Joe scored a unanimous decision over 15 rounds. Their second encounter over 12 rounds went to Ali, the decision being unanimous, but close.

When Ali lost the first one, he set out to convince the world that he really had won it, and pretty much succeeded. When Joe lost, his dignity prevented him from protesting, but there were many—Quarry among them—who thought the referee seriously impeded Frazier's style that night. Others contend that had the fight been 15 rounds, Frazier would have gotten the nod.

Be that as it may, the fact remains that Frazier must whip Quarry or lose all hope of luring Foreman into a rematch. Note that he speaks of Foreman. Both Joe and Jerry believe that Ali will come to the end of the line against Foreman in September in Africa.

Quarry's worst enemy in the past has been Quarry himself. Irish as they come, stubborn and headstrong, he admits that he wasted five years before coming under the guidance of veteran handler Gil Clancy. And then there is the new wife, the lovely Charlie whose pretty face and figure mask a steel-like intensity to help her husband gain the heights he should have attained several years ago.

The fight itself probably will not go the distance. Neither man is a ring stylist. Both are willing, indeed eager, to slug it out. Quarry, loser in seven rounds to Frazier when Joe was at his peak in June of 1969, says he will not make the mistake of "going out and locking horns with a bull" as he did then. Nevertheless he believes that when he lands the big punch, Joe will go.

"Joe's gone back," he says. "The legs aren't the same, and the power is fading. I saw that in the Ali return, when the lefts that used to send guys kicking only slowed Ali down."

As for Joe's estimation of the "new Quarry" he just smiles and says: "He's the same old Jerry. You'll see once the bell rings."

Fight seats still choice

INGLEWOOD — Choice seats remain in all prices for tonight's closed circuit TV boxing doubleheader which feature Joe Frazier and Jerry Quarry in a rematch of their torrid 1969 title fight.

The Forum and the Anaheim Convention Center will show Frazier-Quarry, plus Bob Foster vs. Jorge Ahumada on large screen color. The show starts at 7 o'clock with the 12-rounder between Frazier and Irish Jerry, coming from Madison Square Garden. The ex-champion won their first meeting.

French Open honors go to Borg, Evert

PARIS (UPI)) — Bjorn Borg of Sweden turned 18 on June 6. He plans to get his driver's license in July. Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., was 19 on December 12.

The two teenagers swept to identical feats Sunday. With victories in the French open tennis championship finals they each won their second consecutive international tennis tournament.

America's No. 2 woman pounded Olga Morozva of the Soviet Union 6-1, 6-2 in the women's final. Long-haired Borg made a classy comeback over Spaniard Manuel Orantes 2-6, 6-7, 6-0, 6-1, 6-1 to become the youngest champ ever at the French competition.

"Never in my life did I think I could win the Italian and French championships back-to-back," Barg said afterwards.

But they both had done it. Two weeks ago in Rome each had won their respective singles championship.

But Rome is not considered on the same level with Paris and Evert said, "It's really a thrill to win my first big title. I needed to win this because it's the world's biggest clay court tournament."

Now both she and Borg will be shooting at the other two of the world's big three tennis competitions, Wimbledon in England and the U.S. championships at Forest Hills, N.Y.

SPORTS NEWS IN BRIEF

RICHARD PETTY coasted home first under a caution flag Sunday to win the Motor State 360-mile race — his first victory ever at Michigan International Speedway.

Six caution flags over a total of 40 laps kept the winning speed down to 127.98 miles per hour and also helped rookie driver Earl Ross to finish second in his Chevrolet.

JACKIE OLIVER ducked a punch from teammate George Follmer before the start of Sunday's Can-Am series opener and then managed to overtake Follmer, who was disabled by a flat tire, to win the race and the $10,000 top prize in Mosport, Ont.

JERRY HANSEN ran his winning streak to 19 consecutive class victories by taking both the semi-windup and feature events of the National June Springs on the twisting four-mile road America course Sunday.

SANDRA HAYNIE won the fourth hole of a sudden death playoff over Gloria Ehret with a par four Sunday to capture the $40,000 Lawson's LPGA Open Golf Tournament.

Miss Haynie, who picked up $5,700 for the victory, forced the playoff with a two-foot birdie putt on the final regulation hole of the tournament.

THE RESIGNATIONS of all but 10 of the Canadian Football League's 288 veteran players took effect Sunday, leaving training camps manned only by rookies and jeopardizing the league's summer exhibition schedule.

The "resignation walkout" followed a breakdown in contract talks Saturday night.

ANDY RAE of Australia has made No. 1-seeded Dan Lambert of Cal Poly San Luis Obispo a bridesmaid for the third straight year.

Rae, of University of San Diego, scored a 6-4, 6-4 victory over Lambert Saturday to capture the NCAA Division II Singles title.

THE HAWAII LEIS established a win streak of sorts Saturday night, whipping the Los Angeles Strings 24-21, for their second straight win and fourth victory in 22 World Team Tennis matches.

THE FOUR KISTLER BROTHERS of Riverside captured two matches apiece to advance to the third round of the National AAU Junior Freestyle Wrestling Championships on the opening day Saturday at the Long Beach Arena.

Scottish fans dancing jigs at World Cup

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — Scotish football fans poured into Germany today and danced jigs in the streets of Frankfurt in anticipation of their nation's clash Tuesday with world soccer champion Brazil.

But Brazilian manager Mario Zagalo gave the Scots, who beat Zaire 2-0 Friday, only half a chance of entering the final round of the World Cup.

Zagalo said Brazil would go through in Group Two with either Yugoslavia or Scotland accompanying it.

Brazil and Yugoslavia drew 0-0 in their opening match last Thursday.

The Scottish fans apparently thought different. Scots in kilts and tam o'shanters, shirtless, T-shirted or swathed in the national golden standard with lion rampant, flocked through Frankfurt streets and bars, clearly the most visible supporters from the eight teams which give battle Tuesday.

Today was a rest-day and most teams in Tuesday's games scheduled light training and practice sessions.

Tuesday's Group One games have Australia meeting West Germany in Hamburg and Chile playing East Germany in Berlin.

Group Two game Tuesday match Yugoslavia against Zaire in Gelsenkirchen and Scotland versus Brazil in Frankfurt.

NCAA tennis meet underway

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The 90th annual NCAA tennis championships get under way today with top-seeded Brian Teacher, a UCLA sophomore from San Diego, not scheduled to play until Tuesday.

Stanford's Alex Mayer, last year's champion, quit the Cardinal team just before the Pacific-8 tournament this spring. He has signed a pro contract with the New York Sets of the World Team Tennis circuit.

Bob Moose out for '74 season

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Pittsburgh pitcher Bob Moose, who lost a rib during surgery for removal of a blood clot two weeks ago says he won't be able to play again this season.

Problems not all that bad

By ROGER SPEAR

Q — I have recently read a book predicting economic chaos within the next few years. It suggests putting money into Swiss or other foreign currencies or gold as a hedge. Any suggestions you have to offer would be appreciated. — J.L.

A — Prophets of doom have been predicting cataclysms in one form or another since the world began, and people have listened because these predictions contain an element of truth. I do not suggest that our economic system is 100 per cent healthy — far from it. We have serious problems, as do all the industrial Western nations, with inflation raging at the two-digit pace. However, contrary to the opinion of the author of the book you read — who oversimplifies a very complex situation and comes up with temptingly easy solutions — the consensus of informed opinion is optimistic on our domestic economy. This is a viewpoint I share.

Supporting the view that the recession is showing signs of abating are: an upturn in the Federal Reserve Board production index, a slowing down in the rate of gain in consumer and wholesale prices, a decline in the unemployment rate and an easing in short-term interest rates.

As for squirreling money in gold bullion, aside from being illegal, you could be caught in a price squeeze and lose a lot more than interest. Recently, the Western nations agreed that central banks could sell gold on the free market, and the price of gold dropped $6 an ounce in one day. European central banks have a hoard of 1 billion ounces which, if dumped on the relatively thin gold trading market, would drastically affect the price.

Nor would I recommend switching to Swiss or other gold-convertible foreign currency. Look at the muddle at Franklin National Bank. They tried to outmaneuver their confreres in the international monetary market and ended up losing their shirts, their jobs and a lot of stockholders' money.

Atlantic salmon going the way of the whale?

LONDON (UPI) — About a decade ago one of the great mysteries of the sea —the feeding area of that noble fish, the salmon —was discovered by the fishermen of Denmark's huge island of Greenland.

The salmon gathered at the Davis Straits off the southwest coast of Greenland and then dispersed to the river of their birth in Britain, Canada, Ireland, Iceland and the United States.

Naturally when Atlantic fishermen realized the commercial value of what had been found, far fewer of the fish managed to reach their traditional spawning grounds. Some wound up canned and others on the fishmongers slab and for a while there was a lot of Atlantic salmon around the market place.

Now the supply is diminishing, prices are soaring, salmon gourmets are complaining and ecologists are worried that the fish may follow the whale on the road to scarcity and possibly extinction.

Salmon was over $9.60 a pound in London at the start of the season a month ago, a combination of a smaller catch and a rise in the standard of living with a consequent taste for more expensive fish.

Now with the season in full swing it is still out of reach of many people at $4.80 a pound — and this in a nation where salmon was once so plentiful that a century or so ago servants were protected by work agreements from being fed the fish too often.

The international outcry that led to an a agreement with Denmark on a quota of salmon from the Greenland grounds was echoed recently in Britain's House of Lords, some of whose members own stretches of salmon rivers. They were alarmed by reports Denmark had admitted the quota had been exceeded by 43 per cent in 1973.

Lord Wells-Pestell, for the government, said Denmark had expressed regret and there was no suggestion the overfishing was deliberate. The British government, he said, had made clear its concern and the quota agreed by the North Atlantic national fishery authorities would be discussed again by an international commission in June.

Viscount Massareene and Ferrard said there was scientific evidence that about 35 per cent of the salmon caught off Greenland are spawned in British waters, many of them artifically hatched by the owners of the rivers. Lord Wells-Pestell said he thought the figure might be even higher than that.

Lord Wells-Pestell said it had been agreed all fishing in the Greenland grounds would stop by 1976 with the exception of a quota of 1,100 tons for Greenland. He admitted however, in response to a question that there was no penalty for infringement of the agreement.

Lord Inglewood asked if government spokesmen were aware "that greedy fishermen proferred exactly the same arguments when the whale was threatened and very nearly succeeded in exterminating the whale. Will they therefore be extremely tough in this forthcoming conference? Otherwise the salmon will go the same way as some species of whale."

Brazil sugar

BRASILIA (UPI) — Brazilian sugar exports for 1974 are expected to reach a level of 2.4 million tons, according to the Sugar and Alcohol Institute.

Brazil is the world's secocd largest exporter of sugar. The first is Cuba.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — "May has lived up to its tradition of being a difficult month for the market, but there were some positive signs as it came to an end last week to suggest that June should be better and this could become apparent quite early in the month," says E. F. Hutton & Co. The breadth figures are improving and the number of new daily lows seem to be dwindling, it continues. "There were 498 new lows last week," the firm adds, "well below the 776 the previous week at higher market levels.

"There is a growing feeling among participants in the money markets that a peak in interest rates is near," according to Continental Bank of Chicago. But credit demand will determine the futures of interest rates, the bank says. At the moment commercial bank loan demand has eased, but the Federal Reserve Board recently reported a sharp jump in major money center bank loans, it notes. "It seems likely that the monetary authorities will require further evidence that credit demands are slowing in the next few weeks before taking any action which would support a market rally," the bank adds.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market has headed downward in light of the increasing prime rate and little other news to cheer it, according to Merkin & Co. Although some industrial stocks showed some strength recently, "the overall market breadth has been weak, with deterioration occurring practically across the board among secondaries."

"The market remains closely attuned to interest rates," according to Standard & Poor's Corp. Even if the upward pressure on interest rates is easing, investors need more concrete evidence of a brighter monetary climate, the firm continues. "Prudence suggests a standpat attitude pending more positive monetary signals, which could spur a worthwhile advance in stock prices," it notes.

"The bond market has turned into a disaster area," says Argus Research Corp., with underwriters suffering large losses on new issues and buyers finding their purchases soon sell at big discounts. The yield spread between lower-grade and high-grade bonds still is narrow, the firm continues. "Therefore, given current market rates, there is no great advantage to trading down," it says. But should a big surge in the spread occur, "the record suggests that it will provide a profitable opportunity," the firm adds.

Broadway Beat

New York offers theater throughout the summer

NEW YORK (UPI) — This is the time of summer hiatus for the Broadway theater. There will be no more productions until next fall, when the 1974-75 season begins on an indefinite date.

But there will be shows to be seen by visitors to the city, a dozen shows that should be available through Labor Day. They are:

"A Little Night Music" at the majestic Theater. A lovely musical of tangled romances in turn-of-the-century Sweden; in its second year.

"A Moon for the Misbegotten," Eugene O'Neill's wonderful drama with Jason Robards and Colleen Dewhurst at the Morosco.

"Candide," a revised revival of the musical based on the Voltaire novel with score by Leonard Bernstein; at the Broadway.

"Don't Bother Me, I Can't Cope," long-running all-black musical revue with Micki Grant songs at the Edison.

"Good Evening" at the Plymouth is an hilarious two-man topical, satirical revue by and with England's Peter Cook and Dudley Moore.

"Grease" at the Royale is in its third year; a musical that locks back at the youth and music of the 1950s affectionately.

"Irene" stars Jane Powell in a drastically altered revival of the 1919 musical hit about a New York girl of Irish ancestry who wins a millionaire; in its second year at the Minskoff.

"Lorelei" at the Palace is a remake of 1950s "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" musical with the same star playing the lovable 1920s golddigger, Carol Channing.

"Over Here!" is a recent arrival starring the two surviving Andrews Sisters of singing fame in a musical that is deep in early 1940 nostaglia. At the Shubert.

"Pippin" at the Imperial is one of the theater's most unusual musicals, set in medieval France, well into its second year and the biggest Broadway grosser for many months.

"Raisin" is a musical version of the prize play, "A Raisin in the Sun," about a Chicago Negro family seeking a better way of life. At the 46th Street Theater.

"Words and Music" at the Golden is an amusing oddity in which veteran songwriter Sammy Cahn, who is vastly entertaining, reviews many of his hits with the aid of three singers.

If these 12 stay through the summer, that will be about the average of recent years.

Summer Festival '74

Group discounts, new restaurant at Bowl

HOLLYWOOD — A new group discount program will be offered for Summer Festival '74 at the Hollywood Bowl, and a new restaurant will provide discount rates and picnic suppers for groups.

In addition to discounts, preferential seat locations are given to groups placing advance reservations. The Columbine Restaurant, operating under the auspices of Gaper's, Inc., is the same company that serves Chicago's Ravinia Festival. The Columbine Restaurant will offer discounts to groups ordering picnic dinners in advance. Reservations for both facilities may be made either by phone or by mail.

Groups may reserve one or more of five picnic areas at no charge. The bowl's group sales department will provide all groups with maps of the picnic areas upon request. Charter buses bringing groups to the bowl will be allowed to drive directly to these reserved picnic areas and, later, take the group members across the street for convenient after-dinner arrival on the bowl grounds.

The Columbine Restaurant will deliver picnic dinners and supplies to groups placing advance orders. This same service is available to groups who reserve boxes and wish to dine at their seats prior to the concert. Tables may also be reserved for box-seat dining, and will be delivered upon request.

As an incentive to group organizers, Hollywood Bowl has initiated the Summer Festival Association. SFA membership is automatically granted to group leaders, who will receive certificates redeemable for any of several benefits not available to the general public, including a 50 per cent discount on tickets to regularly-scheduled bowl events, restaurant and gift shop discounts, free admission to Marathon Concerts, and complimentary parking at either of the bowl's two satellite parking lots.

Further information, a schedule of concerts, or group brochures can be obtained from Carly Cady, at (213) 626-5781, ext. 622, Mondays through Fridays.

Do's and don'ts

Parents can help children learn a musical instrument

KALAMAZOO, Mich (UPI) — Parents who wear ear plugs when the kids take up drum, piano, violin, or anything musical, are not helping one bit.

They are not getting into the spirit of helping the child discover the joys of making music. His or her own kind.

The American Music Conference in Kalamazoo says with encouragement from parents, any child can learn to play well.

How much fun a child derives from his music studies is determined by a parent's attitudes and support when the child begins studying. Reaching for ear plugs is wrong.

Advice to parents

As a guide to parents, Dr. William Fowler, professor of music at the University of Utah and a member of AMC's educational advisory board, offers the following do's and don'ts.

—DON'T . . . dictate the choice of instrument. "Banjo players can't become great artists. Whoever heard of a famous tuba player?" are statements that don't wash with the young and eager.

DO— . . . allow your son or daughter to select the instrument to be learned. Remember, your child is the one who will be studying the instrument. It must be one that he wants to learn and the one he will want to spend time practicingon.

—DON'T... use practice as punishment. "You've been a bad boy (girl), so march right down and practice for an hour."

Don't Compare

—DO ... encourage the child to practice a reasonable length of time each day. Perhaps your child can accomplish more with two 15 minute sessions daily than one half hour or one hour at a time.

—DON'T ... compare him unfavorably (especially with a sibling). "Susie could play that piece perfectly when she was only six years old. And you can't even get through it going on 10."

—DO...try to find ways to compliment the child on his growing abilities to play well. Encouragement will make the child more eager to perfect his abilities and please you.

—DON'T ... Pooh-pooh his creative efforts. "What is all that doodling around? Stick to the music your teacher gave you."

Buy or Rent

—DO ... allow your child to enjoy making his own music by improvising. While his lessons may be necessary to learn the basics, he'll accomplish greater musical growth by injecting his own feelings in the music he plays.

—DON'T ... furnish him with a bad instrument. "This horn is good enough to learn on. After you've shown your father and I that you deserve a better one we'll consider it."

—DO ... buy or rent a good instrument, even if it is an inexpensive one. Good instruments help the beginner develop an ear for music and recognize "sour notes."

—DON'T ... discredit the kind of music he likes. "You know your father doesn't approve of the Nashville sound. Go play the Segovia scales."

Learn His Way

—DO ... allow him free choice in the music he wants to play. Many educators believe that children benefit from all types of music that is well written. Youngsters normally advance from contemporary to classical selections on their own when they develop abilities and seek greater challenge in the music they play.

—DON'T ... insist he "Keep your eyes on the music all the time. Otherwise you'll never learn to read."

—DO ... let him learn the music the way that is most comfortable for him, whether by sightreading or by note.

—DON'T ... force him to practice every day for long periods. "Beethoven practiced six hours a day. All we're asking you to do is four."

Teen club installs officers

The Inspirations, a teen service club for girls 13 through 17, sponsored by the Diamond Bar Junior Woman's Club, were feted at an installation dinner given by retiring advisers Belinda Hill and Kathie Cademartori.

Present at the installation of officers were Mrs. Judy Camp, advisor, and Mmes. Reida Buehler, Kathie Cademartori, Belinda Hill and Ginny Pippenger, coadvisors. Past advisors Lynn Gebert, Chris Schaefer and Carolyn Hohn were also invited.

Taking office as president was Miss Connie Whitson. Other officers inducted were Miss Vicki McGregor, vice president; Miss Alice Richey, secretary; Miss Shelly McCluskey, treasurer, and Miss Stephanie Richards, publicity chairman.

For their achievements working at Pacific State Hospital, with Camp Glen Rockey and with the Indians the Inspirations received recognition from San Gabriel District, California Federation of Junior Women's Clubs.

Pamela Card is wed in Mt. Baldy Church

MRS. JOHN WALKER

Mt. Baldy Village Church was the setting for the marriage of Miss Pamela Irene Card and John Paul Walker.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon S. Card and the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Bryan Walker, all of Claremont, exchanged vows in an evening, double-ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an A-line gown with an empire bodice. The skirt of chiffon was accented by a full, gathered back which flowed to a chapel train. Guipure lace adorned the neckline, waist and cuffs of the bishop sleeves. A Juliet cap of re-embroidered lace held the bride's chiffon veil.

A cascade of yellow roses, light blue daisies and baby's breath was carried by the bride.

The bride's sister, Debbie Marie Card, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Vanessa McHenry, and Miss Susan Keaton.

The groom's sister, Judy Anshutz, handled the guest book.

Scott Thompson was best man. Ushers were Jim Walker, David Card and Phil Kaylor.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the rites.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker are honeymooning at Mazatlan, Mexico. They will reside in Burbank.

Mr. Walker is employed by Stephens Electronics in Burbank and the bride is employed at the Hollywood Branch of Security Pacific National Bank.

MRS. CALVIN CHAMBERLAIN

The Women's Auxiliary of Pomona District 14, Los Angeles County Medical Association, installed its officers for 1974-75 at a dinner meeting.

Mrs. Calvin B. Chamberlain was installed as president. Other officers are Mrs. Fritz Moser, president-elect; Mrs. Richard Voller, first vice president; Mrs. Jerome Johnson, second vice president; Mrs. Edward Daseler, recording secretary; Mrs. John Terveer, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Carroll White, treasurer.

At the same ceremony, officers of District 14, LACMA, were installed. Peter Schabarum, chairman of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, spoke on legislation relating to the medical field.

Secretaries schedule installation

A candlelight ceremony at T&J Restaurant in Rosemead Wednesday will mark the installation of the new officers of the Professional Secretaries Association.

The new officers are: Mrs. Gloria Morrow, president; Miss Helen Burrus, first vice president; Mrs. Donna Sell, second vice president; Mrs. Macaleen Spaulding, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Amy Irwin, recording secretary; and Mrs. Lucille Tweed, treasurer.

Anyone interested in learning more about the association should call Mrs. Donna Sell, 213 966-2192, or Mrs. Irwin, 714-986-7411.

Parents Anonymous organized

The Walnut Junior Woman's Club, sponsors of a local chapter of Parents Anonymous, invite parents to attend their weekly meetings.

The group meets every Thursday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the Faculty Center of Mt. San Antonio College, 1100 N. Grand Ave., Walnut.

This is a non-agency, no fee, self-help group. Babysitting and coffee are provided by the Juniors. Persons interested in finding out more about Parents Anonymous or in attending a meeting may call Jerry Curtin, 985-6173.

Newsmakers

Boxy jackets for pants, bias cut jersey dresses and two and three piece suits are newsmakers for fall. The third piece in some suits is a vest.

NABA sets luncheon on Friday

A social meeting is planned Friday by North American Benefit Association.

A noon sack luncheon at the home of Mrs. Irma Garri, 310 W. 4th St., San Dimas, will precede an afternoon of games. The hostess will serve dessert and beverage. Members are to take white elephants to be used as game prizes.

The next meeting of NABA will be on July 5 at 2 p.m. in the Women's Community Club, 172 W. Monterey St.

Celebration planned by WCTU unit

The La Verne Woman's Christian Temperance Union has completed plans for its Centennial Birthday Celebration at 2 p.m. Friday at West Hillcrest Lounge, 2700 Magnolia Ave., La Verne.

The celebration is open to the public.

Persons planning to attend may call the president, Mrs. Eva Minnich, 593-3250 or Mrs. Ruth Weaver, secretary, 593-6493.

Square dance graduation scheduled

The Wheels and Chains Square Dance Club will graduate its class Thursday at Suzanne School, Pierre and La Puente Roads, Walnut, at 8 p.m.

George Caudill will call the dances.

All clubs with classes about to graduate are invited.

Biggy pants

The newest style in pants will best be left to skinny figures. These new slacks resemble men's drawstring pajama pants and gather and tie at the waist.

Writers sponsor contests

Contests in fiction, poetry and nonfiction will be opened to members of the Pomona Valley Writers Club at the meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Ontario Public Library.

All persons interested in creative writing are invited to attend. Entries should be submitted anonymously.

At the May meeting, a certificate of award was presented to a new member, Stanton Baum, for his short story, "Janie," the heart-warming love of a father for his dying child.

In the poetry contest, Gale Donahue was presented a certificate for her entry, "Famous Victory," a cynical description of Sherman's March.

Miss Donahue also won in the nonfiction contest for "Warlock of Placerville," a profile of a man that was called a witch.

Informal gathering arranged

A get-acquainted meeting for new members is planned by Ontario Legal Secretaries Association at an informal gathering Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the law offices of Maroney, Demchuk and Brandt, Upland.

Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Evelyn Campbell and Mrs. Rosie Relph.

Mrs. Marjorie Cantu, PLS, president, Mrs. Betty A. Gustafson, PLS, governor, and Mrs. Wynn Carland will present a report on the state convention of Legal Secretaries in San Francisco. At that time, Mrs. Cantu was presented a Professional Legal Secretary certificate.

Members are asked to bring a prospective member or guest.

Reservations should be made by calling Anne Woods, 983-0511, Ext. 226.

Policeman to address Zonta Club

Sgt. Art Traeber, community relations officer, Pomona Police Department, will be the speaker at the meeting of Zonta Club of Pomona Valley Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Heritage House.

The speaker's topic will be "Burglary Prevention in your Home."

PBX Club installation scheduled Wednesday

MRS. MARY BUETTNER

The installation of new officers for the PBX Club of Pomona is scheduled Wednesday evening at Griswold's Indian Hill Inn, Claremont.

Mrs. June Crane, retiring president and vice president of the PBX Clubs of California, will install new officers.

They are Mrs. Mary Buettner, president; Mrs. Marsha Helton, first vice president; Mrs. Doris Brian, second vice president; Mrs. Beth Dennis, third vice president; Mrs. Raylene Scott, secretary; Mrs. Mary Jane Brown, treasurer; Mrs. Hilda Henderson, chaplain; Mrs. Pauline Judd, historian; and Mrs. Arlene Wildman, editor.

During the business meeting, discussion will include the International Convention July 10 through 14 in Toronto, Ontario, Canada. Some members plan to attend.

A social hour at 6:30 p.m. will precede the 7 p.m. dinner. Reservations may be made with Mrs. June Crane, 987-2521.

Purpose of the PBX Club is to meet and discuss the various problems of PBX operators, to promote goodwill among the operators, employers and the telephone company.

GUARANTEED TO CONSUMER BY PARENTS' MAGAZINE

People talk openly about sex, even VD. Can we now talk openly about the poor kid who wets the bed? For the sake of that unfortunate child, we're going to tell it like it is!

THE DAMAGE CAN BE TERRIBLE! Most bedwetters can't have friends over to spend the night or can't stay overnight with friends. Or go to camp. Their mothers get exasperated — and physically worn out — by the extra loads of laundry. The poor kid is overwhelmed by guilt, excluded from normal relationships with peer groups and is frequently teased by cruel companions. Self-confidence is lost, ego is lowered and withdrawal is usual. An explosive mixture.

WAIT FOR IT TO BE OUTGROWN? Well, here's the bad news. Statistical data is now available which shows that out of 100 kids 5 years old wetting the bed, 50 of them will still be wetting at age 11! WE'RE HERE TO HELP and we've been doing it for nearly a quarter of a century.

If you want to help your child . . . and the man or woman that child will grow up to be . . . send this coupon today. We'll mail you our booklet entitled "BEDWETTING—WHAT IT'S ALL ABOUT AND HOW TO END IT." No obligation. If the bedwetting is not caused by organic defect or disease, we can help your child . . . and wouldn't that be a relief!
